Encyclopedia of Literary Translation Into English: A-L O. Classe, 2000 The Narrative Mediterranean Claudia Esposito, 2013-11-29 The Narrative Mediterranean Beyond France and the Maghreb examines literary texts by writers from the Maghreb and positions them in direct relation to increasingly querulous debates on the shifting identity of the modern Mediterranean This book argues that reading works by writers such as Albert Camus and Tahar Ben Jelloun alongside authors such as Fawzi Mellah and Mahi Binebine in a transnational rather than binary interpretive framework transcends a colonial and postcolonial bind in which France is the dominant point of reference While focusing on works in French this book also examines Maghrebi authors who write in Italian The texts examined in The Narrative Mediterranean critique narrow identitarian labeling warn against sectarianism and announce the necessity of multiple forms of translation and historical rewritings Their modes of expression differ as they range from poetic to baroque to realist as do their concerns which include but are not limited to the human condition gender identity and emigration Claudia Esposito explains how these writers operate between and outside the confines of several nations tracing imagined affiliative horizons and consequently address questions of multiple forms of cultural political sexual and existential belonging Esposito convincingly demonstrates that in a Mediterranean context moving between nations means to be in both foreign and familiar physical affective and intellectual spaces Orality and Translation Paul Bandia, 2018-10-11 In the current context of globalization relocation of cultures and rampant technologizing of communication orality has gained renewed interest across disciplines in the humanities and the social sciences Orality has shed its once negative image as primitive non literate and exotic and has grown into a major area of scientific interest and the focus of interdisciplinary research including translation studies As an important feature of human speech and communication orality has featured prominently in studies related to pre modernist traditions modernist representations of human history and postmodernist expressions of artistry such as in music film and other audiovisual media Its wide appeal can be seen in the variety of this volume in which contributors draw from a range of disciplines with orality as the point of intersection with translation studies This book is unique in its exploration of orality and translation from an interdisciplinary perspective and sets the groundwork for collaborative research among scholars across disciplines with an interest in the aesthetics and materiality of orality This book was originally published as a special issue of Translation Studies Travellers' Tales Jon Bird, Barry Curtis, Melinda Mash, Tim Putnam, George Robertson, Lisa Tickner, 2005-07-08 Most of us at various moments in our lives either adopt a tourist identity or are framed within another's tourist experience Travellers Tales investigates the future for travelling in a world whose boundaries are shifting and dissolving The contributors bring together popular and critical discourses of travel to explore questions of identity and politics history and narration collecting and representing other cultures Travellers tales oscillate between the thrill of novel experiences and unexpected pleasures and the alienation and loneliness of exile in a strange land The contributions review

recent work on the discourses of tourism travel and cultural politics the effects of global interactions and local resistances and the ways in which records memorials and signs have all been used to describe the experience of encountering the other

Widows, Pariahs, and Bayadères Binita Mehta, 2002 This book analyzes how French dramatists reproduced certain images of India such as the burning widow the lowly pariah or untouchable and the exotic bayadere or dancing girl in four plays and one ballet written from the eighteenth century through the twentieth centuries Addressing questions of Orientalism the book also argues that it was because the French lost their Indian colonies to the Briish in the eighteenth centuries that India became a part of the French literary imagination Abdelkébir Khatibi Jane Hiddleston, Khalid Lyamlahy, 2020 Abdelk bir Khatibi is one of the most important voices to emerge from North Africa in postcolonial studies This book is the first to offer a thoroughgoing analysis in English of all aspects of his multifaceted thought as it ranges from Moroccan politics to Arabic calligraphy and from decolonisation to interculturality Djeha, the North African Trickster Christa C. Jones, 2023-08-16 Djeha also known as Juha Jeh a and Ch ha among many variations is an iconic figure the trickster hero of an oral folktale tradition that has existed for centuries The famous Maghrebian prankster is a poor cunning and resourceful character that delights in immoral behavior Orientalists Auguste Mouli ras 1855 1931 and Ren Basset 1855 1924 were among the first Frenchmen to collect and translate popular Berber folktales Today trickster folktales from Algeria s mountainous Kabylia region are not well known in the Anglophone world even though they continue to be highly popular in France and in North Africa Djeha the North African Trickster is an annotated critical translation of Auguste Mouli ras s folktale collection Les Fourberies de Si Djeh a first published in French in 1892 The volume contains sixty tales and an in depth introduction in which Christa C Jones discusses jocular literature in Islam the widespread oral folktale tradition linked to Djeha and his Turkish twin brother Nasreddin Hoca and the impact of colonialism on the gathering and dissemination of the tales The trickster is at the center of six themed chapters Family and Kinship Animal Tales Faces Places or Daily Life in the Village Foodways The Intricacies of Hospitality Beware of Friends and Foes and Religion Death and the Afterlife Each chapter contains ten folktales preceded by a short introduction that contextualizes the pieces using historical folkloristic literary and ethnographical sources Ultimately the book contributes to the preservation of an ancestral oral heritage delivering this enduring character to new audiences Black-Arab Encounters in Literature and Film Touria

