Modernity And Progress Fitzgerald Hemingway Orwell:

Modernity and Progress Ronald Berman, 2007-03-18 From the 1920s and for a generation thereafter understandings of time place and civilization were subjected to a barrage of new conceptions Berman probes the work of three writers Hemingway Fitzgerald and Orwell who wrestled with one or more of these issues in ways of lasting significance At stake for each is a sense of what constitutes true civilization Back cover

The Romance of Regionalism in the Work of F. Scott and Zelda Fitzgerald Kirk Curnutt, Sara A. Kosiba, 2022-09-07 The Romance of Regionalism in the Work of F Scott and Zelda Fitzgerald The South Side of Paradise explores resonances of Southernness in works by American culture s leading literary couple At the height of their fame F Scott and Zelda Fitzgerald dramatized their relationship as a romance of regionalism as the charming tale of a Northern man wooing a Southern belle Their writing exposes deeper sectional conflicts however from the seemingly unexorcisable fixation with the Civil War and the historical revisionism of the Lost Cause to popular culture s depiction of the South as an artistically deprived economically broken backwater the couple challenged early twentieth century stereotypes of life below the Mason Dixon line From their most famous efforts The Great Gatsby and Save Me the Waltz to their more overlooked and obscure Scott s 1932 story Family in the Wind Zelda s The Iceberg published in 1918 before she even met her husband Scott and Zelda returned obsessively to the challenges of defining Southern identity in a country in which going south meant decay and dissolution Contributors to this volume tackle a range of Southern topics including belle culture the picturesque and the Gothic Confederate commemoration and race relations and regional reconciliation As the collection demonstrates the Fitzgeralds fortuitous meeting in Montgomery Alabama in 1918 sparked a Southern renaissance in miniature

Translating Modernism Ronald Berman, 2010-09-23 In Translating Modernism Ronald Berman continues his career long study of the ways that intellectual and philosophical ideas informed and transformed the work of America s major modernist writers Here Berman shows how Fitzgerald and Hemingway wrestled with very specific intellectual artistic and psychological influences influences particular to each writer particular to the time in which they wrote and which left distinctive marks on their entire oeuvres Specifically Berman addresses the idea of translating or translation for Fitzgerald the translation of ideas from Freud Dewey and James among others and for Hemingway the translation of visual modernism and composition via C zanne Though each writer had distinct interests and different intellectual problems to wrestle with as Berman demonstrates both had to wrestle with transmuting some outside influence and making it their own

Shock of the Same Tom Grimwood, 2021-06-01 Since the birth of modernity Western thought has been at war with clichés. The association of philosophical and cultural integrity with originality and the corresponding need for invention and novelty has been a distinct concern of a whole spectrum of ideas and movements from Nietzsche's polemics against the herd to the shock of the new of the artistic avant-garde, the Frankfurt School's critique of mass culture to Orwell's defence of political dialogue from dying metaphors. This book is the first examination of the cliché as a philosophical concept. Challenging the idea that clichés are lazy or spurious opposites to genuine thinking, it instead locates them as a dynamic and contestable boundary between thought and non-thought. The book unpacks the constituent phenomena of cliché: repetition, circulation, the readymade, sameness through readings of anti-philosophical thinkers such as Nietzsche, Kierkegaard, Paulhan, de Certeau, Derrida, Sloterdijk, Badiou and Groys. In doing so, the book critically articulates the techniques and technologies through which the boundary between thought and non-thought is formed in modern Western philosophy. Rejecting the idea that clichés should be dismissed out of hand on normative frameworks of good and bad thinking or new and old ideas, it instead interrogates the material, cultural and archival ground on which these frameworks are built.

The Politics of 1930s British Literature

Natasha Periyar, 2018-06-14 Winner of the 2018 International Standing Conference for the History of Education's First Book Award. Drawing on a rich array of archival sources and historical detail, The Politics of 1930s British Literature tells the story of a school-minded decade and illuminates new readings of the politics and aesthetics of 1930s literature. In a period of shifting political claims, educational policy shaped writers' social and gender ideals. This book explores how a wide array of writers, including Virginia Woolf, W. H. Auden, George Orwell, Winifred Holtby and Graham Greene, were informed by their pedagogic work. It considers the ways in which education influenced writers' analysis of literary style and their conception of future literary forms. The Politics of 1930s British Literature argues that to those perennial symbols of the 1930s—the loudspeaker and the gramophone—should be added the textbook and the blackboard.

Exile and Expatriation in Modern

American and Palestinian Writing Ahmad Rasmi Qabaha, 2018-05-23 This book examines the distinction between literary expatriation and exile through a contrapuntal reading of modern Palestinian and American writing. It argues that exile in the Palestinian case, especially, is a political catastrophe; it is banishment by a colonial power. It suggests that unlike expatriation—a choice of a foreign land over one's own—exile is a political rather than an artistic concept and is forced rather than voluntary. While exile can be emancipatory, it is always an unwelcome loss. In addition to its historical dimension, exile also entails a different perception of return to expatriation. This book frames expatriates as quintessentially American, particularly intellectuals and artists seeking a space of creativity and social dissidence in the experience of living away from home. At the heart of both literary discourses, however, is a preoccupation with home, belonging, identity, language, mobility and homecoming.
