Kedourie's Approaches to History and Political Theory Sylvia Kedourie, 2013-10-18 Elie Kedourie was one of the twentieth century's most important and controversial historians of the Middle East. He redefined the landscape of the field by challenging the notion that the West's imperial domination of the region spawned nationalism in Arab countries. In a long career lecturing in politics at the London School of Economics, Kedourie inspired a generation of political scientists and politicians. A dedicated scholar and meticulous teacher, he founded Middle Eastern Studies, a journal which forty years after its launch remains one of the leading publications in the field and a monument to his work. Bringing together some of the most distinguished figures in Middle Eastern studies, this collection evaluates Kedourie's contribution to Middle Eastern history and political thought and assesses the impact of his scholarly legacy. The volume contains a complete bibliography of his writing and was previously published as a special issue of Middle Eastern Studies. Democracy and Pluralism in Muslim

Eurasia Yaacov Ro'i, 2004-11-23 This book is devoted to the study and analysis of the prospects for democracy among the Muslim ethnicities of the Commonwealth of Independent States (CIS) both those that have acquired full independence and those remaining within the Russian Federation. The nineteen Western academics and scholars from the Muslim countries and regions of the CIS who contribute to this volume view the establishment of democratic institutions in this region in the context of a wide and complex range of influences: above all the Russian/Soviet political legacy, native ethnic political culture and tradition, the Islamic faith and the growing polarity between Western civilization and the Muslim world. Community, Identity and the State Moshe Gammer, 2004-08-27 The studies in this volume originated from an international conference on Community, Identity and the State held at Tel Aviv University in 2001. The first two chapters examine whether modernisation, Westernisation and democratisation are identical and whether democracy is connected to a certain specific type of social structure. The third examines similarities in the political, economic and social development of Second World and Third World countries while the fourth discusses the relationship between criminal and normal structures in Russian society.

Subsequent chapters focus on nationalism using case studies from Argentina Syria and Morocco on the Ulama and national movements in the Middle East on Islamic nationalism in Iran and on the discourse between pan Africanism and Islam The final two chapters examine the effects on tribal politics of the exploitation of oil in Abu Dhabi and the problems of the Kurds in northern Iraq

Teachers as State-Builders Hilary Falb Kalisman, 2022-09-20 The little known history of public school teachers across the Arab world and how they wielded an unlikely influence over the modern Middle East Today it is hard to imagine a time and place when public school teachers were considered among the elite strata of society But in the lands controlled by the Ottomans and then by the British in the early and mid twentieth century teachers were key players in government and leading formulators of ideologies Drawing on archival research and oral histories Teachers as State Builders brings to light educators outsized role in shaping the politics of the modern Middle East Hilary Falb Kalisman tells the story of the few young Arab men and fewer young Arab women who were lucky enough to teach public school in the territories that became Iraq Jordan and Palestine Israel Crossing Ottoman provincial and later Mandate and national borders for work and study these educators were advantageously positioned to assume mid and even high level administrative positions in multiple government bureaucracies All told over one third of the prime ministers who served in Iraq from the 1950s through the 1960s and in Jordan from the 1940s through the early 1970s were former public school teachers a trend that changed only when independence occupation and mass education degraded the status of teaching The first history of education across Britain s Middle Eastern Mandates this transnational study reframes our understanding of the profession of teaching the connections between public education and nationalism and the fluid politics of the interwar Middle East

The Caspian Region, Volume 1 Moshe Gammer, 2004-06-25 Following the dissolution of the Soviet Union in the 1990s new states most of them muslim emerged in central Asia and the Caucasus These new states proved to be both oil rich and central in the strip of conflict and instability that stretches from central Europe to the Far East This volume draws attention to previously neglected issues which could result in conflict the water problem and negotiation in central Asia the issues of Southern Azerbaijan Ajaria and Javakheti the many problems of multi ethnic Daghestan two attempts at unity in the Northern Caucasus The book also re examines some of the established truths regarding the states around the Caspian Sea and re evaluates the validity of the term Caspian region and the question of who should be included in this new region the general belief that the Caspian region will be a geopolitical centre of the 21st century the axiom that the dissolution of the USSR has reopened the Great Game Moreover The Caspian Region thoughtfully re examines the questions of democracy of fundamentalist Islam and of the complex ambivalent relationship between Islam and nationalism in the region

Ethno-Nationalism, Islam and the State in the Caucasus Moshe Gammer, 2007-10-22 The region of the Caucasus with its ongoing and even deteriorating crises and instability and its critical strategic and economic importance is increasingly at the focus of the world s attention This book discusses the complexities and interplay among important forces at work in the region including different brands of Islam nationalisms ethnic identities local bureaucracies Moscow s policies and influences from the outside History Education in Lebanon and the Borders of the Nation Bouchra Saab,2025-09-01

This study shows that widely used history textbooks in Lebanon are more standardized and censored than in most liberal democratic countries and relatively similar in form and content to textbooks from Syria and Iraq A diversity of historical narratives has progressively converged into one dominant narrative which entails a standard definition of the self In contrast the other is defined through the exclusion of religious groups considered exogenous and ethnicities considered inferior In addition women are marginalized Surprisingly the textbooks affiliated with Hezbollah a Shiite militia financed by the Iranian regime depart to a certain extent from this definition While most previous research on Lebanese history textbooks has focused on the diverging narratives of religious communities this study views these textbooks as the outcome of a tension between two major forces educational traditions on the one hand and contemporary politics on the other
