Peasants, Politics and Revolution Joel S. Migdal, 2015-03-08 During the last quarter century peasant participation in politics has increased markedly in parts of Latin America and Asia Why the poor and vulnerable peasant population has chosen to leave the confines of the village for political activity and at times for sustained revolution is the question this book explores The author draws on informal interviews and observation of peasants in Mexico and India and on fifty one community studies of peasants in Asia and Latin America compiled by ethnographers in the last forty years He suggests that severe economic crises have driven peasants to roles in the larger economy outside the village where they are initially attracted to politics by material incentives Originally published in 1975 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Models of Innovation Benoit Godin, 2017-02-24 Benoit Godin is a Professor at the Institut national de la recherche scientifique Montreal Models abound in science technology and society STS studies and in science technology and innovation STI studies They are continually being invented with one author developing many versions of the same model over time At the same time models are regularly criticized Such is the case with the most influential model in STS STI the linear model of innovation In this book Benoit Godin examines the emergence and diffusion of the three most important conceptual models of innovation from the early twentieth century to the late 1980s stage models linear models and holistic models Godin first traces the history of the models of innovation constructed during this period considering why these particular models came into being and what use was made of them He then rethinks and debunks the historical narratives of models developed by theorists of innovation Godin documents a greater diversity of thinkers and schools than in the conventional account tracing a genealogy of models beginning with anthropologists industrialists and practitioners in the first half of the twentieth century to their later formalization in STS STI Godin suggests that a model is a conceptualization which could be narrative or a set of conceptualizations or a paradigmatic perspective often in pictorial form and reduced discursively to a simplified representation of reality Why are so many things called models Godin claims that model has a rhetorical function First a model is a symbol of scientificity Second a model travels easily among scholars and policy makers Calling a conceptualization or narrative or perspective a model facilitates its propagation This Changing World Foreign Service Institute (U.S.). Center for Area and Country Studies,1970 Population and Development Ronald G. Ridker,2013-11-26 First Published in 2011 This book grew out of a project initiated by Resources for the Future to search for selective interventions into the development process that in turn might speed the course of fertility decline in developing countries The result is a volume the authors hope will find wide use not only by researchers and serious students of population problems but also by administrators and policy makers THE INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF INDIAN PSYCHOLOGY, Volume 8, No. 4, Part 7 Dr. Suresh Makvana ,Dr. Ankit Patel,2021-01-01 Media and Development Richard Vokes,2017-11-15 At the start of the 21st century the relationship between media and development has never felt more important Following a series of media revolutions throughout the developing world beginning with the advent of cheap transistor radio sets in the late 1960s followed by the rapid expansion of satellite television networks in the 1990s and the more recent explosion of mobile telephony social media and the internet a majority of people living in the Global South now have access to a wide variety of Information and Communications Technologies ICTs and live in media saturated environments Yet how can radio television and mobile phones be most effectively harnessed towards the goals of purposive economic social and political change Should they be seen as primarily a provider of channels through which useful information can be delivered to target populations in the hope that such information will alter those populations existing behaviours Or should they be seen as a tool for facilitating two way communication between development providers and their recipients i e as technologies for improving participatory development Or should new media environments be approached simply as sites in which people living in the developing world can define development on their own terms This timely and original book which is based on a critical reading of the relevant literatures and on the author s own extensive primary research introduces readers to all of these questions and helps them to reach their own informed positions on each It also examines the history of and current debates regarding media representations of development Drawing on case studies from all over the world including hate radio in Rwanda theatre for development in India telenovelas in Latin America mobile banking and money in Africa and GIS and humanitarianism in Haiti it will be of interest to all undergraduate and postgraduate students of media and development international development professionals and simply to anyone with an interest in how media does can or should change the world Rural Electrification ,1973 A Survey of Agricultural Economics Literature Lee R. Martin,1977 Irish Peasants Samuel Clark,James S. Donnelly, Jr,2003-06-11 The strength of this volume cannot be conveyed by an itemisation of its contents for what it provides is an incisive commentary on the newly recognised landmarks of Irish agrarian history in the modern period The importance even indispensability of this achievement is compounded by exemplary editing Roy Foster London Times Literary Supplement As a whole the volume demonstrates the wealth complexity and sophistication of Irish rural studies The book is essential reading for anyone involved in modern Irish history It will also serve as an excellent introduction to this rich field for scholars of other peasant communities and all interested in problems of economic and political developments American Historical Review A milestone in the evolution of Irish social history There is a remarkable consistency of style and standard in the essays This is truly history from the grassroots Timothy P O Neill Studia Hibernica

