Xu Xiake (1586-1641) Julian Ward, 2013-12-16 In this the first full length study in English of China's best known travel writer new light is shed on the importance of the diaries of Xu Xiake 1587-1687 a compulsive traveller who spent a lifetime visiting and writing about China's beauty spots The general view of his work that he brought a sober analytical approach to a genre previously the domain of the dilligente and that his writing was utilitarian and lacking in literary merit is cast aside revealing Xu to be a figure of his age his concerns perfectly in tune with the exuberant tastes of other late Ming literati Essential background is provided with a survey of the history of Chinese travel writing in general with particular emphasis given to the late Ming period and a resume of Xu Xiake's life The core of the work examines the wealth of new information to be found in a longer version of Xu's account of his great journey to southwest China rediscovered in the 1970s Detailed study of Xu's use of language serves to underline the breadth of achievement of a man who utilised traditional and contemporary Chinese poetic language in order to express an emotional response to the landscape through which he passed This is reinforced by a complete annotated translation of a deeply personal essay written towards the end of Xu's life The book covers a broad spectrum of vogueish sinological subjects relating to late Ming China ranging from the huge growth in all forms of geographical writing to the anthropological analysis of the non Han peoples of southwest China This book will interest both seasoned sinologists and anyone who has spent time travelling in China or is interested in the art of travel writing

A Poet's Revolution Donna Hollenberg, 2013-04-17 This first full length biography of Anglo American poet and activist Denise Levertov 1923 1997 brings to life one of the major voices of the second half of the twentieth century when American poetry was a powerful influence worldwide Drawing on exhaustive archival research and interviews with 75 friends of Levertov as well as on Levertov's entire opus Donna Krolik Hollenberg's authoritative biography captures the full complexity of Levertov as both woman and artist and the dynamic world she inhabited She charts Levertov's early life in England as the daughter of a Russian Hasidic father and a Welsh mother her experience as a nurse in London during WWII her marriage to an American after the war and her move to New York City where she became a major figure in the American poetry scene The author chronicles Levertov's role as a passionate social activist in volatile times and her importance as a teacher of writing Finally Hollenberg shows how the spiritual dimension of Levertov's poetry deepened toward the end of her life so that her final volumes link lyric perception with political and religious commitment

Building Culture in Early Qing Yangzhou Tobie Sarah Meyer-Fong, 2003 The book focuses on the previously overlooked period between the conquest and the city's commercial florescence a moment in which Yangzhou functioned as an important center of literary culture that was consciously conceived as transregional and transdynastic With rich detail and extensive use of literary sources the author documents the complex social and cultural interactions through which the community reconstituted itself to the role of archaeology As such the Routledge Handbook of Imperial Chinese History is an indispensable reference work for students and scholars of Chinese Asian and World History

The Dreaming Mind and the End of the Ming World

Lynn A. Struve, 2021-05-31 From the mid sixteenth through the end of the seventeenth century Chinese intellectuals attended more to dreams and dreaming and in a wider array of genres than in any other period of Chinese history Taking the approach of cultural history this ambitious yet accessible work aims both to describe the most salient aspects of this dream arc and to explain its trajectory in time through the writings arts and practices of well known thinkers religionists litterateurs memoirists painters doctors and political figures of late Ming and early Qing times The volume s encompassing thesis asserts that certain associations of dreaming grounded in the neurophysiology of the human brain at sleep such as subjectivity irrationality the unbidden lack of control emotionality spontaneity the imaginal and memory when especially heightened by historical and cultural developments are likely to pique interest in dreaming and generate florescences of dream expression among intellectuals The work thus makes a contribution to the history of how people have understood human consciousness in various times and cultures The Dreaming Mind and the End of the Ming World is the most substantial work in any language on the historicity of Chinese dream culture Within Chinese studies it will appeal to those with backgrounds in literature religion philosophy political history and the visual arts It will also be welcomed by readers interested in comparative dream cultures the history of consciousness and neurohistory

A Late Sixteenth-Century Chinese

Buddhist Fellowship Jennifer Eichman, 2016-01-19 Through a detailed analysis of epistolary writing A Late Sixteenth Century Chinese Buddhist Fellowship Spiritual Ambitions Intellectual Debates and Epistolary Connections brings to life the Buddhist discourse of a network of lay disciples who debated the value of Chan versus Pure Land sudden versus gradual enlightenment adherence to Buddhist precepts and animal welfare By highlighting the differences between their mentor the monk Zhuhong 1535 1615 and his nemesis the Yangming Confucian Zhou Rudeng 1547 1629 this work confronts long held scholarly views of Confucian dominance to conclude that many classically educated elite men found Buddhist practices a far more attractive option Their intellectual debates self cultivation practices and interpersonal relations helped shape the contours of late sixteenth century Buddhist culture literary traditions Stretching from earliest times to the present the text features original contributions by leading specialists working in all genres and periods Chapters cover poetry prose fiction and drama and consider such contextual subjects as popular culture the impact of religion the role of women and China's relationship with non Sinitic languages and peoples Opening with a major section on the linguistic and intellectual foundations of Chinese literature the anthology traces the development of forms and movements over time along with critical trends and pays particular attention to the premodern canon

A Book to Burn and a Book to Keep (Hidden) Zhi Li, 2016-06-07 Li Zhi's iconoclastic interpretations of history religion literature and social relations have fascinated Chinese intellectuals for centuries His approach synthesized Confucian Buddhist and Daoist ethics and incorporated the Neo Confucian idealism of such thinkers as Wang Yangming 1472-1529 The result was a series of heretical writings that caught fire among Li Zhi's contemporaries despite an imperial ban on their publication and intrigued Chinese audiences long after his death Translated for the first time into English Li Zhi's bold challenge to established doctrines will captivate anyone curious about the origins of such subtly transgressive works as the sixteenth century play The Peony Pavilion or the eighteenth century novel Dream of the Red Chamber In A Book to Burn and a Book to Keep Hidden Li Zhi confronts accepted ideas about gender questions the true identity of history's heroes and villains and offers his own readings of Confucius Laozi and the Buddha Fond of vivid sentiment and sharp expression Li Zhi made no distinction between high and low literary genres in his literary analysis He refused to support sanctioned ideas about morality and wrote stinging social critiques Li Zhi praised scholars who risked everything to expose extortion and misrule In this sophisticated translation English speaking readers encounter the best of this heterodox intellectual's vital contribution to Chinese thought and culture

The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a exceptional and thrilling novel that will keep you guessing until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
