Theory and Practice Stefano Gatti, 2007-11-07 Project finance is a fast growing area of capital investment for major infrastructure and other large projects Financing such projects as EuroDisney airports highways tunnels schools hospitals and other large projects presents a complex and interesting challenge that the specialty of project finance takes on wholeheartedly combining financial engineering with legal and contractual expertise to develop various financing options In this book Stefano Gatti of Bocconi University describes the theory that underpins this cutting edge industry and then provides illustrations and examples from actual practice to illustrate that theory At key points in the book Gatti brings in other project finance experts who share their specialized knowledge on the legal issues and the role of advisors in project finance deals Forward by William Megginson Professor and Rainbolt Chair in Finance Price College of Business The University of Oklahoma Comprehensive coverage of theory and practice of project finance as it is practiced today in Europe and North America Teaching Notes W/ CD to Accompany Modern Project Finance: a Casebook Esty, 2004-01-21 This cutting edge financial casebook is divided into four modules Structuring Projects Valuing Projects Managing Project Risk and Financing Projects The cases have been carefully selected to reflect actual use of project finance over the past five years in terms of geographic location the cases come from 15 different countries and industrial sectors Benjamin Esty of the Harvard Business School is one of the leading scholars in project finance Project finance is becoming the financing mechanism of choice for many private firms Cases require the reader to integrate knowledge from multiple disciplines when making a single managerial decision This integration of functional areas such as strategy operations ethics and human resource management encourages the reader to adopt a more integrative perspective and understanding of the interconnectedness of managerial decision making Project Finance in Construction Tony Merna, Yang Chu, Faisal F. Al-Thani, 2010-06-04 Project finance has spread worldwide and includes numerous industrial projects from power stations and waste disposal plants to telecommunication facilities bridges tunnels railway networks and now also the building of hospitals education facilities government accommodation and tourist facilities Despite financial assessment of PF projects being fundamental to the lender

s decision there is little understanding of how the use of finance is perceived by individual stakeholders why and how a financial assessment is performed who should be involved where and when it should be performed what data should be used and how financial assessments should be presented Current uncertainty in financial markets makes many sponsors of construction project financings carefully consider bank liquidity the higher cost of finance and general uncertainty for demand This has resulted in the postponement of a number of projects in certain industry sectors Governments have seen tax receipts drastically reduced which has affected their ability to finance infrastructure projects often irrespective of the perceived demand Equity providers still seek to invest however there are less opportunities due to market dislocation Due to the demand for global infrastructure it is believed that project financings will return to their pre crunch levels or more so however lenders liquidity costs will be passed on to the borrowers Lenders will also be under stricter regulation both internally and externally The steps outlined in the guide are designed to provide a basic understanding for all those involved or interested in both structuring and assessing project financings Secondary contracts involving constructors operators finance providers suppliers and offtakers can be developed and assessed to determine their commercial viability over a project's life cycle Special Features a structured guide to assessing the commercial viability of construction projects explains economic metrics to use in the decision making process detailed case study shows how stakeholders apply the concept of project finance

Project Finance for Construction and Infrastructure Frederik Pretorius, Berry-Fong Chung-Hsu, Arthur McInnes, Paul Lejot, Douglas Arner, 2008-04-30 This is a self contained text on the logic and institutions of project finance supplemented by a series of project finance case studies illustrating applications in different economic environments across different jurisdictions and at different stages of development It will introduce an analytical framework drawing on applied institutional economics that includes and concentrates primarily on an analysis of the institutional logic behind generic project finance arrangements The application of the institutional framework will be demonstrated with project cases from Hong Kong Thailand India Europe and Azerbaijan each at different stages of development While each project case will have a general theme and will highlight aspects of interest to built environment professionals it will primarily be used to illustrate one or more specific PF PFI principle
