Contemporary Radio Programming Strategies David T. MacFarland, 2016-10-14. This book first published in 1990 offers an in-depth analysis of the fundamental beliefs of radio. This refers to the common understanding of what the radio enterprise is and should be about: entertainment and information. A major thrust of this book is to arrive at a set of fundamental beliefs about the values and the realities of the radio business in regard to entertainment programming: a set of beliefs that may or may not be right or forever but that might at least provide a basis for developing programming strategies. Most other books on radio programming describe the formats and programming that already exist. This one starts with a clean sheet of paper and the question: What do listeners really want from radio?

Making Radio Shawn VanCour, 2018-03-01. The opening decades of the twentieth century witnessed a profound transformation in the history of modern sound media with workers in U.S. film radio and record industries developing pioneering production methods and performance styles tailored to emerging technologies of electric sound reproduction that would redefine dominant forms and experiences of popular audio entertainment. Focusing on broadcasting's initial expansion during the 1920s, Making Radio explores the forms of creative labor pursued for the medium in the period prior to the better known network era, assessing their role in shaping radio's identity and identifying affinities with parallel practices pursued for conversion era film and phonography. Tracing programming forms adopted by early radio writers and programmers, production techniques developed by studio engineers, and performance styles cultivated by on-air talent, it shows how radio workers negotiated a series of broader industrial and cultural pressures to establish best practices for their medium that reshaped popular forms of music drama and public oratory and laid the foundation for a new era of electric sound entertainment.

Media Studies: Content, audiences, and production Pieter Jacobus Fourie, 2001. This book includes theoretical approaches as well as a production section that focuses on basic techniques and introductory applications of media studies.

Routledge Revivals: Radio Broadcasting from 1920 to 1990 (1991) Diane Foxhill Carothers, 2016-11-10. First published in 1991, this book presents a comprehensive annotated bibliography of radio broadcasting. Its eleven chapter categories cover almost the entire range of radio broadcasting with the exception of radio engineering due to its technical complexity, although some of the historical volumes do encompass aspects thus providing background material. Entries are primarily restricted to published books, although a number of trade journals and periodicals are also included. Each entry includes full bibliographic information including the ISBN or ISSN where available and an annotation written by the author with the original text in hand.
