Ratio and Voluntas Kaarlo Tuori, 2016-04-08. From the ancient beginnings of Western legal tradition, law has been conceived as traversed by a fundamental tension between power, will and reason. This volume examines the tension between these two poles: ratio and voluntas in modern law. Part I focuses on three instructive phases in the history of the law's ratio. Part II examines the way legal scholarship, especially doctrinal research, legal dogmatics can and should contribute to the law's coherence. Part III explores the role of constitutional law in managing the tension between law's voluntas and ratio. The final chapter discusses the implications of the growth of transnational law may have on the relationship between ratio and voluntas. The study builds on the views of the distinctive features of the ideal typical mature modern legal system as presented in the author's previous work Critical Legal Positivism (Ashgate, 2002).

Africa in Contemporary Perspective Manuh, Takyiwaa, Sutherland-Addy, Esi, 2014-05-08. An important feature of Ghanaian tertiary education is the foundational African Studies Programme which was initiated in the early 1960s. Unfortunately, hardly any readers exist which bring together a body of knowledge on the themes, issues and debates which inform and animate research and teaching in African Studies, particularly on the African continent. This becomes even more important when we consider the need for knowledge on Africa that is not Eurocentric or sensationalised but driven from internal understandings of life and prospects in Africa. Dominant representations and perceptions of Africa usually depict a continent in crisis. Rather than buying into external representations of Africa with its lacks and aspirations for Western modernities, we insist that African scholars in particular should be in the forefront of promoting understanding of the plurilingual, overlapping and dense reality of life and developments on the continent to produce relevant and usable knowledge. Continuing and renewed interest in Africa's resources including the land mass economy minerals visual arts and performance cultures as well as bio medical knowledge and products by old and new geopolitical players obliges African scholars to transcend disciplinary boundaries and to work with each other to advance knowledge and uses of those resources in the interests of Africa s people Rural Violence in Bihar Bindeshwar Pathak,1993
