Rethinking Empowerment Gender And Development In A Global Local World:

Rethinking Empowerment Jane L. Parpart, Shirin Rai, Kathleen A. Staudt, 2002 Rethinking Empowerment looks at the changing role of women in developing countries and calls for a new approach to empowerment An approach that adopts a more nuanced feminist interpretation of power and empowerment recognises that local empowerment is always embedded in regional national and global contexts pays attention to institutional structures and politics and acknowledges that empowerment is both a process and an outcome Moreover the book warns that an obsession with measurement rather than process can undermine efforts to foster transformative and empowering outcomes It concludes that power must be restored as the centrepiece of empowerment Only then will the term and its advocates provide meaningful ammunition for dealing with the challenges of an increasingly unequal and often sexist global local world

The Exclusionary Politics of Digital Financial Inclusion Serena Natile, 2020-01-20 Focusing on Kenya's path breaking mobile money project M Pesa this book examines and critiques the narratives and institutions of digital financial inclusion as a development strategy for gender equality arguing for a politics of redistribution to guide future digital financial inclusion projects One of the most discussed digital financial inclusion projects M Pesa facilitates the transfer of money and access to formal financial services via the mobile phone infrastructure and has grown at a phenomenal rate since its launch in 2007 to reach about 80 per cent of the Kenyan population Through a socio legal enquiry drawing on feminist political economy law and development scholarship and postcolonial feminist debate this book unravels the narratives and institutional arrangements that frame M Pesa's success while interrogating the relationship between digital financial inclusion and gender equality in development discourse Natile argues that M Pesa is premised on and regulated according to a logic of opportunity rather than a politics of redistribution favouring the expansion of the mobile money market in preference to contributing to substantive gender equality via a redistribution of the revenue and funding deriving from its development the global development industry plays a central role in constructing people's sexual lives access to citizenship and struggles for livelihood Despite the industry's persistent insistence on viewing sexuality as basically outside the realm of economic modernization and anti poverty programs this volume brings to the fore heterosexual bias within macroeconomic and human rights development frameworks The work fills an important gap in understanding how people's intimate lives are governed through heteronormative policies which typically assume that the family is based on blood or property ties rather than on alternative forms of kinship By placing heteronormativity at the center of analysis this anthology thus provides a much needed discussion about the development industry's role in pathologizing sexual deviance yet also more recently in helping make visible a sexual rights agenda Providing insights valuable to a range of disciplines this book will be of particular interest to students and scholars of Development Studies Gender Studies and International Relations It will also be highly relevant to development practitioners and international human rights advocates The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/e/9780203868348> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license Dimensions of Development Susan Vincent, 2012-03-07

Governing Women Anne Marie Goetz, 2009-01-13 Using case studies from around the world this volume argues that good governance from a gender perspective requires more than just additional women in politics it requires fundamental incentive changes to orient public action and policy to support gender equality Globalization on the Margins (2nd Edition) Iveta Silova, Sarfaroz Niyozov, 2020-01-01 Reflecting on almost three decades of postsocialist transformations the second edition of Globalization on the Margins explores continuities and changes in Central Asian education development since the dissolution of the Soviet Union in 1991 with a particular focus on the developments that took place since the production of the first edition in 2011 Rather than viewing these transformations in isolation the authors place their analyses within the global context by reflecting on the interaction between Soviet legacies and global education reform pressures in the Central Asian countries of Kazakhstan Kyrgyzstan Tajikistan Turkmenistan and Uzbekistan This new edition in addition to a revised introduction and a newly added conclusion consists of four thematic sections each reflecting a key theme in the educational life of the Central Asian states These thematic sections introduction and conclusion collectively update our understanding of the recent developments and challenges in education of the five Central Asian states They however go beyond mere information update so as to complicate re engage re form and re define the margins taking up margins a conceptual geographic cultural and geo political construct Notwithstanding the diversity of local and international authors variety of theoretical perspectives methodological approaches and conceptual lenses the essays reveal the complexity and uncertainty of the post socialist education transformations Instead of portraying the transition process as the influx of Western ideas into the region Globalization on the Margins provides new lenses to critically example education as a contested field of diverse perspectives competing forces and multidirectional flow of ideas concepts and reforms in Central Asia
