Railroad Vision Photography Travel And Perception:

Railroad Vision Anne M. Lyden, 2003 The invention of railway transportation coincided with the invention of photography together these innovations changed our preception of time space of our place in the world Anne Lyden presents over 100 photographs with railway themes showing how these technologies complimented each other over time A Royal Passion Anne M. Lyden, 2014-02-04 In January 1839 photography was announced to the world Two years prior a young Queen Victoria ascended to the throne of Great Britain and Ireland These two events while seemingly unrelated marked the beginnings of a relationship that continued throughout the nineteenth century and helped construct the image of an entire age A Royal Passion explores the connections between photography and the monarchy through Victoria s embrace of the new medium and her portrayal through the lens Together with Prince Albert her beloved husband the Queen amassed one of the earliest collections of photographs including works by renowned photographers such as Roger Fenton Gustave Le Gray and Julia Margaret Cameron Victoria was also the first British monarch to have her life recorded by the camera images of her as wife mother widow and empress proliferated around the world at a time when the British Empire spanned the globe The featured essays consider Victoria s role in shaping the history of photography as well as photography s role in shaping the image of the Queen Including more than 150 color images several rarely seen before drawn from the Royal Collection and the J Paul Getty Museum this volume accompanies an exhibition of the same name on view at the J Paul Getty Museum from February 4 to June 20 2014 Photography, Vision, and the Production of Modern Bodies Suren Lalvani, 1996-01-01 Lalvani argues that modernity represents the powerful privileging of vision and the introduction of a paradigm of seeing that is historically distinctive Taking the introduction of photography in the nineteenth century as a crucial development in the expansion of modern vision he draws on the writings of Alan Sekula John Tagg Jonathan Crary Norman Bryson and Martin Jay to examine in a comprehensive manner how photography functioned to organize a set of relations between knowledge power and the body However in taking a broad cultural studies approach Lalvani situates the practices of photography within the larger visual order of the nineteenth century He demonstrates how the new lines of visibility formed not only by photography but by new urban spaces and new modes of transportation resulted in a particular organizing of the social order of subjectivity and social relations Photography and Other Media in the Nineteenth Century Nicoletta Leonardi, Simone Natale, 2018-11-08 In this volume leading scholars of photography and media examine photography s vital role in the evolution of media and communication in the nineteenth century In the first half of the nineteenth century the introduction of telegraphy the development of a cheaper and more reliable postal service the rise of the mass circulation press and the emergence of the railway dramatically changed the way people communicated and experienced time and space Concurrently photography developed as a medium that changed how images were produced and circulated Yet for the most part photography of the era is studied outside the field of media history The contributors to this volume challenge those established disciplinary boundaries as they programmatically explore the intersections of photography and new media during a period of fast paced change Their essays look at the emergence and early history of photography in the context of broader changes in the history of communications the role of the nascent photographic press in photography s infancy and the development of photographic techniques as part of a broader media culture that included the mass consumed novel sound recording and cinema Featuring essays by noteworthy historians in photography and media history this discipline shifting examination of the communication revolution of the nineteenth century is an essential addition to the field of media studies In addition to the editors contributors to this volume are Geoffrey Batchen Geoffrey Belknap Lynn Berger Jan von Brevern Anthony Enns Andr Gaudreault Lisa Gitelman David Henkin Erkki Huhtamo Philippe Marion Peppino Ortoleva Steffen Siegel Richard Taws and Kim Timby

Trains, Literature, and Culture Steven D. Spalding, Benjamin Fraser, 2012-01-01 Trains Literature and Culture Reading and Writing the Rails delves into the rich connections between rail travel and the creation of cultural products from short stories to novels from photographs to travel guides and from artistic manifestos of the avant garde to Freud s psychology Each of the contributions engages in critical readings of textual or visual representations of trains across a wide spectrum of time periods and traditions from English and American to Mexican West African and European literary cultures By turns trope metaphor and emblem of technological progress these textual and visual representations of the train serve at times to index racial and gender inequalities to herald the arrival of a nation s independence and at still others to evince the trauma of industrialization In each instance the figure of the train emerges as a complex narrative form engaged by artists who were Reading Writing the Rails as a way of assessing the competing discursive investments of cultural modernity

