Modern Work And Human Meaning:

The Crisis in the Churches Robert Wuthnow, 1997 At a time when already overworked clergy are being called upon by budget cutting politicians to do more for the poor the sick and the elderly American churches are suffering persistent financial shortfalls Why are American s churches in financial distress Robert Wuthnow a leading commentator on religious life in America asserts that the steady drop in donations volunteering and personal involvement is a direct result of a spiritual crisis a crisis caused in large part by the clergy s failure to address the vital relationships between faith and money work stewardship giving and economic justice In The Crisis in the Churches Wuthnow offers a searching study of this financial crisis and of the spiritual malaise that has silently grown worse during the past decade To do this he lets the churches speak for themselves quoting extensively from interviews with clergy and laity in sixty Protestant and Catholic congregations throughout the U S and drawing from the texts of over 200 sermons from church financial records and a national survey What emerges is that parishioners often feel the church does not care about what they do from Monday to Friday offers no guidance in their most pressing day to day concerns yet always seems to be asking for more money Although the situation is critical Wuthnow finds much cause for hope He points to ideas and programs that some churches have enacted to challenge their members to think differently about work and money and giving Parishioners sometimes respond positively when clergy speak boldly and concretely about matters of faith and finance and some churches have formed small groups whose members meet regularly to discuss issues of spirituality work personal finances and stewardship
