Sometimes death is only the beginning ...

JEREMY DRONFIELD

Resurrecting Salvador

Celeste Vaughan Curington

Resurrecting Salvador:

Resurrecting Salvador Jeremy Dronfield, 1999 Jeremy Dronfield's second dazzling psychological thriller explores the roots of love, madness and obsession through the story of a tormented musical genius and the bizarre aristocratic family that made him. Set in an eerie ruined chateau in the south of France and its ghostly simulacrum on the wastes of Dartmoor, this is a Gothic tale for the 1990s, a modern day story of the living, the dead and those in between. Resurrecting Tenochtitlan Delia Cosentino, Adriana Zavala, 2023-05-16 How Mexican artists and intellectuals created a new identity for modern Mexico City through its ties to Aztec Tenochtitlan. Subversion and Insurgency William Rosenau, 2007-03-06 Subversion is a critical insurgent tool, but it has long been ignored by policymakers and analysts. This paper presents a set of case studies to explore the elements of subversion and discusses preliminary ideas for combating subversive activities in the context of the long war against violent Islamic extremism. Augmented Images Lars C. Grabbe, Patrick Rupert-Kruse, Norbert M. Schmitz, 2022-09-07 Common boundaries between the physical reality and rising digital media technologies are fading. The age of hyper reality becomes an age of hyper aesthetics. Immersive media and image technologies like augmented reality enable a completely novel form of interaction and corporeal relation to and with the virtual image structures and the different screen technologies. Augmented Images contributes to the wide range of the hyper aesthetic image discourse to connect the concept of dynamic augmented images with the approaches in modern media theory, philosophy, perceptual theory, aesthetics, computer graphics and art theory, as well as the complex range of image science. This volume monitors and discusses the relation of images and technological evolution in the context of augmented reality within the perspective of an autonomous image science. An Anthropology of War Alisse Waterston, 2009 The contributors reflect on their ethnographic work at the frontlines and recount not only what they have seen and heard in war zones but also what is being read, studied, analyzed and remembered in such diverse locations as Colombia and Guatemala, Israel and Palestine, Iraq, Afghanistan and Haiti. They reflect on the important issue of accountability and offer explanations to discern causes, patterns and practices of war. Militarization and Demilitarization in El Salvador's Transition to Democracy Philip J. Williams, Knut Walter, 1997-12-15 With the resignation of General Renee Emilio Ponce in March 1993, the Salvadorian army's sixty-year domination of El Salvador came to an end. The country's January 1992 peace accords stripped the military of the power it once enjoyed, placing many areas under civilian rule. Establishing civilian control during the transition to democracy was no easy task, especially for a country that had never experienced even a brief period of democracy in its history. In Militarization and Demilitarization in El Salvador's Transition to Democracy, Phillip J. Williams and Knut Walter argue that prolonged military rule produced powerful obstacles that limited the possibilities for demilitarization in the wake of the peace accords. The failure of the accords to address several key aspects of the military's political power had important implications for the democratic transition and for future civil-military relations. Drawing on an impressive array of primary source materials and interviews this book will be valuable to students scholars and policy makers concerned with civil military relations democratic transitions and the peace process in Central America The MIPT Terrorism Annual National Memorial Institute for the Prevention of Terrorism,2006 Latinos Marcelo M. Peterson,1997-01-01 Martyrdom and the Politics of Religion explores the ways that Salvadoran Catholics sought to make sense of political violence in their country in the 1970s and 1980s by constructing a theological ethics that could both explain repression in religious terms and propose specific responses to violence Drawing on extensive fieldwork the book highlights the ways that progressive Catholicism offered a justification and tools for political resistance in the face of extraordinary destruction Using the case of Catholicism in El Salvador the book explores the nature of religious responses to social crisis and the ways that ordinary believers construct and strive to live by ethical systems By highlighting the importance of theological belief of narrative and of religious rationality in political mobilization it touches questions of general interest to readers concerned with the social role of religion and ethics New Latin American Cinema Michael T. Martin,1997 This volume comprises essays on the development of the New Latin American Cinema as a comparative national project Fight and Flight David Bassano, 2016-06-22 The 1980s saw one of the largest social movements in US history as activists fought to change the Reagan Administration's policy of supporting right wing terror and oligarchy in Central America. Despite the size and diversity of the movement, however, it remains understudied. Fight and Flight examines the campaigns of three US NGOs: namely Amnesty International USA, the National Lawyers Guild, and the Committee in Solidarity with the People of El Salvador. By analyzing the ways in which the NGOs ameliorated the effects of human rights violations in Central America primarily through their refugee assistance programs, this research demonstrates that the movement was more effective than is generally reflected in the existing literature. Of particular interest for academic students of human rights and social movements as well as activists interested in strategies of social change, this book offers a nuanced reading of a critical movement for human rights and international justice. Redeeming Our Sacred Story Mary C. Boys, 2013 Stories of Jesus' passion and death lie at the core of Christian identity. They offer an encounter with his experience of the human condition: betrayals by those closest to him, his own fear of death, uncertainty about God's will, and the endurance of terrible suffering and an ignominious death. From generation to generation, these stories have functioned in sacred and saving ways for Christians. Yet misinterpretations of the passion narratives have rationalized hostility to and violence against Jews as Christ killers. This sacrilegious telling cries out for redemption. Redeeming Christianity's sacred story requires respect even awe for its power; it demands rigorous examination of the history between Jews and Christians and the ethical obligation to be altered by this history and entails pursuing solid biblical scholarship principles for reinterpreting troubling texts and incorporation into Christian spirituality. Redeeming Our Sacred Story challenges us to forge more just relations between Jews and Christians. It witnesses to the world that reconciliation is possible. Back cover The Player Bookazine Issue 23 The Player, 2013-06-30 Laboring in the Shadow of Empire

Celeste Vaughan Curington, 2024-09-13 Laboring in the Shadow of Empire: Race, Gender, and Care Work in Portugal examines the everyday lives of an African descendant care service workforce that labors in an ostensibly anti-racial Europe and against the backdrop of the Portuguese colonial empire. While much of the literature on global care work has focused on Asian and Latin migrant care workers, there is comparatively less research that explicitly examines African care workers and their migration histories to Europe. Sociologist Celeste Vaughan Curington focuses on Portugal, a European setting with comparatively liberal policies around family settlement and naturalization for migrants. In this setting, rapid urbanization in the late twentieth century along with a national push to reconcile work and family has shaped the growth of paid home care and cleaning service industries. Many researchers focus on informal work settings where immigrant rights are restricted and many workers are undocumented or without permanent residence status. Curington instead examines workers who have accessed citizenship or permanent residence status and also explores African women's experiences laboring in care and service industries in the formal market, revealing how deeply colonial and intersectional logics of a racialized and international division of reproductive labor in Portugal render these women hyper invisible and hyper visible as appropriate workers in Lisbon
