Popular Culture and Political Lives Manosh Chowdhury, 2025-09-26 This book is an anthology of essays that explore cultural products and their reception and readings in a given location Taking the Bangladeshi scenario into consideration this book engages with and relates to much wider conceptual and theoretical debates that are prevalent in the academic and polemic world The concept of popular is contested among cultural political spheres and is manifested across genres and formats Conventional modalities are often referred to as music film creative literature and paintings with little doubt about its more assured place in the elite space and for not being an easy pick for the culture industry With the advent of new media and the internet cyberspace provides entirely new meanings of the culture industry and cultural products where identities are endlessly in construction as well as in question This volume explores cultures and cultural products that have gone through crucial phases during and after the colonial period through modernity and capitalism within the compulsory flow of cultural globalization and it will be of interest to readers with a background in sociocultural anthropology colonial and post colonial studies and the culture and history of Asia

The Political Lives of Victorian Animals Anna Feuerstein,2019-07-04 Examines how liberal thought influenced representations of animals within nineteenth century animal welfare discourse and the Victorian novel

The Political Lives of Saints Angie Heo,2018-11-20 Since the Arab Spring in 2011 and ISIS's rise in 2014 Egypt's Copts have attracted attention worldwide as the collateral damage of revolution and as victims of sectarian strife Countering the din of persecution rhetoric and Islamophobia The Political Lives of Saints journeys into the quieter corners of divine intercession to consider what martyrs' miracles and mysteries have to do with the routine challenges faced by Christians and Muslims living together under the modern nation state Drawing on years of extensive fieldwork Angie Heo argues for understanding popular saints as material media that organize social relations between Christians and Muslims in Egypt toward varying political ends With an ethnographer's eye for traces of antiquity she deciphers how long cherished imaginaries of holiness broker bonds of revolutionary sacrifice reconfigure national sites of sacred territory and pose sectarian threats to security and order A study of tradition and nationhood at their limits The Political Lives of Saints shows that Coptic Orthodoxy is a core domain of minoritarian regulation and authoritarian rule powerfully reversing the recurrent thesis of its impending extinction in the Arab Muslim world

The Political Lives of Dead Bodies Katherine Verdery,1999-04-07 Since 1989 scores of bodies across Eastern Europe have been exhumed and brought to rest in new gravesites Katherine Verdery investigates why certain corpses the bodies of revolutionary leaders heroes artists and other luminaries as well as more humble folk have taken on a political life in the turbulent times following the end of Communist Party rule and what roles they play in revising the past and reorienting the present Enlivening and invigorating the dialogue on postsocialist politics this imaginative study helps us understand the dynamic and deeply symbolic nature of politics and how it can breathe new life into old bones

The Political Lives of Information Janaki Srinivasan,2022-10-04 How the definition production and leveraging of information are shaped by caste class and gender and the implications for development Information says Janaki Srinivasan has fundamentally reshaped development discourse and practice In this study she examines the history of the idea of information and its political implications for poverty alleviation She presents three cases in India the circulation of price information in a fish market in Kerala government information in information kiosks operated by a nonprofit in Puducherry and a political campaign demanding a right to information in Rajasthan to explore three uses of information to support goals of social change Countering claims that information is naturally and universally empowering Srinivasan shows how the definition production and leveraging of information are shaped by caste class and gender Srinivasan draws on archival and ethnographic research to challenge the idea of information as objective and factual Using the concept of an information order she examines how the meaning and value of information reflect the social relations in which it is embedded She asks why casting information as a tool of development and solution to poverty appeals to actors across the political spectrum She also shows how the power to label some things information and others not is at least as significant as the capacity to subsequently produce access and leverage information The more faith we place in what information can do she cautions the less attention we pay to its political lives and to the role of specific social structures individual agency and material form in the defining production and use of that information

The Political Lives of Postwar British MPs Emma Peplow, Priscilla Pivatto, 2020-08-06 Parliament is Britain's most important political institution yet its workings remain obscure to academics and the wider public alike MPs are often seen as out of touch or all the same and their individual motivations achievements and regrets remain in the background of party politics In this book Emma Peplow and Priscilla Pivatto draw on the History of Parliament Trust's collection of oral history interviews with postwar British MPs to highlight their diverse political experiences in Parliament Featuring extracts from a collection of interviews with over 160 former MPs who sat from the 1950s until the 2000s The Political Lives of Postwar British MPs gives a voice to those MPs' stories It explores why they became interested in politics how they found their seat and fought election campaigns what it felt like to speak in the chamber and how their class or gender dictated their experiences at Westminster In the process readers will be given rare glimpses into the spaces inhabited by MPs the political rivalries and friendships and the rising and falling of their careers With accounts from MPs of all political stripes from the well known like David Owen and Ann Taylor to those who sat for just a few years such as Denis Coe from old political families like Douglas Hurd to those like Maria Fyfe who felt themselves outsiders this book provides deep insight into the political lives of MPs in our age
