Modernization And Marine Fisheries Policy:

Modernization and Marine Fisheries Policy John R. Maiolo, Michael K. Orbach, 1982 Fisheries Review , 1987

Introduction to the Practice of Fishery Science William F. Royce, 2013-09-03 Introduction to the Practice of Fishery Science covers the role of fishery science in various social affairs This book is divided into three parts encompassing 15 chapters Part I is about the profession what is embodied in a professional career and the expanding challenges to the profession with a summary of the work of organizations that employ fishery scientists Part II deals with the traditional sciences that apply to the aquatic environment and its organisms This part also tackles their biology ecology populations and culture Part III presents an overall qualitative concept of the activity of fishery scientists This part also provides a perspective on fishery problems in several major areas and the ways in which the many kinds of scientists are attacking them This book will prove useful to fishery scientists researchers and students Economics of Fisheries Development Rowena M. Lawson, 2013-11-07 Following the introduction of the 200 mile extended economic zone EEZ many developing countries suddenly found they had large fish resources which wisely managed and exploited could generate wealth and income of immense benefit However one constraint to this was that many countries for historic reasons lacked the expertise to manage fisheries on this scale Despite the need for information few economists and especially development economists teaching in universities and colleges were able to incorporate fisheries economics into their courses owing to the lack of readily accessible material As a result many rising economists were failing to recognize the global importance of fishers as an economic resource capable of generating substantial wealth and income to many countries Economics of Fisheries Development provides an accessible exploration of this area of economics introducing development economists to some of the problems of developing fisheries in areas of the world where fisheries now present great growth prospects The case studies used throughout the book are nearly entirely drawn from developing countries Guidelines for the Routine Collection of Capture Fishery Data Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 1999-01-01 These guidelines aim to help those who design routine data collection programmes focusing on the relationship between typical questions asked by policy makers and managers and the data required for providing reliable answers Fisheries policy and management objectives particularly under the precautionary approach need to be based upon analyses of reliable data Data are needed to make rational decisions evaluate the fisheries performance in relation to management activities and fulfil regional requirements These objectives are achieved using fishery performance indicators Indicators are used to measure the state of the resource the performance of fishing controls economic efficiency socio economic performance and social continuity The primary factor in choosing what data to collect is the link between the necessary operational biological economic and socio cultural indicators and their associated variables The way in which different data variables are collected needs to be tailored to the structure of the fishery The strategy will be strongly influenced by the budget and personnel available and the degree to which fishers and others co operate The programme must identify which variables should be collected through complete enumeration and which can be sampled Collection methods are influenced by the variable itself the strategy collection point and the skill of the enumerator Once collected fishery data must be stored securely but made easily available for analysis which is achieved through a computer based data management system following the basic data processing principles The implementation of a data collection programme should follow a normal project cycle developing a new legal and institutional framework as appropriate

Abstract Crisis in the World's Fisheries James R. McGoodwin, 1995-02-01 For over twenty years an alarming trend has emerged in the world's fisheries there are too many fishers chasing too few fish This book provides a broad overview and fundamental reassessment of fisheries management policies around the world Fishers At Work, Workers At Sea David Griffith, 2011-02-02 Small scale fishing a house hold based enterprise in Puerto Rico rarely provides sufficient income for a family but it anchors their culture and sense of themselves within that culture Even when family members must engage in wage work to supplement house hold income they think of themselves as fishers Liche typifies these wage workers When he was quite young he left the island to struggle in other lands to work to raise a family to send home the money he earned Ten twenty thirty years passed during which he did not once fish or even see the ocean But in a boat building factory in New Jersey in a bakery in the Bronx on the production line of a chemical factory on dozens of construction sites every single day he made a mental review of the waters the isles and cays and entertained no thought that was not related to his return Fishers at Work Workers at Sea describes Puerto Rican fishing families as they negotiate homeland and diaspora It considers how wage work affects their livelihoods and identities at home and how these independent producers move in and out of global commodity markets Drawing on some 100 life histories and years of fieldwork David Griffith and Manuel Vald's Pizzini have developed a complex often moving portrait of the men and women who fiercely struggle to hang onto the coastal landscapes and cultural heritage tied to the Caribbean Sea The Question of the Commons Bonnie J. McCay, James M. Acheson, 2022-04-19 This collection of eighteen original essays evaluates the use and misuse of common property resources taking as its starting point ecologist Garret Hardin's assertion in The Tragedy of the Commons that common property is doomed to overexploitation in any society This book represents the first cross cultural test of Hardin's argument and argues that while tragedies of the commons do occur under some circumstances local institutions have proven resilient and responsive to the problems of communal resource use Understanding the Cultures of Fishing Communities James R. McGoodwin, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2001-01-01 Small scale fishing accounts for almost 95% of the world's fishing and it has been estimated that small scale fishing activities support the livelihoods of more than 200 million people worldwide The purpose of this document is to help fisheries officials gain a clearer understanding of the cultures of small scale fishing communities It is hoped this will enable the development of more successful management policies and practices and empower people in such communities to improve their livelihoods

The document highlights the importance of sustaining the rights of access to resources and the integration of cultural considerations into fisheries management policies. It includes six case studies from distinct cultural regions of the world.

