Responding To A Serious Mental Health Problem Personcentred Dialogues:

Responding to a Serious Mental Health Problem Richard Bryant-Jefferies, 2016-07-12 This book uses narrative to describe powerfully what is happening interspersed with the counsellor's thoughts and reflections. Sessions of supervision are also described and linked to what is occurring in the therapy. The first part of the book focuses on a client struggling to cope with her son who has mental health and drug problems. The second part describes the son's experience of entering into a therapeutic encounter after having reached a crisis point. Cultural differences are also explored. Included in this volume is material to inform the training process of counsellors and many others who seek to work with people experiencing these relational dynamics. It is intended as much for experienced counsellors as it is for trainees. It provides real insight into what can occur during counselling sessions. The book will also be of value to the many healthcare and social care professionals who whilst they may specialise in other areas will find that the issues dealt with in this volume have impact on the work they are doing. For them the text demystifies what can occur in therapy and provides useful ways of working that may be used by professionals other than counsellors. Potential clients will also gain an insight into the process.

Person-Centred Counselling Supervision Richard Bryant-Jefferies, 2017-11-22 Each preceding book in the Living Therapy series provides a demonstration of the application of the person-centred approach to counselling and psychotherapy to clients presenting with particular issues. To complement these this book focuses more on the supervisory element of the therapeutic process. It brings together examples of supervision sessions from the Living Therapy series and presents each one as an example of person-centred supervisory practice of person-centred counselling. The supervision sessions deal with a range of issues that arise when working with clients who are seeking counselling in order to resolve difficulties from a wide range of difficult human experience. Each supervision session is introduced with a summary of the background and points for discussion are included at the end of each chapter to stimulate further thought and debate The book does not attempt to demonstrate a definitive way to apply person centred principles to supervision but does demonstrate core principles It will prove valuable to experienced and novice supervisors and to those uncertain about supervising counsellors working in areas outside their own professional experience It should also be read by counsellors in training who are preparing to be supervised for whom the book offers insights into this collaborative process
