Research Writing Revisited:

Research Writing Revisited Pavel Zemliansky, Wendy Bishop, 2004 The time has come to brush the dust off research writing pedagogy and reimagine it into the twenty first century classroom with fresh approaches that breathe life into both the papers themselves and the instruction that supports them Reconnecting Reading and Writing Alice S. Horning, Elizabeth W. Kraemer, 2013-09-06 Reconnecting Reading and Writing explores the ways in which reading can and should have a strong role in the teaching of writing in college Reconnecting Reading and Writing draws on broad perspectives from history and international work to show how and why reading should be reunited with writing in college and high school classrooms It presents an overview of relevant research on reading and how it can best be used to support and enhance writing instruction English as an Additional Language in Research Publication and Communication Sally Burgess, Pedro Martín-Martín, 2008 This book brings together a collection of selected empirical studies by researchers and English for Academic Purposes professionals working with scholars who use English as an additional language and who face barriers to publication when communicating the results of their research in the international context The contributions have their origins in papers and workshops presented at the conference Publishing and Presenting Research Internationally Issues for Speakers of English as an Additional Language PRISEAL which took place at the University of La Laguna Spain from 11 to 13 January 2007 The various issues which are addressed in this volume are grouped into three main themes 1 Descriptive studies of linguistic and rhetorical features of written and spoken academic genres 2 Contrastive studies of academic discourse with a focus on rhetorical preferences of members of scientific communities across cultures disciplines and genres 3 Studies which evaluate English for Academic Purposes courses and materials in terms of how successfully they develop the scholar s ability to communicate more effectively in English Understanding Development and Proficiency in Writing Philip Durrant, Mark Brenchley, Lee McCallum, 2021-03-18 Quantitative corpus research on written language development has expanded rapidly in recent years assisted by the ever increasing power and accessibility of software capable of reliably analysing huge collections of learner writing For this work to reach its full potential it is important that researchers have a strong understanding of its methodological foundations and of the existing empirical evidence base on which it can build This book provides the most comprehensive discussion to date of research in this area Covering both first and second language learning contexts it sets out a coherent theoretical framework and systematically reviews studies published over the last seventy years in order to establish what such research has taught us about written language development what it hasn t taught us and what we should do next Timely and original this is an essential reference work for academic researchers and students of first and second language writing Defining, Locating, and Addressing Bullying in the WPA Workplace Cristyn L. Elder, Bethany Davila, 2019-03-15 Defining Locating and Addressing Bullying in the WPA Workplace is the first volume to take up the issue of bullying in writing programs Contributors to this collection share their personal stories and analyze varieties of collegial malevolence they have experienced as WPAs with consequences in emotional mental and physical health and in personal and institutional economies Contributors of varying status in different types of programs across many kinds of institutions describe various forms of bullying including microaggressions incivility mobbing and emotional abuse They define bullying as institutional racism academic systemic incivility a crisis of insularity and faculty fundamentalism They locate bullying in institutional contexts including research institutions small liberal arts colleges community colleges and writing programs and writing centers These locations are used as points of departure to further theorize bullying and to provide clear advice about agentive responses A culture of silence discourages discussions of this behavior making it difficult to address abuse This silence also normalizes patterns and cultivates the perception that bullying arises naturally Defining Locating and Addressing Bullying in the WPA Workplace helps the field to name these patterns of behaviors as bullying and resist ideologies of normalcy encouraging and empowering readers to take an active role in defining locating and addressing bullying in their own workplaces Contributors Sarah Allen Andrea Dardello Harry Denny Dawn Fels Bre Garrett W Gary Griswold Amy C Heckathorn Aurora Matzke Staci Perryman Clark Sherry Rankins Robertson Erec Smith

Theory and Practice of Writing William Grabe, Robert B. Kaplan, 2014-09-25 This book undertakes a general framework within which to consider the complex nature of the writing task in English both as a first and as a second language The volume explores varieties of writing different purposes for learning to write extended text and cross cultural variation among second language writers The volume overviews textlinguistic research explores process approaches to writing discusses writing for professional purposes and contrastive rhetoric It proposes a model for text construction as well as a framework for a more general theory of writing Later chapters organised around seventy five themes for writing instruction are devoted to the teaching of writing at the beginning intermediate and advanced levels Writing assessment and other means for responding to writing are also discussed William Grabe and Robert Kaplan summarise various theoretical strands that have been recently explored by applied linguists and other writing researchers and draw these strands together into a coherent overview of the nature of written text Finally they suggest methods for the teaching of writing consistent with the nature processes and social context of writing