Anthropology of Tourism in Central and Eastern Europe Sabina Owsianowska, Magdalena Banaszekiewicz, 2018-04-11 In Anthropology of Tourism in Central and Eastern Europe Bridging Worlds Sabina Owsianowska and Magdalena Banaszekiewicz examine the limitations of the anthropological study of tourism which stem from both the domination of researchers representing the Anglophone circle as well as the current state of tourism studies in Central and Eastern Europe This edited collection contributes to the wider discussion of the geopolitics of knowledge through its focus on the anthropological background of tourism studies and its inclusion of contributors from Austria Bulgaria Estonia and Poland

Los Angeles Union Station Marlyn Musicant, 2014-05-02 Union Station today is a celebrated architectural icon and vibrant centerpiece of Los Angeles s regional transportation network Designed by John and Donald B Parkinson its mission revival architecture speaks to a mythic vision of Spanish heritage but with streamline moderne and art deco details At first glance this masterpiece conceived as a magnificent gateway to the growing metropolis offers no hint of the civic financial and legal battles surrounding its development siting style and construction battles that were waged across decades in the early twentieth century and that went as high as the U S Supreme Court Los Angeles Union Station explores this compelling example of how transit and corporations disrupted regional balances of power and political economies Aided by new research and beautiful drawings from the Getty Research Institute's archive the authors demonstrate how contentious politics informed architectural design and the many ways in which Union Station was at the heart of the rise of Los Angeles The book accompanies the exhibition No Further West on view at the Los Angeles Public Library from May 2 through August 10 2014 O. Winston Link: Life Along the Line Tony Reeve, 2013-07-15 The renowned photographer's stirring tribute to the last steam locomotive railway and the end of an American way of life O Winston Link photographed the Norfolk and Western the last major steam railroad in the United States when it was converting its operations from steam to diesel in the 1950s Link's N W project captured the industry at a moment of transition before the triumph of the automobile and the airplane that ended an era of passenger rail service His work also revealed a small town way of life that was about to experience seismic shifts and in many cases vanish completely Including a collection of more than 180 of Link's most famous works and rare images that have never before been published O Winston Link Life Along the Line offers a moving account of the people and communities surrounding the last steam railroad

Adirondack Photographers, 1850-1950 Sally E. Svenson, 2023-05-15 Just as the new technology of photography was emerging throughout the United States in the mid nineteenth century it caught hold in the scenic Adirondack region of upstate New York Young men and a few women began to experiment with cameras as a way to earn their livings with local portrait work From photographing individuals some expanded their subject matter to include families and groups homes streetscapes landmarks workplaces and important events from town celebrations to presidential visits train wrecks floods and fires These photographers from within and just beyond the park's borders as well as those based in the urban areas from which tourists came to the Adirondacks have been central in defining the region Adirondack Photographers 1850 1950 is a comprehensive look at the first one hundred years of photography through the lives of those who captured this unique rural region of New York State Svenson's fascinating biographical dictionary of more than two hundred photographers is enriched with over seventy illustrations While the popularity of some of these photographers is reflected in the number of their images held in the collections of the Library of Congress the New York Public Library and the Getty Museum little is known about the diverse backgrounds of the individuals behind their work A compilation of captivating stories Adirondack Photographers provides a vivid intimate account of the evolution of photography as well as an unusual perspective on Adirondack history

The Modern West Emily Ballew Neff, Barry Holstun Lopez, 2006-01-01 A fascinating and novel exploration of the transformative role played by the American West in the development of modernism in the United States Drawing extensively from various disciplines including ethnology geography geology and environmental studies this groundbreaking book addresses shifting concepts of time history and landscape in relation to the work of pioneering American artists during the first half of the 20th century Paintings watercolors and photographs by renowned artists such as Frederic Remington Georgia O'Keeffe Ansel Adams Thomas Hart Benton Dorothea Lange and Jackson Pollock are considered alongside American Indian ledger drawings tempuras and Dineh sandpaintings Taken together these works document the quest to create a specifically American art in the decades prior to World War II The Modern West begins with a captivating meditation on the relationship between human culture and the physical landscape by Barry Lopez who traveled the West in the artists footsteps Emily Ballew Neff then describes the evolving importance of the West for American artists working out a radically new aesthetic response to space and place from artist explorers on the turn of the century frontier to visionaries of a Californian arcadia to desert luminaries who found in its stark topography a natural equivalent to abstraction Beautifully illustrated and handsomely designed this book is essential to anyone interested in the West and the history of modernism in American art

