Restructuring In The Service Industries:

Service Industries and Asia Pacific Cities Peter W. Daniels, Kong Chong Ho, Thomas A. Hutton, Tom Hutton, 2005-04 During the second half of the twentieth century development in the Asia Pacific region has been dominated by industrialization. However, at the beginning of the twenty-first century, services in particular finance, information, and creative services have become deeply embedded in the processes of urban growth. In Asia Pacific, the rise of service industries has led to national modernization programmes and globalization strategies. Services are also driving change in the internal form of city regions and are being actively deployed as instruments of metropolitan reconfiguration and land use changes. These changes have created problems such as social polarization and the displacement of traditional industries and residential districts. Also, there are tensions between local and global processes in the development of service industries and between the imperatives of competitive advantage and sustainable development. Service Industries and Asia Pacific Cities brings together a multi-disciplinary team of experts to explore and illustrate the theoretical, conceptual, and practical issues arising from the transformation of Asia Pacific cities by service industries. Global Competitiveness of the U. S. Computer Software and Service Industries DIANE Publishing Company, 1995-10 Assesses the global competitiveness of the U.S. computer software and service industries through an examination of distinct market segments. Examines external factors such as government policies, intellectual property protection, telecommunications regulations, and export controls, and education trends. Internal factors are also examined such as host management strategies and product development strategies that impact these industries. The analysis focuses primarily on the U.S., Europe, and Japan. Charts, tables, and graphs. Services Industries and the Knowledge-based Economy Canada. Industry Canada, 2006 Services industries account for almost three quarters of both gross domestic product and employment in Canada, a trend that Canada shares with other G-7 countries. Furthermore, the services sector has been responsible for most of Canada's employment creation and much of its productivity growth over the past decade, and the sector's importance to the Canadian economy continues to increase. Thirty renowned experts contribute to this volume, which is aimed at better understanding the dynamics of Canadian services industries and identifying the types of policies most likely to improve their innovation and productivity performance. The Handbook of Service Industries J. R. Bryson, P. W. Daniels, 2007-01-01 It contains an impressive array of important and useful material that should be familiar to anyone interested in economic growth and change. The potential value to be gained from these collected works is great. James E. Pratt Growth and Change Service activities are now acknowledged as key players in economic development, societal change, and public policy worldwide. This exciting Handbook not only contributes to ongoing conceptual debates about the nature of service-led economies and societies, it also pushes back the frontiers of current critical thinking about the role of service activities in urban and regional development and the important research agendas that remain to be addressed. Drawing on both theory and case studies, the contributors are international experts who have written original and stimulating chapters from a number of different disciplinary perspectives Each chapter seeks to raise awareness of and to provoke debates about the opportunities and challenges presented by the shift to service employment Providing a truly interdisciplinary analysis The Handbook of Service Industries will be invaluable to scholars specializing in services research as well as students and researchers in the areas of economics geography business and management sociology public policy and planning The policy making community will also find the Handbook a relevant and useful resource

The Regulation of Subsidies Within the General Agreement on Trade in Services of the WTO Pietro

Poretti, 2009-01-01 The General Agreement on Trade in Services GATS extends the multilateral trading system to services Little is said in the GATS about subsidies beyond stipulating that subsidies are subject to the existing provisions including the most favoured nation and national treatment principles and that Members shall enter into negotiations with a view to developing the disciplines necessary to avoid the trade distorting effects of subsidies This timely book provides a comprehensive analysis of services subsidies under the GATS It begins with a description of services and trade in services and of the salient characteristics that make regulation of services subsidies more complex than those associated with agricultural and industrial goods It then analyzes the economic arguments underpinning the need for regulation as well as the need for governments to retain sufficient latitude to implement non trade related policy measures A description of the information available on services subsidies is followed by a classification of services subsidies according to their distortive effects and by a detailed analysis of those elements that may form a definition of services subsidies for the purpose of a future regulatory framework A key section is devoted to the analysis of those existing provisions of the GATS that may exert a certain measure of discipline on services subsidies and to the question of the desirability and technical feasibility of countervailing measures Rules on services subsidies contained in regional trade agreements and the need for special and differential treatment for services subsidies by developing countries are also discussed Finally and prior to the conclusion two sectoral studies deal with the question of subsidies aimed at attracting foreign direct investment and subsidies to the audiovisual sector This work represents the first extensive and comprehensive analysis of the issue of services subsidies in the context of the GATS and includes numerous references to relevant European Union State Aid legislation and jurisprudence Book Jacket

Removing Obstacles to Economic Growth Michael L. Wachter, Susan M.