Khannous,2021-08-27 This book investigates how representations of Black Africans have been negotiated over time in Arabic literature and film The book offers direct readings of a representative selection of primary texts shedding light on the divergent ways these authors understood race across different genres including pre Islamic classical poetry polemical essays travel narratives novels and films Starting with the first recognized Black Arab poet Antara Ibn Shaddad 580 C E and extending right up to the present day the works examined illuminate the changes in consciousness that attended Black Africans as they negotiated their position in Arab society In a twist to Edward Said s Orientalism the book argues that scholars in the Middle East and North Africa generated a hierarchical representational discourse themselves one equally predicated on the Self Other binary However it also demonstrates that Arab racial discourse is not a linear rhetoric but changes according to history political circumstances and ideologies such as tribal politics the Shu ubiyya movement nationalism and imperialism Blacks and Arabs have had tangled relationships that are based not only on race but also on kinship and solidarity due to trade and other types of connections Challenging fundamental assumptions of Black Diaspora studies and postcolonial studies this book will be of interest to scholars of the African diaspora Arabic literature Middle East studies and critical race studies Black Morocco Chouki El Hamel,2014-02-27 Black Morocco A History of Slavery Race and Islam chronicles the experiences identity and achievements of enslaved black people in Morocco from the sixteenth century to the beginning of the twentieth century Chouki El Hamel argues that we cannot rely solely on Islamic ideology as the key to explain social relations and particularly the history of black slavery in the Muslim world for this viewpoint yields an inaccurate historical record of the people institutions and social practices of slavery in Northwest Africa El Hamel focuses on black Moroccans collective experience beginning with their enslavement to serve as the loyal army of the Sultan Isma'il. By the time the Sultan died in 1727 they had become a political force making and unmaking rulers well into the nineteenth century. The emphasis on the political history of the black army is augmented by a close examination of the continuity of black Moroccan identity through the musical and cultural practices of the Gnawa. 33 French Mocktime

Minh-ha, 2010-10-18 Winner of the 2012 Critics Choice Book Award of the American Educational Studies Association AESA. World renowned filmmaker and feminist postcolonial thinker Trinh T. Minh-ha is one of the most powerful and articulate voices in both independent filmmaking and cultural politics. Elsewhere Within Here is an engaging look at travel across national borders as a foreigner, a tourist, an immigrant, a refugee in a pre and post 9/11 world. Who is welcome where? What does it mean to feel out of place in the country you call home? When does the stranger appear in these times of dark metamorphoses? These are some of the issues addressed by the author as she examines the cultural meaning and complexities of travel, immigration, home and exile. The boundary seen both as a material and immaterial event is where endings pass into beginnings. Building upon themes present in her earlier work on hybridity and displacement in the median passage and illuminating the ways in which every voyage can be said to involve a re-siting of boundaries, Trinh T. Minh-ha leads her readers through an investigation of what it means to be an insider and an outsider in this epoch of global fear. Elsewhere Within Here is essential reading for those interested in contemporary feminist thought and postcolonial studies. L'écriture du bonheur dans le roman contemporain Ruth Amar, 2011-01-18 Through the ages the pursuit of Happiness has been at the heart of the needs and desires each individual would seek to fulfill while as a concept Happiness has always resonated strongly in poetic as well as philosophical, sociological and psychological contexts. But what about Happiness today in a world dominated by technology driven by productivity and dictated by efficiency? Does Happiness still feature in contemporary fiction in any significant way? Or has it perhaps gone underground adopting different guises? Would we still call that duty of happiness that Pascal Bruckner saw as present at the second half of the twentieth century a relevant force today? Or has it waned perceptibly? The articles brought together in this volume seek to work out answers to these and similar questions creatively addressing the imminent risks but also eagerly following up the intriguing possibilities one encounters when interrogating Happiness in the contemporary novel. Originally based on an international conference organized at the University of Haifa, Israel in May 2010, the volume is structured around the axes we found useful as a basis for the various approaches towards Happiness in Europe and the historical and social events that influenced the writing of Happiness as they defined the 20th century and have impacted on the 21st: the Holocaust, the Soviet dystopia, consumerism, postmodernism, everyday life, the various as yet unarticulated new modes of life they have given rise to and so on. A new writing of happiness then. At the very least this volume targets the contemporary novel without wanting to solidify works, instead taking into account the fluctuations