"Visions of the Industrial Age, 1830-1914" Amy Woodson-Boulton, 2017-07-05 Providing a comprehensive interdisciplinary assessment and with a particular focus on expressions of tension and anxiety about modernity this collection examines visual culture in nineteenth century Europe as it attempted to redefine itself in the face of social change and new technologies Contributing scholars from the fields of history art literature and the history of science investigate the role of visual representation and the dominance of the image by looking at changing ideas expressed in representations of science technology politics and culture in advertising art periodicals and novels They investigate how during the period new emphasis was placed on the visual with emerging forms of mass communication photography lithography newspapers advertising and cinema while older forms as varied as poetry the novel painting interior decoration and architecture became transformed The volume includes investigations into new innovations and scientific development such as the steam engine transportation and engineering the microscope spirit photography and the orrery as well as how this new technology is reproduced in illustrated periodicals The essays also look at more traditional forms of creative expression to show that the same concerns and anxieties about science technology and the changing perceptions of the natural world can be seen in the art of Armand Guillaumin Auguste Rodin Gustave Caillebotte and Camille Pissarro in colonial nineteenth century novels in design manuals in museums and in the decorations of domestic interior spaces Visions of the Industrial Age 1830 1914 offers a thorough exploration of both the nature of modernity and the nature of the visual

The Rural Cemetery Movement

Jeffrey Smith, 2017-10-23 When Mount Auburn opened as the first rural cemetery in the United States in 1831 it represented a new way for Americans to think about burial sites It broke with conventional notions about graveyards as places to bury and commemorate the dead Rather the founders of Mount Auburn and the spate of similar cemeteries that followed over the next three decades before the Civil War created institutions that they envisioned being used by the living in new ways Cemeteries became places for leisure communing with nature and creating a version of collective memory In fact these cemeteries reflected changing values and attitudes of Americans spanning much of the nineteenth century In the process they became paradoxical they were rural yet urban natural yet designed artistic yet industrial commemorating the dead yet used by the living The Rural Cemetery Movement Places of Paradox in Nineteenth Century America breaks new ground in the history of cemeteries in the nineteenth century This book examines these rural cemeteries modeled after Mount Auburn that were founded between the 1830s and 1850s As such it provides a new way of thinking about these spaces and new paradigm for seeing and visiting them While they fulfilled the sacred function of burial they were first and foremost businesses The landscape and design regulation of gravestones appearance and rhetoric furthered their role as a business that provided necessary services in cities that went well beyond merely burying bodies They provided urban green spaces and respites from urban life established institutions where people could craft their roles in collective memory and served as prototypes for both urban planning and city parks These cemeteries grew and thrived in the second half of the nineteenth century for most the majority of their burials came before 1910 This expansion of cemeteries coincided with profound urban growth in the United States Unlike their predecessors founders of these burial grounds intended them to be used in many ways that reflected their views and values about nature life and death and relationships Emphasis on worldly accomplishments increased with industrialization and growth in the United States which was reflected in changing ways people commemorated their dead during the period under this study Thus these cemeteries are a prism through which to understand the values attitudes and culture of urban America from mid century through the Progressive Era

Visions of the Industrial Age, 1830-1914 Minsoo Kang, Amy Woodson-Boulton, 2008 Diverse and wide ranging the essays collected here examine nineteenth century visual culture as European culture redefined itself embracing political and social change yet expressing tensions and anxieties about modernity Scholars of history art the history of science and literature combine forces to investigate the role of visual representation by looking at changing ideas expressed in representations of science technology politics and culture in advertising art periodicals and novels
