Modern Production among Backward Peoples

by

I. C. GREAVES

M.A. McGill, Ph.D. (Econ.) London

"At the present time the State which exercises control over a backward territory expects to perform three functions; to maintain the supply of exports from the territory [sugar, coffee, rubber, pepper, cotton, etc.], to protect the profitability of foreign investments in the territory, and to develop a market for its own manufactured exports." This book contains long-needed analyses of the Conditions of Labour Supply, Monetary Incentives and the Standard of Living, and Crops and Methods of Cultivation. The Plantation System and the system of Peasant Production, as they exist to-day, are closely examined; and the position of the European investor is considered at length; and a comprehensive answer is given to the disputed question of "Native" costs of production.

later research at Harvard and Columbia in the United States and at the London School of Economics Individual chapters follow her career acting as economic adviser to the Colonial Office in London where she worked alongside Arthur Lewis and at the fledgling United Nations in New York She published in top journals and produced an outstanding study of the influence of colonial monetary systems on poor countries This accessible biography provides unexpected insights into personalities and institutions during a critical period in late colonial history The issues it raises of class and race gender and inequality poverty and unemployment are of no less relevance today than they were in her lifetime Peripheral Migrants Samuel

Martínez,1995 Peripheral Migrants examines the circulation of labor from rural Haiti to the sugar estates of the Dominican Republic and its impact on the lives of migrants and their kin The first such study to draw on community based fieldwork in both countries the book also shows how ethnographic and historical approaches can be combined to reconstruct patterns of seasonal and repeat migration Samuel Martinez pays close attention to the economic maneuvers Haitians adopt on both sides of the border as they use Dominican money to meet their present needs and to assure future subsistence at home in Haiti The emigrants who adapt best he finds are those who maintain close ties to their home areas Yet in addition to showing how rural Haitians survive under severe poverty and oppression Martinez reveals the risks they incur by crossing the border as cane workers divided families increased short term deprivation and economic insecurity and all too often early death He further notes that labor circulation is not part of an unchanging cycle in rural Haiti but a source of income that is vulnerable to the downturns in the global economy Acknowledging various theoretical perspectives the author compares the Haitian migrations with similar population displacements worldwide As he shows the Haitian workers exemplify an important if seldom studied category of migrants those who neither move to the cities nor emigrate to countries of the North but circulate between rural areas of the Third World Thus this book serves to broaden our understanding of this lower tier of the world s migrants BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Irrigation

The Political Economy of Underdevelopment S. B. D. de Silva, 2012-05-23 First published in 1982 this reissue deals with the theory of underdevelopment as Dr de Silva attempts a synthesis between the internal and external aspects of underdevelopment and in the Marxist tradition focuses on the impact of the external on the internal as the dominant reality Viewing underdevelopment as a problem in the non transformation to capitalism this analysis is in terms of the character of the dominant capital and of the dominant classes Underdevelopment thus encompasses the traditional peasant economy and also the export sector where the modernizing influence of colonialism was felt The book finally considers how the contemporary internationalization of capital affected the economies of the Third World