Teaching Multiwriting Robert L. Davis, Mark F Shadle, 2007-04-23 This innovative volume proposes a reinvention of composition and rhetoric training with multiwriting an alternative open approach to composing that spans genres media disciplines and cultures

A Dynamic Systems Theory Perspective on L2 Writing Development Shaopeng Li, 2022-03-23 From the perspective of empirical complex dynamic systems this book investigates the complex and nonlinear process of L2 writing centering on three linguistic aspects of L2 writing development vocabulary syntax and discourse Combining dynamic systems theory variation analysis as well as data and cases studies from Chinese EFL learners writing the book critically engages with the heated discussion on dynamic patterns of L2 writing development that focus heavily on the linguistic dimensions of complexity accuracy and fluency The author expands the scope of the research by integrating both linguistic and functional dimensions of L2 output and examines the interaction and co development of these dimensions This framework helps delineate a full picture of individual learners L2 writing dynamic patterns across all components of their communicative repertoire The research findings suggest the developmental path of writing system for each EFL learner may differ which is influenced by their different learning characteristics and learning environments in China The title will appeal to scholars interested in applied linguistics and second language acquisition Suggestions on pedagogy and language learning advanced in the book will also make it a useful read for L2 language learners and TESOL and TEFL teachers

Documents of Life Revisited Liz Stanley, 2016-05-13 The cultural and narrative turn has had a considerable impact upon research in the social sciences as well as in the arts and humanities with Ken Plummer's Documents of Life constituting a central text in the turn towards to narrative biographical and qualitative methodologies challenging and changing the nature of research in sociology and further afield Bringing together the latest research on auto biographical and narrative methods Documents of Life Revisited offers a sympathetic yet critical engagement with Plummer's work exploring a range of different kinds of life documents and delineating a critical humanist methodology for researching and writing about these A rich examination of the methods and methodologies associated with contemporary research in the social sciences and humanities this book will be of interest to those concerned with the use and importance of biographical and narrative sources and documents of life investigations As such it will appeal to sociologists social anthropologists and geographers as well as scholars of cultural studies and cultural history literary studies and library archive and cultural management social policy and medical studies

A Functional Linguistic Perspective on Developing Language Anne McCabe, 2021-06-23 This volume offers a comprehensive account of language development from a Systemic Functional Linguistic SFL perspective integrating theory and data from a wide range of research studies The book begins by taking an in depth look at SFL theory and its focus on texts highlighting the metafunctional nature of language and the ways in which individuals repertoires of meaning making resources develop as they interact with the world and with others Grounded in an SFL approach the successive chapters consider in turn the key stages of language development from infancy to school settings to additional second and foreign language learning contexts Each chapter incorporates a range of SFL studies to demonstrate shifts in language development across these stages but also the discussion of other functional perspectives to examine the ways in which these different approaches inform one another A concluding chapter considers the implications of these studies for future research as well as for pedagogical practices in literacy teaching In its consideration of the relationship between SFL theory and its application to language development this book will be key reading for students and scholars in Systemic Functional Linguistics language and education and literacy studies

Hearing Ourselves Think Ann M. Penrose, Barbara M. Sitko, 1993 In Hearing Ourselves Think cognitive process research moves from the laboratory to the college classroom where its rich research tradition continues and an important new set of instructional approaches emerges Each chapter moves from research results to classroom action providing a direct and important link between research theory and practice The book develops the concept of the research based classroom in which students actively examine the processes and contexts of reading and writing and then turn their observations into principles for practice Hearing Ourselves Think contributes to a lively new tradition of socio cognitive research in writing and reading exploring the dynamics of cognitive processes as they interact with dimensions of the academic context

