Bourne, David Ley, 1993 The contributors to this volume demonstrate the richness and diversity of the social landscapes and communities in Canadian urban centres emphasizing changes which occurred in the period from the mid 1960s to the early 1990s The nineteen non technical and integrative essays include reviews of the literature empirical studies and discussions of policy issues CONTENTS Introduction The Social Context and Diversity of Urban Canada David F Ley and Larry S Bourne Part One Patterns People and Place in Urban Canada Evolving Urban Landscapes D W Holdsworth Measuring the Social Ecology of Cities W K D Davies and R A Murdie Demography Living Arrangement and Residential Geography J R Miron Urban Social Behaviour in Time and Space D G Janelle Part Two Contexts Social Structure and Urban Space Migration Mobility and Population Redistribution E G Moore and M W Rosenberg The Emerging Ethnocultural Mosaic S H Olson and A L Kobayashi Work Labour Markets and Households in Transition D Rose and P Villeneuve Housing Markets Community Development and Neighbourhood Change Larry S Bourne and T Bunting Part Three Places Selected Locales Integrating Production and Consumption Industry Class Ethnicity and the Jews of Toronto D Hiebert Past Elites and Present Gentry Neighbourhoods of Privilege in the Inner City David F Ley From Periphery to Centre The Changing Geography of the Suburbs L J Evenden and G E Walker The Social Geography of Small Towns J C Everitt and A M Gill Part Four Needs Social Well being and Public Policy Social Planning and the Welfare State J T Lemon The Meaning of Home Home Ownership and Public Policy R Harris and G J Pratt Homelessness M J Dear and J Wolch Geography of Urban Health S M Taylor Changing Access to Public and Private Services Non family Childcare S Mackenzie and M Truelove Cities as a Social Responsibility Planning and Urban Form P J Smith and P W Moore

Commuting and Relocation of Jobs and Residences Jos Ommeren, 2018-04-27 This title was first published in 2000 An analysis of commuting behaviour from an integrated labour and housing market perspective A theoretical search model is proposed and analyzed with an emphasis on two owner households The book provides insights into the relationship between job and residential moving and commuting behaviour Contemporary Research in Population Geography John Stillwell, Henk J. Scholten, 2012-12-06 Significant changes have occurred in the structural composition and geographical distribution of the populations of North West European countries during the 1970 s and 1980 s Whilst the subject matter of this volume reflects many of the important themes of research activity that have preoccupied British and Dutch spatial demographers and population geographers over the last decade the structure of the book aims to facilitate comparison of those selected themes between the United Kingdom and the Netherlands The book has gradually taken shape over the period of time since the conference in Oxford in 1986 when the contents were first presented We are very grateful for the assistance that we have received during the production process from Marjie Salisbury Tim Hadwin and John Dixon at the School of

Geography University of Leeds from Annemieke Perquin at the National Physical Planning Agency in The Hague and from Evert Meijer Elmy Heuvelmans and Berry van Houten at GEODAN in Amsterdam We also wish to acknowledge the contributions to the field of population geography that have been made in recent years by John Coward who died so tragically in the Kegworth air disaster earlier this year

Behavioral Problems in Geography Revisited Kevin R Cox, Reginald Golledge, 2015-12-22 This collection of papers originally published in 1981 reviews and evaluates past and possible future advances in a field of central importance to human geography behavioral geography The book includes critical studies which show how the approach has contributed substantially to work within four areas of major application in behavioral geography urban travel behavior environmental cognition residential mobility and spatial diffusion The final section of the book focuses on the shortcomings of the behavioral approach and considers the alternative modes of analysis available

Sociological Human Ecology Michael Micklin, Harvey M Choldin, 2019-09-18 First published in This volume grew out of concerns raised by the contributors and a few others over the current status of human ecology within the field of sociology Stemming from conferences and subsequent discussions by a group of sociologist demographers on recent developments in sociological human ecology which started at the annual meeting of the Population Association of America in 1976 the original essays contained in this book are designed to review and assess the current state of knowledge in the field

Applied Urban Analysis Ian Cullen, 2013-04-15 Much of the theoretical literature in planning and human geography at present is materialist in perspective This offers a powerful critique but locates the dynamics of urban systems too specifically in just one basic social relationship It fails to provide an intellectual base broad enough for constructive detailed urban analysis partly because it fails to do justice to the reflective awareness of the individual The alternative humanist position redresses the balance in favour of the individual but again cannot serve the practical requirements of urban analysis since it so often ignores social or contextual analysis Ian Cullen synthesizes these two apparently inconsistent theoretical positions and to render the increasingly obscure debate between them accessible This book was first published in 1984