Coastal Community Development, an International Perspective Arthur J. Hanson, 1984 What's New? Sander E. van der Leeuw, Robin Torrence, 2025-10-01 First published in 1989 What's New puts innovation firmly back on the agenda of archaeological interpretation. This book revives interest in the process of innovation and reinterprets it by drawing on original work done in a variety of disciplines. It demonstrates that the study of the components of innovation, invention, acceptance, and the context in which they occur is essential if social change is to be better understood. The book contains detailed case studies that cover a broad geographical range in the prehistoric, historic, and modern world. It simulates and analyses the conditions of innovation and provides the necessary theoretical framework. The technologies involved are diverse: herding, fishing, pottery making, metalworking, and land management. Several important issues emerge from this diversity: it is the context of innovation that determines whether change will take place within hierarchical societies; ideology can both stimulate and deny innovation; and the potential for innovation, experimentation, and change in traditional societies is systematically underrated by the Western world, which is dominated by a narrow technological perspective. The contributors also study innovation in social and applied anthropology, industrial planning, and the natural sciences. What's New will provoke renewed discussion throughout the archaeological community about the process of innovation. Anthropologists, human geographers, and other social scientists will find it fascinating because it provides a time dimension for the study of the conditions of human and social change.

Programmatic Supplemental EIS for Alaska Groundfish Fisheries Implemented Under the Authority of the Fishery Management Plans for the Groundfish Fishery of the Gulf of Alaska and the Groundfish of the Bering Sea and Aleutian Islands Area, 2004 Review of Fisheries in OECD Countries: Policies and Summary Statistics 2005 OECD, 2005-12-12 This publication describes major developments affecting fisheries in OECD countries from 2002 to 2004, including changes in national and international policies, trade, and fisheries and aquaculture production. A special chapter on policy coherence for development in fisheries is included. Routledge Handbook of National and Regional Ocean Policies Biliana Cicin-Sain, David Vanderzwaag, Miriam C. Balgos, 2015-05-15 This comprehensive handbook, prepared by leading ocean policy academics and practitioners from around the world, presents in-depth analyses of the experiences of fifteen developed and developing nations and four key regions of the world that have taken concrete steps toward cross-cutting and integrated national and regional ocean policy. All chapters follow a common framework for policy analysis. While most coastal nations of the world already have a variety of sectoral policies in place to manage different uses of the ocean, such as shipping, fishing, oil, and gas development, in the last two decades the coastal nations covered in the book have undertaken concerted efforts to articulate and implement an integrated ecosystem-based vision for the governance of ocean areas under their jurisdiction. This includes goals and procedures to harmonize existing uses and laws to foster sustainable development of ocean areas to protect biodiversity and vulnerable resources and ecosystems and to coordinate the actions of the many government agencies that are typically involved in oceans affairs The book highlights the serious conflicts of use in most national ocean zones and the varying attempts by nations to follow the prescriptions emanating from the 1982 UN Law of the Sea Convention and the outcomes of the 1992 2002 and 2012 sustainable development summits The interrelationship among uses and processes in the coast and ocean requires that ocean governance be integrated precautionary and anticipatory Overall the book provides a definitive state of the art review and analysis of national and regional ocean policies around the world

Interactive Governance for Small-Scale Fisheries Svein Jentoft, Ratana Chuenpagdee, 2015-05-30 Drawing on more than 30 case studies from around the world this book offers a multitude of examples for improving the governance of small scale fisheries Contributors from some 36 countries argue that reform transformation and innovation are vital to achieving sustainable small scale fisheries especially for mitigating the threats and vulnerabilities of global change For this to happen governing systems must be context specific and the governability of small scale fisheries properly assessed The volume corresponds well with the Voluntary Guidelines for Securing Sustainable Small Scale Fisheries adopted in 2014 spearheaded by the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization FAO These affirm the importance of small scale fisheries for food security nutrition livelihoods rural development and poverty reduction The book arises from the project Too Big To Ignore Global Partnership for Small Scale Fisheries Research TBTI A nuanced diverse vibrant and local specific collection of essays just as the small scale fisheries around the world dealt with by this versatile array of authors Following on the heels of the recently adopted FAO Small Scale Fisheries Guidelines here is an erudite compendium which I heartily recommend to policy makers academics and activists who wish to come to terms with the complex issue of governance of this important field of human activity John Kurien Founding Member of the International Collective in Support of Fishworkers ICSF and Former Professor Centre for Development Studies Trivandrum India Likely to become a classic in its field this book is about small scale fisheries and interactive governance governance which is negotiated deliberated upon and communicated among stakeholders who often share governing responsibilities The authors show that interactive governance is not just a normative theory but a phenomenon that can be studied empirically here with 34 case studies from as many countries around the world north and south east and west Such force of example enables the editors to put together well developed arguments and sometimes surprising conclusions about the way ahead A must read for managers practitioners stakeholders and students Fikret Berkes University of Manitoba Canada and author of Coasts for People

Meat Simon Fairlie, 2010-12-17 Meat A Benign Extravagance is a groundbreaking exploration of the difficult environmental ethical and health issues surrounding the human consumption of animals Garnering huge praise in the UK this is a book that answers the question should we be farming animals or not Not a simple answer but one that takes all views on meat eating into account It lays out in detail the reasons why we must indeed decrease the amount of meat we eat both for the planet and for ourselves and yet explores how different forms of agriculture including livestock shape our landscape and culture At the heart of this book Simon Fairlie argues that society needs to re orient itself back to the land both physically and spiritually and explains why an agriculture that can most readily achieve this is one that includes a measure of livestock farming It is a well researched look at agricultural and environmental theory from a fabulous writer and a farmer and is sure to take off where other books on vegetarianism and veganism have fallen short in their global scope
