Responding To Adolescent Suicide:

Responding to Adolescent Suicide Barry D. Garfinkel, Phi Delta Kappa. Task Force on Adolescent Suicide, 1988 This publication is designed to help educators deal with the problems that arise after an adolescent's suicide. It recommends that teachers should be able to detect differences in students' responses to emotional problems. Following a preface and a brief review of the extent of the problem, the first chapter discusses which adolescents are vulnerable to suicide, noting that adolescent suicide is rarely precipitated by a single factor but usually is a combination of factors. Risk factors described include depression, loss, moving, lack of attention from working parents, disappointments, substance abuse, chronic illness, and handicaps, impulsivity, negative life events, and physical, sexual, and emotional abuse. The second chapter discusses dealing with the school situation after a suicide, describing the bereavement and recovery stages of denial, anger, acceptance, and resolution. A 10-step crisis management plan for suicide and how to put it into action is discussed in the third chapter. Establishing a school crisis team for dealing not only with suicides but also with other crises such as accidents, drug overdoses, tornadoes, earthquakes, bomb threats, even riots is discussed in the fourth chapter. Three levels of a school crisis team are presented: individual, building, central office, and community support groups. Finally, community education in suicide prevention for two key audiences, parents and the media, is discussed. The appendix includes checklists for at-risk adolescents, symptoms of suicidal youth, and suicide threat. A bibliography is included. ABL

Preventing and Responding to Student Suicide Various Authors, 2021-11-18 This practical book covers issues related to suicide risk prevention and postvention in Higher and Further Education communities. Compiled by 37 experts, it is an authoritative guide to an issue that is causing increasingly large concern for FE and HE institutions and covers multiple evidence-backed approaches with a pragmatic focus. It is the first that specifically deals with student suicide in FE. Colleges and universities encouraging a holistic institutional response. Chapters are split into three sections: beginning with understanding and preventing student suicide among students, followed by responses to risk, including a model for student prevention in HE settings. The book concludes with the response to student death by suicide, with advice on postvention and how to support bereaved family, staff, and students.

Responding to Youth Crime in Hong Kong Michael Adorjan, Wing Hong Chui, 2014-03-21 A society's response to youth crime reveals much about its broader cultural values, social circumstances, and political affairs. This book examines reactions and policy responses to youth delinquency and crime in Hong Kong during its colonial and post-colonial periods and, in doing so, underscores the history of Hong Kong itself and its present-day circumstances. Exploring how officials have responded to youth crime in Hong Kong over time, this book tracks the emergence of a penal elitist mode of governance, highlighting concerns not only about young people's behavior but the need for officials to establish state authority and promote citizen identification. In turn, it reveals an alternative to the usual story about youth crime found in many western regions and provides an opportunity to begin to develop a comparative criminology. The book examines the emergence of the disciplinary welfare tariff during the 1970s debates and policy changes related to the minimum age of criminal responsibility and youth sex crimes and inaction regarding the introduction of restorative justice initiatives in the post colonial era It also addresses the power of Post 80s youth to protest and challenge government policies which directly combat contemporary fears regarding the mainlandization of Hong Kong Drawing on archival sources official reports and interviews with key stakeholders in the juvenile justice system Responding to Youth Crime in Hong Kong will appeal to students and scholars interested in Chinese society criminology social work sociology and youth studies

Adolescent Suicide Group for the Advancement of Psychiatry. Committee on Adolescence, 1996 Even the most skilled therapist may underestimate suicide potential. Careful assessment and competent psychiatric intervention cannot always predict the suicidality of a particular person. Adolescent Suicide GAP Report 140 presents techniques that allow psychiatrists and all those caring for the health and welfare of adolescents to respond to signals of distress with timely therapeutic intervention. It also suggests measures of anticipatory prevention. Adolescent Suicide presents an overview of adolescent suicidal behavior. It explores risk factors, the identification and evaluation of the suicidal adolescent and approaches to therapy. It offers both historical and cross cultural perspectives, the relevance of suicide to adolescent development, mental health training needs regarding suicidality and related issues such as public health policies and medicolegal concerns. The risk of suicide presents a unique crisis in adolescent development. For this reason, all mental health professionals will find this report an indispensable tool in the treatment of adolescents at risk for suicide. Drawing from years of combined experience, this committee has applied its expertise on adolescent development to the sobering problem of suicide.
