Queer Nations Jarrod Hayes, 2000-04 The Maghreb Morocco Algeria Tunisia has been inhabited for millennia by a heterogeneous populace However in the wake of World War II when independence movements began to gain momentum in these French colonies the dominant national discourses attempted to define national identities by exclusion One rallying cry from the 1930s was Islam is my religion Arabic is my language Algeria is my fatherland In this incisive postcolonial study Jarrod Hayes uses literary analysis to examine how Francophone novelists from the Maghreb engaged in a diametric nation building project Their works imagined a diverse nation peopled by those who were excluded by the dominant political discourses especially those who did not conform to traditional sexual norms By incorporating representations of marginal sexualities sexual dissidence and gender insubordination Maghrebian novelists imagined an anticolonial struggle that would result in sexual liberation and envisioned nations that could be defined and developed inclusively Postcolonial African Writers Siga Fatima Jagne, Pushpa Naidu Parekh, 2012-11-12 This reference book surveys the richness of postcolonial African literature The volume begins with an introductory essay on postcolonial criticism and African writing then presents alphabetically arranged profiles of some 60 writers including Chinua Achebe Nadine Gordimer Bessie Head Doris Lessing Tsitsi Dangarembga Tahar Ben Jelloun among others Each entry includes a brief biography a discussion of major works and themes that appear in the author's writings an overview of the critical response to the author's work and a bibliography of primary and secondary sources These profiles are written by expert contributors and reflect many different perspectives The volume concludes with a selected general bibliography of the most important critical works on postcolonial African literature

L'écriture du bonheur dans le roman contemporain Ruth Amar, 2011-01-18 Through the ages the pursuit of Happiness has been at the heart of the needs and desires each individual would seek to fulfill while as a concept Happiness has always resonated strongly in poetic as well as philosophical sociological and psychological contexts But what about Happiness today in a world dominated by technology driven by productivity and dictated by efficiency Does Happiness still feature in contemporary fiction in any significant way Or has it perhaps gone underground adopting different guises Would we still call that duty of happiness that Pascal Bruckner saw as present at the second half of the twentieth century a relevant force today Or has it waned perceptibly The articles brought together in this volume seek to work out answers to these and similar questions creatively addressing the imminent risks but also eagerly following up the intriguing possibilities one encounters when interrogating Happiness in the contemporary novel Originally based on an international conference organized at the University of Haifa Israel in May 2010 the volume is structured around the axes we found useful as a basis for the various approaches towards Happiness in Europe and the historical and social events that influenced the writing of Happiness as they defined the 20th century and have impacted on the 21st the Holocaust the Soviet dystopia consumerism postmodernism everyday life the various as yet unarticulated new modes of life they have given rise to and so on A new writing of happiness then At the very least this volume targets the contemporary novel without wanting to solidify works instead taking into

Quand la folie parle Gillian Ni Cheallaigh, Laura Jackson, Siobhan McIlvanney, 2014-06-26 Quand la folie parle presents a timely reinvigoration of the complex subject of madness and its literary manifestations This stimulating study authored by a range of young and talented international scholars is of key importance in defining and refining our ongoing endeavours to theorise and analyse the literary representations of the problematics of mental health By including discussions of texts that speak of madness as well as those that speak from madness this volume demonstrates that in fact the non sense of madness achieves a force of expression often more powerful than the usual order of logic Embracing the scientific the religious the medical the psychoanalytic the historical the erotic and of course the properly literary this wide ranging historically informed collection is particularly significant in its exploration of both the madwoman and the madman and exhibits an inclusiveness which extends to the genres and modes of the texts examined The authors discussed from Nerval and Houellebecq to NDiaye and L provide a refreshingly balanced picture of mental illness presenting madness or depression as a contestatory creative stance against often mind numbing social racial or consumerist conventions while refusing to play down the inevitable difficulties accompanying this isolating condition The dialectic effect referenced in the title of the collection extends not only to the dynamics at work within the volume itself as the different contributions implicitly dialogue with one another but equally to the reader of these essays who is engaged throughout in the debates put forward

The Narrative Mediterranean
 Claudia Esposito, 2013-11-29 The Narrative Mediterranean Beyond France and the Maghreb examines literary texts by writers from the Maghreb and positions them in direct relation to increasingly querulous debates on the shifting identity of the modern Mediterranean This book argues that reading works by writers such as Albert Camus and Tahar Ben Jelloun alongside authors such as Fawzi Mellah and Mahi Binebine in a transnational rather than binary interpretive framework transcends a colonial and postcolonial bind in which France is the dominant point of reference While focusing on works in French this book also examines Maghrebi authors who write in Italian The texts examined in The Narrative Mediterranean critique narrow identitarian labeling warn against sectarianism and announce the necessity of multiple forms of translation and historical rewritings Their modes of expression differ as they range from poetic to baroque to realist as do their concerns which include but are not limited to the human condition gender identity and emigration Claudia Esposito explains how these writers operate between and outside the confines of several nations tracing imagined affiliative horizons and consequently address questions of multiple forms of cultural political sexual and existential belonging Esposito convincingly demonstrates that in a Mediterranean context moving between nations means to be in both foreign and familiar physical affective and intellectual spaces