Learning and Literacy over Time Julian Sefton-Green, Jennifer Rowsell, 2014-09-25 Learning and Literacy over Time addresses two gaps in literacy research studies offering longitudinal perspectives on learners and the trajectory of their learning lives inside and outside of school and studies revealing how past experiences with literacy and learning inform future experiences and practices It does so by bringing together researchers who revisited subjects of their initial research conducted over the past 10 20 years with people whom they encountered through ethnographic or classroom based investigations and are the subjects of previous published accounts The case studies drawn from countries in three continents and covering a range of social worlds offer an original and at times quite an emotive interpretation of the effects of long term social change in the UK the US Australia and Canada the claims and aspirations made by and for certain kinds of educational interventions how research subjects reflect on and learn from the processes of being co opted into classroom research as well as how they make sense of school experiences some of the widespread changes in literacy practices as a result of our move into the digital era and above all how academic research can learn from these life stories raising a number of challenges about methodology and our claims to know the people we research In many cases the process of revisiting led to important reconceptualizations of the earlier work and a sense of seeing with new eyes what was missed in the past The reflections on methodology and research processes will interest postgraduate and academic researchers The studies of change and of long term effects are widely relevant to teacher educators and scholars in language and literacy education educational anthropology life history research media and cultural studies and sociology

Composing a Teacher Study Group Richard J. Meyer, With Linda Brown, Elizabeth DeNino, Kimberly Larson, Mona McKenzie, 2013-10-18 There has been a flurry of writing about teachers as inquirers and researchers as well as books about children as inquirers This volume brings these two areas together teachers and students are inquiring at Ridgeway Elementary School It demonstrates the importance of thought collectives as forums for student and teacher learning The children in the primary classrooms in this book are working to understand the world around them and their place in it as literate individuals Their teachers are studying themselves and the students No other book describes the way this work affects children teachers and the ethos of the school in which the work occurs In that sense this book is groundbreaking in that it is an honest portrayal of the joys and sorrows the successes and the stumbling blocks the clear vision and the obfuscating that teachers live as they enact a life of asking questions being curious wandering and wondering Acknowledging and honoring the many faces of inquiry in schools this book demonstrates the children s inquiry their teachers inquiry and the place of that inquiry in schools It lays out the ways in which inquiry is fundamental to teaching and learning in a democracy in which all of the members of the community have a voice in deciding curricular directions and ways of presenting learning Teachers are presented as thinkers and learners not merely as technicians enacting others views of what is to be learned and when Readers will find teachers dealing with the real issues of life in schools they will see how teachers can use their existing situations as points of departure for their growth and their students learning

Challenging Tradition Perry Shaw, Havilah Dharamraj, 2018-03-31 The surge of theological education in the rapidly growing church of the Majority World has highlighted the inadequacy of traditional Western methods of thinking and learning to fully accomplish the task at hand The limitations of current theological education are embodied in the formation and assessment of the master s or doctoral dissertation processes that follow a linear empiricist tradition developed in the West and exported to the Majority World Challenging Tradition Innovation in Advanced Theological Studies highlights the need for these traditions to be reconsidered in every context throughout the world Drs Shaw and Dharamraj with their team of contributors present innovations in research and documentation that demonstrate how we may better prepare theological leadership through means that are contextually relevant and locally meaningful

Early Modern Women's Writing and the Future of Literary History Lara Dodds, Michelle M. Dowd, 2025-02-03

Early Modern Women's Writing and the Future of Literary History demonstrates that a full accounting of early modern women's literary and creative activities is necessary to the future of literary studies writ large Despite benefiting from a rich body of scholarship and diverse critical practices early modern women's writing is still treated as an optional or secondary component of Renaissance literary studies as a whole In this book Dodds and Dowd offer a state of the field assessment of the critical and theoretical debates that have resulted in this state of affairs in order to advance specific visions for the future Dodds and Dowd examine how perennial questions about authorship canon and literary value have historically influenced scholarship on early modern women's writing and its place within literary studies Early modern women's writing has been perceived as belated out of sync with dominant critical trends Dodds and Dowd show the belatedness of early modern women's writing to be a happy accident that positions women's writing as a resource for the renewal of literary history In both the classroom and in scholarship early modern women's writing shows the way forward for the field whether in the revitalization of formalist approaches to literature through an alliance with feminism or in the integration of newer critical methodologies such as premodern critical race studies This book demonstrates that a feminist literary history that places women's writing at its center is essential to the future of English Renaissance literary studies There is in other words no history of English Renaissance literature without women writers
