Responding To Men In Crisis:

Responding to Men in Crisis Brian Taylor, 2004-08-02 Responding to Men in Crisis is based on new research looking at gendered assumptions about rationality and men's mental health. It looks at postmodern theory in relation to masculinities and madness and discusses key contemporary debates in political uses of risk, dangerousness and so on. The author relates this to a discussion of current policy and practice responses to men within the mental health system. It offers the reader a theoretical exploration of a topically and politically sensitive issue and is relevant to service user involvement and survivor movements, making it essential reading for academics and students of sociology and allied disciplines.

Engaging East Timorese Men in the Process of Establishing Gender Equality Melanie Lotfali, 2013-09-18 ABSTRACT The equality of women and men is a prerequisite for peace. Social development interventions over recent decades have sought to achieve equality primarily by educating and liberating women from the shackles of customs and paradigms that serve to maintain gender inequality. It is increasingly recognized that due attention must be given to men's essential role in the process to men's education and liberation. In East Timor the latter process has begun albeit on a small scale. This study looks at ways to further advance this process. Three and a half years in East Timor provided the opportunity to engage in applied research using the methodology of ethnography. I gathered data using three main techniques: semi-structured interviews with more gender equitable men and with women and men occupied with the engagement of East Timorese men in gender equality; observation and direct participation within a wide range of settings from informal encounters on local beaches to high level meetings with the president and government ministers; and analysis of pertinent primary and secondary documents. I identified that a number of interventions are being applied to the issue of engaging East Timorese men in gender equality including use of workshops and trainings, the performing arts, campaigns and the mass media, role modeling and the techniques of popular education with varying levels of success. I found that the Association of Men Against Violence and its members are key players in the advancement of this process and that they work closely with feminist organizations within East Timor. While I drew on much secular theory and practice in the course of this study, my personal beliefs and practices are guided by the teachings of the Baha'i Faith. The Baha'i teachings include much that is relevant to this study and thus I have drawn on and presented Baha'i perspectives and approaches to such things as equality and men's role in its establishment, social and economic development and the culture of contest and have drawn on Baha'i principles in the discussion of results and subsequently in drawing my conclusions. By exploring the implications of interventions implemented in other parts of the world and of theory pertaining to social development, masculinities and a culture of contest, I identified that interventions in East Timor to engage men in gender equality would be strengthened by giving due consideration to the following: developing participants' ability to communicate; providing opportunity for and developing the capacity of participants to critically reflect on their environment; addressing participants as whole human beings and members of one human race and actively engaging participants in the development and ownership of knowledge I concluded that three areas requiring immediate attention include the development of evaluation tools and processes and the systematic documentation and sharing of learning as well as research into masculinities in an East Timorese context     Messages Men Hear Ian M. Harris,2004-08-02 This text is based on over 10 years research with 500 men from different classes backgrounds races and ethnic groups It constructs a theory of masculinity by exploring masculine expectancies how men form their gender identities and how those identities influence their behaviour     Politics of Masculinities Michael A. Messner,1997-09-06 The profound changes wrought by the feminist movement were by no means restricted to women In the years since feminism has taken root the role of men and masculinity has begun to undergo its own redefinition Michael A Messner provides a sociological framework to understand the responses of men to the changes challenges and crises in the social organization of gender By examining not only what certain groups of men say about gender but what they do Messner helps to illuminate the various social movements engaged with the politics of masculinity Politics of Masculinities is one of the first books in the new Gender Lens series which will look at the social world through the lens of gender The mission of the series is to unpack the assumptions about gender that pervade social life and to examine the centrality of these assumptions to the way we perceive and interpret our world Politics of Masculinities is an ideal introduction to the discussion of gender roles and masculinity This book will be of interest to students and professionals involved in gender studies sociology and men's studies

Working With Troubled Men Morley D. Glick, 2006-04-21 This book offers a concise readable research grounded synthesis of the special concerns mental health and other helping professionals need to address when working with men today and explains a wealth of effective gender specific approaches to assessment and intervention that result in more successful outcomes for male clients Many more women than men seek counseling and therapy and to some extent standard services have evolved in response to female styles of communicating and problem solving Practitioners frequently feel frustrated and baffled by their male clients because they seem unresponsive to treatment approaches that work so well for women But many men benefit from therapy when practitioners understand male socialization and the ways men communicate and problem solve Too many men today are doing badly and are in real need of help Almost half of America's male children grow up in single parent homes headed by mothers where they seldom have male mentors or role models Fewer men than women attend or graduate from college and increasing levels of binge drinking and date rape on campuses paint a discouraging picture of men on campus Male violence continues to be a serious problem in many American communities with male youth violence continuing at epidemic levels Men die younger than women overall and in much higher proportions from suicide homicide and cirrhosis of the liver

Numen, Old Men Joseph Gelfer, 2016-09-17 Since the early 1990s there have been various movements designed to encourage masculine spirituality All these movements share a concern that spirituality has become too feminine and that men's experiences of the spiritual are being marginalized The task of masculine spirituality is to promote authentic masculine characteristics within a spiritual context Numen Old Men examines these characteristics to argue that masculine spirituality is thinly veiled patriarchy The mythopoetic evangelical and Catholic men's movements are shown to promote a hetero patriarchal spirituality by appealing to either combative and oppressive neo Jungian archetypes or biblical models of man as the leader of the family Numen Old Men examines spiritualities that aim to honour and transcend both the masculine and feminine and offers gay spirituality as an example of masculine spirituality that resists patriarchy

Critical and Feminist Perspectives on Financial and Economic Crises Sakiko Fukuda-Parr, James Heintz, Stephanie Seguino, 2017-10-02 Economic and financial crises have become perennial features of today's global economy. Macroeconomic theories of crisis including the global crisis that unfolded in 2008 emphasize the role of financial deregulation, capital flow imbalances and growing debt fueled by income and wealth inequality. These approaches tend to be divorced from feminist thinking which analyzes broader distributional dynamics transmitted through structural channels and government policy responses with an emphasis on gender, race, class and ethnicity. This volume brings together innovative thinking from heterodox macroeconomists and feminist economists to explore the causes, consequences and ramifications of economic crises. By doing so it highlights aspects of the economy that are frequently overlooked or ignored such as the impact of crises on the vast amount of unpaid work which women perform relative to men. The collection of international studies assembled here takes an innovative approach to analyzing a range of issues from the subprime mortgage crisis to the gendered effects of austerity to the role of the International Monetary Fund in governing an unstable global economy. In so doing it looks beyond causes and consequences and points to new directions for macroeconomic and financial policy. This book was originally published as a special issue of Feminist Economics. Early Warning, Timely Response, 1998 Responses to Disasters and Climate Change Michele Companion, Miriam S. Chaiken, 2016-11-30 As the global climate shifts communities are faced with a myriad of mitigation and adaptation challenges. These highlight the political, cultural, economic, social and physical vulnerability of social groups, communities, families and individuals. They also foster resilience and creative responses. Research in hazard management, humanitarian response, food security programming and other areas seeks to identify and understand factors that create vulnerability and strategies that enhance resilience at all levels of social organization. This book uses case studies from around the globe to demonstrate ways that communities have fostered resilience to mitigate the impacts of climate change.