Population Issues Leo J.G. van Wissen, Pearl A. Dykstra, 2012-12-06 This volume marks the end of an eight year program of research on population issues launched in 1990 by the Netherlands Organization for Scientific Research The NWO Priority Program on Population Issues Initiatives for this program of research were taken over ten years ago by Hans Van Ginkel who became the first program chair and Dirk Van De Kaa The Dutch community of population scientists is deeply indebted to them for their early efforts At the time the program carried the name Between Individual Development and Social Solidarity Population and Society in a Period of Transition The goals of the Priority Program were threefold To reduce the fragmentation of research on population issues to increase collaboration among population researchers with different disciplinary backgrounds and to strengthen the position of population studies in Dutch academe and in international forums Looking back over eight years of programmed research we can safely say that the Priority Program has given an enormous impetus to population research in the Netherlands as this volume attests This program of research could not have been carried out success fully without the valuable contributions and constructive input of a large group of scientists The scope and the focus of the Priority Program were defined by a preparatory committee chaired by Gerard Frinking Societal Geo-innovation Arnold Bregt,Tapani Sarjakoski,Ron van Lammeren,Frans Rip,2017-04-03 This book contains the full research papers presented at the 20th AGILE Conference on Geographic Information Science held in 2017 at Wageningen University Research in Wageningen the Netherlands The selected contributions show trends in the domain of geographic information science directed to spatio temporal perception and spatio temporal analysis For that reason the book is also of interest to professionals and researchers in fields outside geographic information science in which the application of geoinformation could be instrumental in sparking societal innovation Housing and Planning References ,1975 Homeowners and Neighborhood Reinvestment George C. Galster,1987 This book investigates the efforts of homeowners to maintain and improve their dwellings Their behavior it has found depends on economic variables as well as the sociological structure of their neighborhoods Residential satisfaction expectations of the neighborhood and mobility plans were taken into account Multivariate statistical analyses of models were conducted using household data from Minneapolis and Wooster Ohio Three important findings emerged First homeowners sense of solidarity with their neighbors is as significant in determining their efforts at home upkeep as are their income or age Second the optimism of homeowners toward increases in property values results in behavior opposite to that produced by optimism about neighborhood quality of life This implies that different kinds of predictable gaming behavior occur among homeowners depending on the neighborhoods in which they live Third both short term and extremely long term plans to move prove damaging to home upkeep The results of this study form the basis for a better understanding of such residential phenomena as class succession racial transition and gentrification Galster s findings will also be valuable for analyzing policies that attempt to encourage neighborhood reinvestment Interpreting the City Truman Asa Hartshorn,1992-04-16 The Second Edition has been rewritten to provide additional coverage of topics such as urban development and third world cities as well as social issues including homelessness jobs housing mismatch and transportation disadvantages It has also been updated with 1990 Census data Innovative Approaches to Understanding Transportation/societal Interactions: Study design reports ,1981 Migration Decision Making Gordon F. De Jong,Robert W. Gardner,2013-10-22 Migration Decision Making Multidisciplinary Approaches to Microlevel Studies and Developing Countries discusses several topics such as systematics review and evaluation of microlevel frameworks and models of the migration decision applicability of microlevel migration models and framework and general policy implications of microlevel models and frame works The opening chapter introduces the main themes and provides an overview of the book Chapter 2 discusses the motivation for migration an assessment and a value expectancy research model and the next chapter tackles macrolevel influences on the migration decision process Chapter 4 covers microeconomic approaches to studying migration decisions while Chapter 5 discusses information uncertainty and the microeconomic model of migration decision making The sixth chapter talks about moving toward a development paradigm of migration with particular reference to third world countries and the seventh chapter discusses village community ties village norms and ethnic and social networks Chapter 8 covers family structure and family strategy in migration decision making and then Chapter 9 discusses the migration decision making process emphasizing some social psychological considerations Chapter 10 tackles policy intervention considerations focusing on the relationship of theoretical models to planning and Chapter 11 discusses the utility of microlevel approach to migration using a Philippine perspective The last chapter is a review of micro migration research in the third world context This book will be of great interest to sociologists economists law makers and government agencies who are concerned with the implications of migrations

