Mom In Daycareland A Practical Guide For Parents And Providers:

Mom in Daycareland Carlota Lindsay, Marshall Lindsay, 2002-04-15 Letter to the Reader Mom in Daycareland is about children but it is addressed both to parents and to providers of child care in the hope that these pages will help them understand each others needs and the stresses they experience in their respective childrearing and caregiving activities For the childrens sake they must see each other not as antagonists but as partners in this most important of all careers molding the future of the human race Today the need for child care is more widely accepted by the general public than it was years ago We used to think that children should be reared at home and that a mothers job was to take care of them Now all this has changed Early every morning millions of mothers and fathers drive their children to child care providers and leave them there most often without feeling uneasy or guilty What has happened to cause this shift in our attitudes Why have we given up ideas that once seemed sacred and replaced them with a pragmatic way of doing things that would have made our grandmothers frown The authors remember a time when it was expected that Dad would go off to work every morning leaving Mom and the kids at home He had a job outside the home and brought back the paycheck she did the housework and cooking took care of the children Only occasionally were the children entrusted to someone else as when the parents went to a dinner party or a movie and had a local high school student over to sit or drove the kids to Grandmas for the night There were exceptions of course but this was the accepted pattern Today that pattern while still prevalent in some families is rare The social and economic realities of our country have changed radically and the structure of family life has had to adapt There are several reasons for the shift and others will undoubtedly surface at a later date but what seems to be the most important among them are the following Firstly to make ends meet todays parents are obliged more and more to share the burden of earning the wages Both Mom and Dad need full time work if the family is to survive financially or if it is to satisfy the standard of living they are used to In the meantime who takes care of the children while both are at work Secondly another reason that helps explain why Mom works even when there is no pressing financial need for her to do so is the realization that women have an equal right to achieve their potentialities in the world of the professions and of labor Finally and perhaps most importantly an ever increasing number of households are managed by single parents When Mom or Dad is the only provider in the family no one is going to suggest that she or he stay home and watch the children That single job is essential to the survival of a family in an already precarious financial bind Even when the children are sick the single parent has to report to work in order to keep that precious job For these and other reasons the need for child care is a simple reality in our present society and the trend is likely to continue In most communities throughout the country groups of interested people argue that the availability of child care services is insufficient to meet current needs let alone the demands of a growing population We would like to talk about ourselves briefly as authors Both of us have had life careers in higher education In 1980 we devoted ourselves to child care and started a proprietary child care center in the Northwest It began small and then in time grew to a size of 35 preschoolers From the beginning Carlota operated the center from 6 30 a m to 6 00 p m as director teacher public relations person cook and janitor only recently has she begun coming home in the late afternoon Marshall was frequently teacher maintenance person and accountant It was difficult yet rewarding work and it taught us many things The purp

Daycare Alison Clarke-Stewart,1993 There is more childcare available and more parents are using it but it is not of higher quality and it is not more affordable Psychologists are still asking whether children should be in daycare at all today the particular concern is for young infants and parents are still having trouble finding high quality services These problems will not be resolved anytime soon There must be a concerted effort to educate all Americans those in positions of power as well as those with young children about the importance of good daycare This book is dedicated to that effort professional locations that provide licensed daycare services are a common choice for many parents. There are stringent rules and guidelines at these facilities and they have their benefits and disadvantages. Many parents are concerned about the more industrial setting of the care provided vs in home care as well as the lack of one on one attention in large daycare facilities. However, these facilities are often licensed and staffed with trained and qualified professionals that can provide learning and socialization advantages. Au pairs and nannies provide in home child care at your home. In some cases, these people will live with their clients but for the most part, they keep regularly scheduled hours. Duties can be more varied but this depends on the contract. Typically, nannies and au pairs provide in home childcare services and perhaps light cleaning or food prep duties. These services tend to be far more expensive than more traditional childcare services but they boast a variety of benefits. The children are cared for in the comfort of their own surroundings. One on one attention is provided for the children. More individualized services can be provided. House cleaning, errand running, etc. may also be included in these services. For children with specialized needs or parents who have the means to provide nannies and au pairs, this may be the best option as it allows the child to stay in their home and receive truly individualized and personalized services. Your child can become familiar with the nanny or au pair rather than a changing battery of care providers. No childcare option is cheap and a family's budget is most often the deciding factor on the type of childcare chosen. Each of these types of childcare comes with their own unique price tag as well as benefits and disadvantages. The Smart Easy Guide To Daycare: Childcare Your Guide Book to Day Care Child Care Options Inside Outside the Home provides an honest assessment of each type of care and provides good advice as to what daycare setting will best work for your needs and budget. The guide also provides an immensely helpful section detailing how families can save money without sacrificing quality. When it comes to our children, we want what is best for them. Today, many families have two working parents which necessitates a high quality childcare option. Even families with just one working parent face concerns and considerations about childcare. From in home care, daycare centers, au pairs, nannies, and more, the options for childcare are widely varied. The Smart Easy Guide To Daycare: Childcare Your Guide Book to Day Care Child Care Options Inside Outside the Home provides a detailed guide on the benefits associated with each type of care option as well as things to take into consideration when making your final care decision. Daycare Diaries Rebecca McLaughlin, Rita Palashewski, 2014-12-02.
