Hlebowitsh, 1993      Reconceptualizing Curriculum Development James Henderson, and Colleagues, 2014-12-05 Reconceptualizing Curriculum Development provides accessible clear guidance on curriculum problem solving and educational leadership through the practice of a synoptic curriculum study This practice integrates three influential interpretations of curriculum curriculum as deliberative artistry curriculum as complicated conversation and curriculum as currere with John Dewey's lifetime work on reflective inquiry At its heart the book advances a way of studying as a way of living with reference to the question How might I live as a democratic educator The study guidance is organized as an open ended scaffolding of three embedded reflective inquiries informed by four deliberative conversations Study recommendations are provided by a carefully selected team The field tested study based approach is illustrated through a multi layered multi voiced narrative collage of four experienced teachers personal journeys of understanding in a collegial study context Applying William Pinar's argument that a conceptual montage enabling teachers to lead complicated conversations should be the focus for curriculum development in the field's current post reconceptualist moment the book moves forward the educational aim of facilitating a holistic subject self social understanding through the practice of a balanced hermeneutics of suspicion and trust It closes with a discussion of cross cultural collaboration and advocacy reflecting the interest of curriculum scholars in a wide range of countries in this study based lead learning approach to curriculum development      Understanding Curriculum William F. Pinar, 1995 Perhaps not since Ralph Tyler's 1949 Basic Principles of Curriculum and Instruction has a book communicated the field as completely as Understanding Curriculum From historical discourses to breaking developments in feminist poststructuralist and racial theory including chapters on political theory phenomenology aesthetics theology international developments and a lengthy chapter on institutional concerns the American curriculum field is here It will be an indispensable textbook for undergraduate and graduate courses alike      Critical Curriculum Studies Wayne Au, 2012-03-22 Critical Curriculum Studies examines both how social power is embedded in curricular knowledge and how such knowledge can be used to make progressive educational and social change      Curriculum Development in the Postmodern Era Patrick Slattery, 2012-12-06 First Published in 2006 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company      An Introduction to the Internationalization of Higher Education Ali Arabkheradmand, Enayat A. To Want to Learn Jackson Kytle, 2012-07-17 Lack of learner motivation is the single greatest challenge before American schools and colleges When students are self motivated they invest more and work harder at learning even if resources are inadequate Jackson Kytle's provocative book argues that students and teachers waste time and human energy because the conventional curriculum rests on flawed mental models Hope for change requires a searching critique of modernity as well as expanded theories of human motivation and learning based on advances in neurobiology and cognitive studies After consideration of existentialism and choice of life purposes and the dynamics of psychological involvement Kytle closes his ambitious interdisciplinary book with ten considerations for better learning

Middle Grades Curriculum Kathleen Roney, Richard P. Lipka, 2013-05-01 High stakes testing standards and accountability politics is taking us away from the importance of the affective domain in curriculum development This critical learning domain is often an unrecognized and infrequently considered topic in the literature Through this book we extend the current knowledge base by addressing a curriculum model developed in the 1980s We add a 2012 knowledge base as we delineate the role of self perceptions in school related learning how middle level curriculum affects self perceptions and the type of curriculum planning which enhances self perceptions and improves learning in the cognitive affective and psychomotor domains The combination of sound psychological principles and practical teaching and curriculum suggestions with an empirical basis makes the book attractive to both higher education and local school professional libraries In the former it will serve as the primary text in graduate and advanced undergraduate middle level education programs and practices courses It might also be a primary text in courses or workshops in affective education or other experiences which emphasize affective values and self concept It also has potential as a supplementary text in undergraduate educational psychology courses At the in service level this book could be used as a workshop resource or as a professional reference for middle level teachers administrators curriculum workers and supervisors Our interest in young adolescents and their school setting coincides with the fourth edition of This We Believe NMSA 2010 The self enhancing school is characterized by from to statements for example from avoiding parents to working with parents Using theory and research we discuss the costs of staying in the from position and the benefits derived from moving to the to position By combining educational psychology and curriculum development we make a unique contribution to middle grades curriculum developers Conducting

Paradigm Debates in Curriculum and Supervision Linda Behar-Horenstein, Jeffrey Glanz, 2000-01-30 Paradigm debates in the educational research community are a frequent if not common occurrence How do paradigm debates in other educational fields such as curriculum and supervision shape educators understanding and practice In this volume it is suggested that educators adherence to particular views of curriculum and supervision is influential in guiding their beliefs and subsequent actions For example a widely accepted belief is that if an individual adopts a mechanistic view of the curriculum then s he is likely to deliver a curriculum grounded in pre established objectives and evaluate student achievement in relationship to formulated objectives Postmodernists contend that such educators are bound by rigid bifurcation and a constrictive linear logic In supervision educational leaders who favor leadership styles comprised by autocratic behaviors tend to create school climates that favor a top down approach to human relationships Autocratic leaders rely on hierarchical organizational structures and styles that seek to instill compliance and subordination Yet prospective administrators who want concrete proposals put in practice find modern perspectives of supervision helpful In contrast postmodern supervisors allege that such leaders disallow the emergence of relevant and authentic relationships that might occur when conventional hierarchical structures are diminished and open lines of communication between teachers students administrators become normative The chapters in this book present an in depth analysis of how an individual's predisposition towards modern and postmodern views of curriculum and supervision are likely to influence 1 curriculum development 2 teaching styles 3 leadership styles 4 teacher and student evaluation and 5 the missions intrinsic to the creation of professional preparation programs that serve to promulgate existing practice or create a new order of teachers and administrator
