these teaching artists on their journey into the halls and streets of America's diverse neighborhoods as they enrich the lives and creativity of their students and find their own voices changed in the process. The collection includes contributions by Ishle Yi Park, Thomas Centolella, Will Power, Stephen Beachy, and Jeffrey McDaniel. For more information about the teachers included in this collection, check out the WritersCorps site. Praise for WritersCorps: It has been so exciting for me to read what WritersCorps has been writing; those who are going to carry poetry in the future. Tille Olsen, author of Tell Me A Riddle. I am in love with WritersCorps. Robert Hass, Poet Laureate of the United States. This anthology is more than a record of WritersCorps. It is a chronicle of our times. Mart n Espada, author of The Republic of Poetry. Chad Sweeney is the author of three poetry collections; his poems and translations have appeared widely, including in Best American Poetry 2008. Sweeney is co-editor of Parthenon West Review, a journal of contemporary poetry and translation, and is a PhD candidate in literature at Western Michigan University. He taught for the San Francisco WritersCorps for seven years.

Homelands Patricia Justine Tumang, Jenesha de Rivera, 2006-12-21. In Homelands, writers investigate the complexities of how women experience, remember, and imagine journeys to their homelands. Approaching the topic from varying perspectives—exile, longing, belonging, diaspora, idealization—they show that homeland isn't just a physical place. It can also be an imagined community, a part of one's identity, or simply a wavering memory. It's a world we create and re-create every day. Among the contributors are Etel Adnan, who describes her life as an exile from Beirut after choosing to leave a city at war; Agate Nesaule, who, as a youngster, left Latvia under Nazi and Soviet threat, writes of envying a young Latvian girl's life rich in place, language, and music; Sarah McCormic echoes the experience of many American mutts who can claim so many heritages that they feel a connection to none. The writers in this collection beautifully capture the complicated notion of homeland and reflect the diversity of women's realities in the world.

Writing Poetry in the Dark Stephanie M. Wytovich, 2024-09-11. Writing Poetry in the Dark brings together some of the most successful contemporary genre poets to discuss topics related to creating dark and fantastical poetry. While there are countless books available for the aspiring poet, there is a lack of resources specifically for and on speculative poetry, and with the market thriving, publishers who previously did not put out poetry are now adding it to their catalogs, requesting it for their anthologies, and seeking it for their magazines. Given these factors, it seemed like the perfect time to put together a guide for dark poets that addresses some of the unique challenges they face, such as creating monsters out of white space, writing the hybrid poem, or subverting folklore in the retelling of a classic tale. Included in Writing Poetry in the Dark are recommendations on how to bring fear to the page, write from the wound, let violence loose, channel the weird, and tackle the dark side of daily life. There are also practical suggestions for exploring different poetic forms and topics, ranging from building worlds, writing from different points of view, and exploring gender and sexuality on the page. This book will bring something different to every speculative writer who is interested in exploring poetry with a genre twist, and it is our hope that this book will help poetry itself continue to evolve.

Technology and Terrorism David Clarke, 2017-07-05 In this volume thirteen authors from all points of the English speaking world provide a tour of the entwined labyrinths of technology and terrorism They describe terrorism as an epistemological contact sport With espionage one can often deduce from a few pieces of the puzzle a plan's goals and its roots its sources But the goals of terrorists are both vague and hopelessly specific while their means are restrained by rational institutional thought Thus terrorists can be equally expected to flail out without any thought at all as a child might exhibit in a temper tantrum and to be hyper rational probing at the edges of the target for any weakness Therefore how terrorists use technology may not be determined by any particular level of technology but in the probabilities for the target's expectation and defense regarding particular technologies Fred Allen asks why Bin Laden and his organization were effective against the Russians but may have more trouble with free societies Edward Tenner muses on the ironies of low tech attacks and the dangers of over reliance on high tech sophistication Such thoughts are tempered by direct and unreassuring reportage from the federal security front Ann Larabee turns the telescope around with a history showing that bomb throwing is as American as apple pie Toby Blyth takes us inside the theorists backroom for a look at the ever mutating ways means and motives of war It used to be about power money land resources or the ever popular Pamir Knot Great Game Now it seems that globalization has coughed up groups of people with little in common except for simultaneous feelings of helplessness and cultural superiority Modern technology which once seemed to hold only promise now seems to harbor the potential for danger and destruction The contributors to this volume are interested in the broader culture and how terrorism affects that culture including how people go about researching terrorism     Precinct 19 Thomas Adcock,2020-01-28 A fast moving true account of life in a New York City police station with a rare understanding of officers involved in extreme situations San Diego Sun Manhattan s 19th precinct includes more than three dozen foreign consulates and the homes of some of the city s richest and most powerful citizens including Gracie Mansion yet even these wealthy and sophisticated environs aren t immune to bloodshed brutality and various dark dealings In this book a police reporter and Edgar Award winning crime writer describes the day to day life of the law enforcement officers who patrol this Upper East Side neighborhood and know the truth about what goes on behind the facades Fast paced and dramatic an effort that the famous chronicler of police life Joseph Wambaugh might envy Minneapolis Star Tribune Moving revealing excellent Newsday     Landfall Charles Brasch,2005     The Potbellied Virgin Alicia Yáñez Cossío,2006-06 In an unnamed town in the Ecuadorian Andes a small wooden icon La Virgen Pipona the Potbellied Virgin conceals the documents that define the town s social history That history recently has been dominated by the women of the Benavides family a conservative clan and not coincidentally the caretakers of the Virgin Their rivals are the Pandos a family led by four old men who spend their days smoking in the park across from the Virgin s cathedral and offering revisionist versions of local and national events When a military skirmish threatens the Virgin and the secret in her famous belly the Benavides women must scramble to preserve their place as local matriarchs without alerting the old Pandos to the opportunity that might enable them to finally supplant their rivals One of Ecuador s foremost contemporary writers Alicia Y nez Coss o illuminates the complexity of Andean society by placing disenfranchised players such as women and Amerindians onstage with traditional powers such as the military and the church Folk wisdom exemplified in The Potbellied Virgin by the beautifully translated proverbs so popular with the Benavideses and the Pandos alike stands up to historical record Such inclusiveness ultimately allows the whole truths of Y nez Coss o s subjects to emerge Only the second of her novels to be translated into English The Potbellied Virgin La cofrad a del mullo del vestido de la Virgen Pipona is a funny focused portrait of Ecuadorian life in the twentieth century     New Statesman ,1957     The New York Times Magazine ,1955     Everybody's Poultry Magazine ,1945     The Pianomaker ,1939
