'It's all real true', by Eglanton Thorne Eglanton Thorne, Elizabeth Emily Charlton, 1901

God on the Big Screen Terry Lindvall, 2019-08-13 Links film history with church history over the past century illuminating America's broader relationship with religious currents over time Moments of prayer have been represented in Hollywood movies since the silent era appearing unexpectedly in films as diverse as Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm Frankenstein Amistad Easy Rider Talladega Nights and Alien 3 as well as in religiously inspired classics such as Ben

Hur and The Ten Commandments Here Terry Lindvall examines how films have reflected and sometimes sought to prescribe ideas about how one ought to pray He surveys the landscape of those films that employ prayer in their narratives beginning with the silent era and moving through the uplifting and inspirational movies of the Great Depression and World War II the cynical anti establishment films of the 60s and 70s and the sci fi and fantasy blockbusters of today Lindvall considers how the presentation of cinematic prayer varies across race age and gender and places the use of prayer in film in historical context shedding light on the religious currents at play during those time periods God on the Big Screen demonstrates that the way prayer is presented in film during each historical period tells us a great deal about America s broader relationship with religion

Madalina Armie, 2022-12-30 In the mid 1990s Ireland was experiencing the best of times The Celtic Tiger seemed to instil in the national consciousness that poverty was a problem of the past The impressive economic performance ensured that the Republic occupied one of the top positions among the world's economic powers During the boom dissident voices continuously criticised what they considered to be a mirage identifying the precariousness of its structures and foretelling its eventual crash The 2008 recession proved them right Throughout this time the Irish contemporary short story expressed distrust Enabled by its capacity to reflect change with immediacy and dexterity the short story saw through the smokescreen created by the Celtic Tiger discourse of well being It reinterpreted and captured the worst and the best of the country and became a bridge connecting tradition and modernity The major objective of this book is to analyse the interactions between fiction and reality during this period in Ireland by studying the short stories written by old and emergent voices published between the birth of the Celtic Tiger in 1995 up to its immediate aftermath in 2013