Godin,2015-01-09 Innovation is everywhere In the world of goods technology but also in the world of words innovation is discussed in the scientific and technical literature but also in the social sciences and humanities Innovation is also a central idea in the popular imaginary in the media and in public policy Innovation has become the emblem of the modern society and a panacea for resolving many problems Today innovation is spontaneously understood as technological innovation because of its contribution to economic progress Yet for 2 500 years innovation had nothing to do with economics in a positive sense Innovation was pejorative and political It was a contested idea in philosophy religion politics and social affairs Innovation only got de contested in the last century This occurred gradually beginning after the French revolution Innovation shifted from a vice to a virtue Innovation became an instrument for achieving political and social goals In this book Beno t Godin lucidly examines the representations and meanings of innovation over time its diverse uses and the contexts in which the concept emerged and changed This history is organized around three periods or episteme the prohibition episteme the instrument episteme and the value episteme Communicating Social Change Mohan J. Dutta,2011-05-10 Communicating Social Change describes the social challenges that exist in current globalization politics and examines the communicative processes strategies and tactics through which social change interventions are constituted in response to the challenges

The Invention of Technological Innovation Benoît Godin,2019 p p1 margin 0 0px 0 0px 0 0px 0 0px font 10 0px Arial This timely book provides an intellectual and conceptual history of a key representation of innovation technological innovation Tracing the history of the discourses of scholars practitioners and policy makers and exploring how and why innovation became defined as technological Beno t Godin studies the emergence of the term its meaning and its transformation and use over time The Influentials Gabriel Weimann,1994-09-30 Although opinion leadership has been the subject of numerous studies in areas ranging from politics to fashion and in many societies and cultures The Influentials represents the first systematic analysis of the concept It offers a multidisciplinary presentation of the definitions typologies methods and findings of opinion leadership from its early formulation through the emergence of the first empirical evidence to the most recent research Weimann examines opinion leadership and personal influence in a number of areas including marketing public opinion and elections education fashion science agriculture and health care He also examines the growing criticism of the model based on theoretical and empirical weaknesses of the original concept and evaluates for the first time modifications that have emerged including a new measure the PS Scale and its testing and application The final chapters for the first time link opinion leadership with the important theoretical and research tradition of agenda setting Communication and the Economic Decision-making Processes of Colombian Peasants James E. Grunig, 1971 What's New? Sander E. van der Leeuw, Robin Torrence, 2025-10-01 First published in 1989 What's New puts innovation firmly back on the agenda of archaeological interpretation This book revives interest in the process of innovation and reinterprets it by drawing on original work done in a variety of disciplines It demonstrates that the study of the components of innovation invention acceptance and the context in which they occur is essential if social change is to be better understood The book contains detailed case studies that cover a broad geographical range in the prehistoric historic and modern world It simulates and analyses the conditions of innovation and provides the necessary theoretical framework The technologies involved are diverse herding fishing pottery making metalworking and land management Several important issues emerge from this diversity it is the context of innovation that determines whether change will take place within hierarchical societies ideology can both stimulate and deny innovation and the potential for innovation experimentation and change in traditional societies is systematically underrated by the Western world which is dominated by a narrow technological perspective The contributors also study innovation in social and applied anthropology industrial planning and the natural sciences What's New will provoke renewed discussion throughout the archaeological community about the process of innovation Anthropologists human geographers and other social scientists will find it fascinating because it provides a time dimension for the study of the conditions of human and social change Annotated Archive of Diffusion References William D.
