structure of Christianity We have learned to consider our own religion as the only inspired one and this probably accounts for much of the misunderstanding in the world today concerning the place occupied by Freemasonry in the spiritual ethics of our race A religion is a divinely inspired code of morals A religious person is one inspired to nobler living by this code He is identified by the code which is his source of illumination Thus we may say that a Christian is one who receives his spiritual ideals of right and wrong from the message of the Christ while a Buddhist is one who molds his life into the archetype of morality given by the great Gautama or one of the other Buddhas All doctrines which seek to unfold and preserve that invisible spark in man named Spirit are said to be spiritual Those which ignore this invisible element and concentrate entirely upon the visible are said to be material There is in religion a wonderful point of balance where the materialist and spiritist meet on the plane of logic and reason

Thomas R. Beyer, 2010-10-08 This book is designed to appeal to fans of Dan Browns Robert Langdon novels particularly The Lost Symbol 2009 Beyer explores some of the books codes puzzles and historical references Although he does raise some interesting questions How does The Lost Symbols original title The Solomon Key help us to understand the meaning and importance of one of the books characters he also spends a lot of time on matters peripheral to his theme Why for example in a book that is presumably being read by someone who is intimately familiar with Browns novels and their hero Robert Langdon would the author devote nearly 2 full pages to a physical description of the character and an explanation of what he does for a living Similarly the authors lengthy travelogue like description of The Lost Symbols setting Washington D C could be replaced by a simple list of elements from the Brown novel that actually exist in Washington freeing up 30 odd pages for meatier pursuits Recommended for readers who cant get enough of Brown and Langdon but for a better and much more entertaining exploration of Browns techniques try The Va Dinci Cod 2005 the hilarious Da Vinci Code parody written by A R
