International Development Policy Gilles Carbonnier, 2012-03-06 International development cooperation is undergoing a revolution in order to cope with global challenges that cut across the rich poor and North South divides Beyond the fight against poverty development aid is called upon to address global public goods While intergovernmental negotiations stall bilateral and multilateral aid agencies boast to tackle climate change food insecurity water and energy scarcity pandemics armed conflicts and disasters in weak states migrations etc The emergence of new aid actors radically alters the traditional aid architecture and approaches The increasing number of poor living in middle income countries makes poverty alleviation more of a political than a technical endeavour The book examines how this profoundly affects international development cooperation It questions how far bilateral and multilateral aid agencies succeed in mainstreaming global issues in their operations It assesses how emerging and traditional donors address competing objectives often with diverging rationales Publisher description

European Yearbook of International Economic Law 2014 Christoph Herrmann, Markus Krajewski, Jörg Philipp Terhechte, 2014-02-10 In 2014 the global economic system celebrates two anniversaries Seventy years ago on 22 July 1944 at Bretton Woods New Hampshire the Articles of Agreement of the International Monetary Fund IMF and the Articles of Agreement of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development Worldbank were adopted Since then the global financial and monetary system underwent significant policy changes but the institutional framework remained the same More recently twenty years ago on 15 April 1994 the Final Act of the Uruguay Round of Multilateral Trade Negotiations was signed and its key component the Agreement establishing the World Trade Organization entered into force on 1 January 1995 Even though the beginning of the multilateral trading system dates back to the late 1940s the founding of the WTO constitutes a significant institutional reform which marks the beginning of a new era Anniversaries are usually moments of celebration However even a superficial observer will notice that neither the current international financial and monetary regime nor the international trade regime is in a stage which invites celebration Instead both are facing difficult and fundamental challenges to their very existence from the outside but also from within So while there may be no time to celebrate anniversaries are also often used for reflection about the past and the future Hence EYIEL 5 2014 considers these two anniversaries ample moments to reflect on the legacy and the current status of the main two pillars of International Economic Law in its Part one Part two of EYIEL 5 2014 brings together contributions on the EU s Deep Trade Agenda on Current Approaches to the International Investment Regime in South America on the Multilayered System of Regional Economic Integration in West Africa and on the Tripartite Free Trade Area as well as on India and her Trade Agreements Part three contains treatises of developments in the World Customs Organization the World Intellectual Property Organization and in International Investment Law After the book reviews in Part four EYIEL 5 2014 is complemented with an Annex containing the Case on exchange rate manipulation and crisis caused guarantees to financial institutions and the Best Submissions of the 11th EMC2 ELSA WTO Moot Court Competition of the Harvard team for the complainant and the Leuven team for the respondent The case not only addresses issues of current interest but also links the subjects of our two special focusses nicely together

The Language of World Trade Politics Klaus Dingwerth, Clara Weinhardt, 2018-08-30

Outcomes in major multilateral trade negotiations are conventionally explained as resulting from interests weighted by trading power Offering a different overview of the concepts we use to talk about the international trade regime this edited collection puts the ideational foundation of world trade politics centre stage and critically examines the terms in which we make sense of world trade politics The concepts used to make sense of world trade politics are often employed strategically making some aspects of reality visible and others invisible Reflecting upon ten key concepts from trade itself to protectionism and justice this book poses two broad questions first how and by whom have the meanings of different terms used to describe challenge and defend world trade politics been constructed Second how have the individual terms changed over time and with what consequences The editors and contributors draw on a broad range of theoretical approaches from post structuralism or cognitivism to normative theory shedding new light on why certain trade issues and agendas win out over others who benefits from the current system of trade governance and what contemporary challenges the World Trade Organization faces In doing so the book speaks to a growing and diverse constructivist literature in International Political Economy This book will be of interest to scholars students and policy professionals working within International Relations International Political Economy and economics From Privilege to Competition World Bank,2009-11-04 From Privilege to Competition Unlocking Private Led Growth in the Middle East and North Africa sheds new light on the difficult quest for stronger and more diversified growth in a region of unquestionable potential It underlines the need to strengthen reforms in many areas specifically by reducing policy uncertainty and improving credit and real estate markets It also highlights other important issues that restrain the credibility and impact of reforms in many parts of the region conflicts of interest between politicians and businesses an investment climate that favors a few privileged firms and a dominant private sector that often opposes reforms The book recommends that countries in the Middle East and North Africa MENA engage in more credible reform agendas by improving the implementation of policies in a manner that will reduce discretion and privileges This renewed commitment to stronger growth would entail several developments First governments will need to reduce opportunities for rent seeking and foster competition Second they will need to work to reform institutions private sector development policies will need to be systematically anchored in elements of institutional and public sector reforms in order to reduce discretion and opacity and improve the quality of services to firms Third they will need to mobilize all stakeholders including larger representations from the private sector around dedicated long term growth strategies Short of such a fundamental shift in the way private sector policies are formulated and implemented investor expectations that governments are committed to reform will be limited It will take political will and time to support sustained reforms that credibly convince investors and the public that changes are real deep and set to last MENA countries are endowed with strong human capital good infrastructure immense resources and a great deal of untapped creativity and entrepreneurship The economic and social payoff of embarking on a more ambitious private led growth agenda could thus be immense for all Fragmentation vs the Constitutionalisation of International Law Andrzej Jakubowski,Karolina Wierczyńska,2016-07-01 The current system of international law is experiencing profound transformations Indeed the simultaneous processes of globalization combined with the disintegration of international systems of governance and law making pose complex challenges for legal scholarship The doctrinal response to these challenges has been theorized within two seemingly contradictory discourses in international law fragmentation and constitutionalisation This book takes an innovative approach to international law viewing the processes of the fragmentation and constitutionalisation as being profoundly interconnected and reflective of each other It brings together a select group of contributors including both established and emerging scholars and practitioners in order to explore the ways in which the problems of fragmentation and constitutionalisation are viscerally linked one to the other and thus mutually conditioning and stimulating The book considers the theory and practice of international law looking at the two phenomena in relation to the various fields of international law such as international criminal law cultural heritage law and international environmental law The Political Economy of International Trade Law Daniel L. M. Kennedy,James

D. Southwick, 2002-05-23 International experts from law economics and political science provide in depth analysis of international trade issues Attorneys economists and political scientists adopt a common viewpoint entitled transcending the ostensible This approach directs particular attention to the possibility that WTO legal institutions like other international legal institutions will function in unexpected ways due to the political and economic conditions of the international environment in which they have been created and in which they operate A range of trade problems are considered here Topics include the constitutional dimensions of international trade law adding subjects and restructuring existing subjects to international trade law the legal relations between developed and developing countries and the operation of the WTO dispute settlement procedure This will be an essential volume for professionals and academics involved with international trade policy
