Modernity And Metropolis Writing Film And Urban Formations:

Modernity and Metropolis P. Brooker, 2001-12-17 A study of urban identity and community looks at selected twentieth century literary and film texts in the context of theorizations of modernism postmodernism postcoloniality and globalization Brooker draws on Beck and Giddens to propose a reflexive modernism which rewrites and re imagines the urban scene The principal cities considered are London and New York Tokyo Hong Kong and Bangkok Writers considered include Ezra Pound and T S Eliot Langston Hughes Hanif Kureishi Iain Sinclair Paul Auster Sarah Schulman and William Gibson Filmmakers include Patrick Keiller and Wong Kar Wai London in Cinema Charlotte Brunsdon, 2019-07-25 Charlotte Brunsdon s illuminating study explores the variety of cinematic Londons that appear in films made since 1945 Brunsdon traces the familiar ways that film makers establish that a film is set in London by use of recognisable landmarks and the city s shorthand iconography of red buses and black taxis as well as the ways in which these icons are avoided She looks at London weather fog and rain and everyday locations like the pub and the housing estate while also examining the recurring patterns of representation associated with films set in the East and West Ends of London from Spring in Park Lane 1948 to Mona Lisa 1986 and from Night and the City 1950 to From Hell 2001 Brunsdon provides a detailed analysis of a selection of films exploring their contribution to the cinematic geography of London and showing the ways in which feature films have responded to and created changing views of the city She traces London s transformation from imperial capital to global city through the different ways in which the local is imagined in films ranging from Ealing comedies to Pressure 1974 as well as through the shifting imagery of the River Thames and the Docks She addresses the role of cinematic genres such as horror and film noir in the constitution of the cinematic city as well as the recurrence of figures such as the cockney the gangster and the housewife Challenging the view that London is not a particularly cinematic city Brunsdon demonstrates that many London set films offer their own meditation on the complex relationships between the cinema and the city

Violence and Dystopia Daniel Cojocaru, 2015-09-18 Violence and Dystopia is a critical examination of imitative desire scapegoating and sacrifice in selected contemporary Western dystopian narratives through the lens of Ren Girard s mimetic theory The first chapter offers an overview of the history of Western utopia dystopia with a special emphasis on the problem of conflictive mimesis and scapegoating violence and a critical introduction to Girard s theory The second chapter is devoted to J G Ballard s seminal novel Crash 1973 Chuck Palahniuk s Fight Club 1996 and Rant 2007 and Brad Anderson s film The Machinist 2004 It is argued that the car crash functions as a metaphor for conflictive mimetic desire and leads to a quasi sacrificial crisis as defined by Girard for archaic religion The third chapter focuses on the psychogeographical writings of Iain Sinclair and Peter Ackroyd Walking the streets of London the pedestrian represents the excluded underside of the world of Ballardian speed The walking subject is portrayed in terms of the expelled victim of Girardian theory The fourth chapter considers violent crowds as portrayed by Ballard s late fiction the writings of Stewart Home and David Peace s GB84 2004 In accordance with

Girard's hypothesis the discussed narratives reveal the failure of scapegoat expulsion to restore peace to the potentially self-destructive violent crowds The fifth chapter examines the post-apocalyptic environments resulting from failed scapegoat expulsion and mimetic conflict out of control as portrayed in Sinclair's Radon Daughters 1994 Margaret Atwood's The Handmaid's Tale 1985 and Oryx and Crake 2003 and Will Self's The Book of Dave 2006      The Tenth Muse Laura Marcus, 2010-08-12 The Tenth Muse explores writings on the cinema in the first decades of the twentieth century Laura Marcus examines the impact of cinema on early twentieth century literary and more broadly aesthetic and cultural consciousness by bringing together the study of the terms and strategies of early writings about film with literary engagement with cinema in the same period She gives a new understanding of the ways in which early writers about film reviewers critics theorists developed aesthetic categories to define and accommodate what was called the seventh art or the tenth muse and found discursive strategies adequate to the representation of the new art and technology of cinema with its unprecedented powers of movement In examining the writings of early film critics and commentators in tandem with those of more specifically literary figures including H G Wells and Virginia Woolf and in bringing literary texts into this field Laura Marcus provides a new account of relationships between cinema and literature Intertwining two major strands of research the exploration of early film criticism and theory and cinema's presence in literary texts The Tenth Muse shows how issues central to an understanding of cinema including questions of time repetition movement vision sound and silence are threaded through both kinds of writing and the ways in which discursive and fictional writings overlapped The movement that defined cinema was also perceived as a more fragile and unstable ephemerality that inhered at every level from the fleeting nature of the projected images to the vagaries of cinematic exhibition It was the anxiety over the mutability of the medium and its exhibition which from the 1920s onwards led to the establishment of such institutional spaces for cinema as the London based Film Society the new film journals and in the 1930s the first film archives The Tenth Muse explores the continuities between these sites of cinematic culture and the conceptual literary and philosophical understandings of the filmic medium