U.S. and West German Housing Markets K. Stahl,R.J. Struyk,2013-11-11 For many years countries have taken advantage of one another s experiences in formulating social policies and even in designing specific interventions Often such transfers have occurred on a fairly casual level sometimes greater rigor has been present In either case the goal has been to learn from previous experience at least to avoid repeating the mistakes of the past In light of the promise that such intercountry transfers hold it is somewhat surprising that so little energy has gone into careful analytic work on the behavior of households in differing countries and how they respond to various changes especially those resulting from shifts in public policy This lack of careful analysis was a major force that motivated The Urban Institute to establish an international studies program in 1982 This volume represents one of the early products of the collaborative efforts that this initiative has spawned The results of the comparison of the housing markets in West Germany and the United States presented here offer examples of the type of unexpected conclusions that may emerge from careful analyses as well as more anticipated outcomes Despite the many similarities in the economies of the United States and West Germany and the general free market orientation of their housing sectors the papers in this volume document important differences in the way households make decisions about their housing and the consequences of these decisions

Conceptualising Home Lorna Fox O'Mahony,2006-12-01 It is difficult to overstate the everyday importance of home in law Home provides the backdrop for our lives and is often the scene or the subject of legal disputes In addition in recent decades there has been growing academic interest in the meaning of home which has prompted empirical studies and theoretical exploration in a wide range of disciplines Yet while the authenticity of home as a social psychological cultural and emotional phenomenon has been recognised in other disciplines it has not penetrated the legal domain where the proposition that home can encapsulate meanings beyond the physical structure of the house or the capital value it represents continues to present conceptual difficulties This book focuses on the competing interests of creditors who lend money against the security of the property and the occupiers who dwell in the property in the context of possession actions By mapping the concept of home as it has evolved in other disciplines against existing legal frameworks Conceptualising Home examines the possibilities for developing a coherent concept of home in law Selling Cities David P. Varady, Jeffrey A. Raffel, 1995-01-01 Shows that cities can be revitalized by attracting and retaining the middle class through schools and housing programs Spatial Behavior in Haredi Jewish Communities in Great Britain Shlomit Flint Ashery, 2019-09-25 This book focuses on the strict orthodox Jewish Haredi community which comprises many sects whose communal identity plays a central role in everyday life and spatial organization The research reveals and analyses powerful mechanisms of residential segregation acting at the apartment building and near neighbourhood levels Identifying the main engines of spontaneous and organised neighbourhood change and evaluating the difficulties of liberalism dealing with non autonomous individuals in the housing market sheds light on similar processes occurring in other city centres with diverse population groups Highlighting the impact of various organisational levels on the spatial structure of the urban enclave the book focuses on the internal dynamics of ethno religious enclaves that emerge from three levels of action 1 individuals relationships with their own and other groups 2 the community leadership s powers within the group and in respect of other groups and 3 government directives and tools e g planning The study examines how different levels of communal organisation are reflected in the residential patterns of four British communities the Litvish communities of Golders Green and Gateshead and the Hassidic communities of Stamford Hill and Canvey Island Regional and Metropolitan Growth and Decline in the US William H. Frey, Alden, Jr. Speare, 1988-10-18 During the 1970s several striking population shifts attracted widespread attention and colorful journalistic labels Urban gentrification the rural renaissance the rise of the Sunbelt these phenomena signaled major reversals in long term patterns of population distribution In Regional and Metropolitan Growth and Decline in the United States authors Frey and Speare place such reversals in context by examining a rich array of census data This comprehensive study describes new population distribution patterns explores their consequences and evaluates competing explanations of current trends The authors also provide an in depth look at the changing race status and household demographics of the nation s largest cities and discuss the broad societal forces precipitating such changes Frey and Speare conclude that the 1970s represented a transition decade in the history of population distribution and that patterns now emerging do not suggest a return to the past With impressive scope and detail this volume offers an unmatched picture of regional growth and decline across the United States A Volume in the Russell Sage Foundation Census Series Return Migration Decisions Ruth Achenbach, 2016-10-21 Ruth Achenbach develops a model of individual return migration decision making which examines both the process and the decisive factors in return migration decision making of Chinese highly skilled workers and students in Japan She proposes to answer a question yet insufficiently explained by migration research why do migrants deviate from their migration intentions and return sooner or later than planned or not at all Her study integrates factors from the spheres of career family and lifestyle and redefines stages in long term decision making processes thereby contributing to decision and migration theory She analyzes migrants shifting priorities over the course of migration including a
