Police Camera Action:

Policing and the Media Frank Leishman, Paul Mason, 2012-12-06 Policing and the Media provides an up to date overview of the changing dynamics and dimensions of the relationships that exist on the British police media nexus Factual fictional and factional representations of policing in the media are the major and for a great many citizens probably the sole influence in shaping their perceptions and opinions about crime law and order community safety police efficiency and integrity not to mention the efficacy of criminal justice and penal policy This book deals with all three representations noting the lines between such clear divisions are increasingly blurred and the concepts of reality realism and representation slippery and complex

Criminal Justice Deborah Drake, John Muncie, Louise Westmarland, 2012-12-06 Criminal Justice Local and Global and its sister text Crime Local and Global are two new teaching texts that aim to equip the reader with a critical understanding of the globally contested nature of crime and justice Through an examination of key concepts and criminological approaches the books illuminate the different ways in which crime is constructed conceived and controlled International case studies are used to demonstrate how crime and justice are historically and geographically located in terms of the global local context and how processes of criminalisation and punishment are mediated in contemporary societies Criminal Justice Local and Global covers the way the local can be widened out to look at international transnational and supranational aspects of justice This means that issues such as corporate crime and human rights can be discussed in a comparative and critical way examining the possibility for example of an International Criminal Court cross national jurisdictions of regulation and control such as Interpol and so on Each chapter covers a different area of regulation punishment and process Unlike previous texts the book s approach will be an innovative approach to widen justice to encompass considerations beyond simple local jurisdictions The book will take instances of justice in one jurisdiction and use global examples to illustrate how ambiguous the concept of justice can be Camera Action Murder Faith Mortimer, 2016-02-26 Diana Rivers hadn't intended to visit England that summer but the invitation to take part in a film shoot seemed too exciting an opportunity to miss. She looked forward to renewing old friendships and meeting a handful of well-known film stars. The only possible fly in the ointment was the venue. Years before Diana had suffered a terrifying experience in Cheltenham, England, an encounter which she thought she'd resolved. Reassuring her partner Steve that all was well and the dreadful episode was behind them, they went ahead. Little did Diana know that the filming was only a minor part of the show about to be enacted. Once again, Diana is drawn into events which threaten to spiral out of control. When a beautiful young actress is accidentally killed, Diana's reaction is to turn to more sinister thoughts. Was it an accident or was it murder? A second body leaves everyone reeling, and this time there is no doubt. A callous and vicious murderer is at large. Diana is fast embroiled in discovering the hard facts, not knowing that she is placing herself in great danger. Watch out, Diana. You could be next.

The Television Handbook Jeremy Orlebar, 2011 The Television Handbook is a critical introduction to the practice and theory of television. The book examines the state of television today, explains how television is made, and how production is organised, and discusses how critical thinking about programmes and genres can illuminate their meanings. This book also explores how developments in technology and the changing structure of the television industry will lead the medium in new directions. The Television Handbook gives practical advice on many aspects of programme making, from an initial programme idea through to shooting and the post-p Crime Watching Deborah Jermyn, 2006-10-27 In recent years, reality TV formats have proliferated on television. One of the most significant and controversial strands within this has been the growth of real crime TV. Encapsulating everything from crime appeal shows to reconstruction programmes and actuality footage shows, real crime TV now plays a major role in our television schedules, filling countless hours of air time every week. Crime Watching examines the spectacular growth of real crime TV. Of these programmes, the BBC's Crimewatch UK is Britain's best known, in small part due to the tragedy of presenter Jill Dando's death. The book argues that the birth of the BBC's Crimewatch UK in 1984 was a key transitional moment in the emergence, expansion, and subsequent popularity of these programmes, both in the UK and internationally. Looking closely at the social and political context of the period in which Crimewatch UK first appeared, and examining the aesthetics, address, and appeal of a range of other shows appearing in its wake, including Police Camera Action, America's Most Wanted, and World's Wildest Police Videos, this book investigates the conditions that have enabled and advanced the ubiquity of real crime programming on contemporary television, and the anxieties that surround it. Examining critiques that real crime TV has increased fear of crime while legitimising a surveillance culture, and that it serves to stifle debate about criminality and policing, Crime Watching also reflects on the pleasures of these programmes and the enduring nature of our culture's seemingly endless fascination with real crime stories.
