Probst-Reinhardt,1989 Protection of Traditional Cultural Expressions in Latin America Anna Friederike Busch,2015-05-19

This book analyses the topic of protecting traditional cultural expressions TCEs in Latin America It questions classic legal approaches and involves the interface of anthropology and law The study analyses regional national and local particularities of law on paper and law in reality It includes personal fieldwork research in selected countries and puts light on the political socio economic and environmental dimension of the topic Based upon these insights the study gives recommendations for a more enhanced interdisciplinary understanding and protection of TCEs Latin America is still rich of cultural traditions and bio and sociodiversity This region is the cradle of the international discussion on protecting TCEs The national situations are diverse and allow conclusive comparisons Some countries have established concrete protection systems like Panama and made useful experiences It is time to resume What do TCEs really mean Should they be protected by law and if so how What can we learn from the practical experiences made so far The following is clear The true test for any new legislation in Latin America and elsewhere is its impact on the everyday life Quilting Patchwork and Applique Caroline

From Temporary Migrants to Permanent Attractions Carla Guerrón Montero, 2020-06-30 A new reading of Panama's nation building process interpreted through a lens of transnational tourism Based on long term ethnographic and archival research From Temporary Migrants to Permanent Attractions Tourism Cultural Heritage and Afro Antillean Identities in Panama considers the intersection of tourism multiculturalism and nation building Carla Guerrón Montero analyzes the ways in which tourism becomes a vehicle for the development of specific kinds of institutional multiculturalism and nation building projects in a country that prides itself on being multiethnic and racially democratic The narrative centers on Panamanian Afro Antilleans who arrived in Panama in the nineteenth century from the Greater and Leeward Antilles as a labor force for infrastructural projects and settled in Panama City Colón and the Bocas del Toro Archipelago The volume discusses how Afro Antilleans particularly in Bocas del Toro have struggled since their arrival to become part of Panama's narrative of nationhood and traces their evolution from plantation workers for the United Fruit Company to tourism workers Guerrón Montero notes that in the current climate of official tolerance they have seized the moment to improve their status within Panamanian society while also continuing to identify with their Caribbean heritage in ways that conflict with their national identity

Crosstalk Diana Brydon, Marta Dvořák, 2012-07-24 What are the fictions that shape Canadian engagements with the global What frictions emerge from these encounters In negotiating aesthetic and political approaches to Canadian cultural production within contexts of global circulation this collection argues for the value of attending to narratorial lyric and theatrical conventions in dialogue with questions of epistemological and social justice Using the twinned framing devices of crosstalk and cross sighting the contributing authors attend to how the interplay of the verbal and the visual maps public spheres of creative engagement today Individual chapters present a range of methodological approaches to understanding national culture and creative labour in global contexts Through their collective enactment of methodological crosstalk they demonstrate the productivity of scholarly debate across differences of outlook culture and training In highlighting convergences and disagreements the book sharpens our understanding of how literary and critical conventions and theories operate within and across cultures

Indigenous Interfaces Jennifer Gómez Menjívar, Gloria Elizabeth Chacón, 2019-05-07 Cultural preservation linguistic revitalization intellectual heritage and environmental sustainability became central to Indigenous movements in Mexico and Central America after 1992 While the emergence of these issues triggered important conversations none to date have examined the role that new media has played in accomplishing their objectives Indigenous Interfaces provides the first thorough examination of indigeneity at the interface of cyberspace Correspondingly it examines the impact of new media on the struggles for self determination that Indigenous peoples undergo in Mexico and Central America The volume's contributors highlight the fresh approaches that Mesoamerica's Indigenous peoples have given to new media from YouTubing Maya rock music to hashtagging in Zapotec Together they argue that these cyberspatial activities both maintain tradition and ensure its continuity Without considering the implications of new technologies Indigenous Interfaces argues twenty first century indigeneity in Mexico and Central America cannot be successfully documented evaluated and comprehended Indigenous Interfaces rejects the myth that indigeneity and information technology are incompatible through its compelling analysis of the relationships between Indigenous peoples and new media The volume illustrates how Indigenous peoples are selectively and strategically choosing to interface with cybertechnology highlights Indigenous interpretations of new media and brings to center Indigenous communities who are resetting modes of communication and redirecting the flow of information It convincingly argues that interfacing with traditional technologies simultaneously with new media gives Indigenous peoples an edge on the claim to autonomous and sovereign ways of being Indigenous in the twenty first century Contributors Arturo Arias Debra A Castillo Gloria Elizabeth Chac n Adam W Coon Emiliana Cruz Taj w D az Robles Mauricio Espinoza Alicia Ivonne Estrada Jennifer G mez Menj var Sue P Haglund Brook Danielle Lillehaugen Paul Joseph L pez Oro Rita M Palacios Gabriela Spears Rico Paul Worley