Wachter, 2016-11-11 The unsatisfactory performance of the United States economy during the 1970s generated considerable debate over potential new directions for economic policy This volume the result of the second Wharton Reliance Symposium held in May 1983 presents and analyzes a range of economic policy options The focus of the volume is on potential policy remedies for the economic problems of slow real output and productivity growth Given the range of issues covered and the alternative viewpoints presented this collection does not search for an overall policy consensus To focus on consensus would have required narrowing both the subject matter and the distinctive viewpoints that are presented here The result is an open discussion of a set of existing and innovative policy options Contributors include Henry A Kissinger former Secretary of State Nobel Laureate Lawrence R Klein Lester C Thurow Professor of Economics and Management at Massachusetts Institute of Technology Senator Alan Cranson Alfred E Kahn Chairman of the Council on Wage and Price Stability under President Carter William W Winpisinger International President of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers and Justine Farr Rodriguez Senior Economist with the U S Office of Management and Budget among many others Working in the Service Sector Gerhard Bosch,Steffen Lehndorff,2004-06-01 The rise to prominence of the service sector heralded over half a century ago as the great hope for the twenty first century has come to fruition In many cases employment in the service sector now outnumbers that in manufacturing sectors and it is accepted that in all developed countries the service sector is the only one in which employment will grow in future The reasons for this is the subject of much controversy and debate the outcomes of which are not merely of academic interest but of decisive importance for economic policy and the quality of working and living conditions in future In order to examine these various arguments research teams from eight European countries worked together for three years on a comparative study of the evolution of service sector employment in EU member states They also investigated working and employment conditions in five very different service industries banking retailing hospitals IT services and care of the elderly in a number of countries and the results of their research are presented in this informative new collection of interest to students academics and researchers involved in all aspects of industrial economics Services and Economic Development in the Asia-Pacific J.W. Harrington,2016-04-01 Until the 1990s industrialization was the dominant development paradigm for the Asia Pacific region Since then advanced services finance business or producer services information and creative services have become deeply embedded in the processes of economic growth and change in the region This rapid tertiary expansion is fundamentally restructuring national and regional economies and urban form in line with the introduction of advanced production systems national modernization programmes and the globalization strategies of governments Services are being actively deployed as instruments of metropolitan reconfiguration and land use change This book explores various aspects of the relationship between service industries and economic development in Japan South Korea China Taiwan Singapore India Australia and New Zealand It provides new sector oriented and regional and national perspectives on services and development Australian National Bibliography: 1992 National Library of Australia,1988 Future Asian Space Erwin Viray,Davisi Boontharm,Limin Hee,2012-01-01 Rapid technological economic social and cultural changes are transforming the idea of Asian space With the shift to a global economy and an urban population explosion Asian cities have become a mainstay of progress national pride identity and positioning on the global stage The extraordinary pace and intensity of the changes have created a situation unique in the history of urban development Despite the immense diversity of Asian countries Asia ness is often treated as a distinctive quality that has emerged from unique recent circumstances affecting Asian urbanizations as a whole In Future Asian Space

15 authors explore broad concepts relating to the creation and re creation of Asian space and contemporary Asian identity and their examination of different sites and research approaches highlights the difficulty of pinpointing what Asia ness is or might become Appropriate design and planning of cities is a critical element in building a sustainable future and coping with environmental social and cultural problems Future Asian Space is designed to stimulate interests and engagement in discussions of the Asian city and its trajectories in architecture and urbanism but the authors conclusions will intrigue anyone interested in the future of cities and urban life in Asia

Post-industrial Labour Markets Thomas Boje, Bengt Furåker, 2005-07-08 In nearly all OECD countries the labour market has been in flux in recent decades This book examines the labour markets and the institutional frameworks that condition their functioning in four different countries Canada the United States Denmark and Sweden Through a comparative study of these cases the book discusses the nation specific patterns that exist in a world that seems to become increasingly subject to common social and economic development

The Transformation of Canada's Pacific Metropolis Thomas A. Hutton, Institute for Research on Public Policy, 1998 This volume documents the economic and socio cultural transformation of Vancouver over the last decade analyzing the city s distinctive growth trajectory It describes how Vancouver has undergone a complex series of demographic economic and socio cultural changes that have given the city a radically different profile as a gateway to the Pacific a multi cultural metropolis a preferred destination for Asian immigrants and an integral part of new regional entities such as the Cascadia ecological and economic zone In addition to Vancouver s deepening engagement with Asia Pacific markets and societies the chapters examine the restructuring of the city s economy and labour force the formation of new external linkages the changes in class community and metropolitan structures and the patterns of urban reconstruction The final chapter discusses the implications of the Vancouver experience for structural change and the post industrial city region