Happiness has been subjected to and the diversity and especially the paradoxes it has created while we have been keen to preserve a precise reading of the texts and have felt compelled to respect and preserve the particular features that make the writings of the authors we focus on stand out. The philosophical as well as political, sociological and psychological, the happiness itself, the measurement of each. Is it not true that we other men, we desire to be happy. Plato. Or in our current world dominated by technique, the research of the productive and of the efficiency, is it the happiness. Is it still the case for the Romanesque and contemporary. Under what forms would the research be. This duty of happiness proper to the second half of the 20th century, since which, as Pascal Bruckner continues, it is always the desire of actuality. Is it reinforced or on the contrary is it weakened. The project of a questionnaire on happiness in the contemporary novel contained great risks but it offered in the meantime stimulating possibilities. As a result of the international colloquium organized by the University of Haifa in May 2010, the texts gathered in this book seek to explore the elements of response to these questions. The volume offers an atlas of the places of happiness in the novel since 1980 and presents a large diversity of approaches, of definitions, of interrogations on the critique of happiness on three dimensions. The collection is articulated around axes that have served as the basis for the different approaches to happiness in Europe and different historical and social elements that have been able to influence the critique of happiness in the different periods of the 20th and 21st centuries, such as the Holocaust, the dystopia in Russia, postmodernism and the consumerism, the everyday, the different paradoxes of happiness, the new modes of life. New critique of happiness. At the very least, this volume aims to be contemporary without freezing the works, while taking into account the fluctuations of the subject, its diversity, its paradoxes, especially by preserving the reading practice of the texts and by respecting the particularity of the critique of the authors' traits.

Religion, Gender and Race in Western European Arts and Culture Nella van den Brandt, 2024-02-26 This book examines narratives of individual religious transformation in Western European literature and culture. Religious individuals, themes, experiences and communities are widely represented in diverse literature and culture, including literary texts and visual arts and media. Taking the subject of religious transformation as an angle from which to study constructions of religion, gender and race, this book reveals through various case studies what authors, documentary makers, film makers and playwrights consider to be important possible shifts between the old and the new, continuities and discontinuities and the formation of the self. The chapters demonstrate how individual religious transformations are understood to be shaped by various intersections of difference and point at the need to consider gender as always related to and co-constructing religion and race. This transdisciplinary and intimate study provides a fresh lens through which to examine pressing questions.

A Bibliography for After Jews and Arabs Ammiel Alcalay, 2021

Ammiel Alcalay's groundbreaking work After Jews and Arabs published in 1993 redrew the geographic political cultural and emotional map of relations between Jews and Arabs in the Levantine Mediterranean world over a thousand year period Based on over a decade of research and fieldwork in many disciplines including history and historiography anthropology ethnography and ethnomusicology political economy and geography linguistics philosophy and the history of science and technology the book presented a radically different perspective than that presented by received opinion Given the radical and iconoclastic nature of Alcalay's perspective After Jews and Arabs met great resistance in attempts to publish it Though completed and already circulating in 1989 it didn't appear until 1993 In addition when the book was published there wasn't enough space to include its original bibliography a foundational part of the project A Bibliography for After Jews and Arabs presents the original bibliography as completed in 1992 without changes as a glimpse into the historical record of a unique scholarly political poetic and cultural journey The bibliography itself had roots in research begun in the late 1970s and demonstrates a very wide arc In addition to the bibliography we include two accompanying texts here In Behind the Scenes Before After Jews and Arabs Alcalay takes us behind the closed doors of the academic process reprinting the original readers reports and his detailed rebuttals and in On a Bibliography for After Jews and Arabs Alcalay contextualizes his own path to the work he undertook in methodological historical and political terms
