Criminal Law and the Modernist Novel Rex Ferguson, 2013-07-08 The realist novel and the modern criminal trial both came to fruition in the nineteenth century Each places a premium on the author s or trial lawyer s ability to reconstruct reality reflecting modernity s preoccupation with firsthand experience as the basis of epistemological authority But by the early twentieth century experience had as Walter Benjamin put it fallen in value The modernist novel and the criminal trial of the period began taking cues from a kind of nonexperience one that nullifies identity subverts repetition and supplants presence with absence Rex Ferguson examines how such nonexperience colours the overlapping relationship between law and literary modernism Chapters on E M Forster s A Passage to India Ford Madox Ford s The Good Soldier and Marcel Proust s In Search of Lost Time detail the development of a uniquely modern subjectivity offering new critical insight to scholars and students of twentieth century literature cultural studies and the history of law and philosophy

When Memory Speaks Jill Ker Conway, 2011-06-08 Jill Ker Conway one of our most admired autobiographers author of The Road from Coorain and True North looks astutely and with feeling into the modern memoir the forms and styles it assumes and the strikingly different ways in which men and women respectively tend to understand and present their lives In a narrative rich with evocations of memoirists over the centuries from Jean Jacques Rousseau and George Sand to W E B Du Bois Virginia Woolf Frank McCourt and Katharine Graham the author suggests why it is that we are so drawn to the reading of autobiography and she illuminates the cultural assumptions behind the ways in which we talk about ourselves Conway traces the narrative patterns typically found in autobiographies by men to the tale of the classical Greek hero and his epic journey of adventure She shows how this configuration evolved in memoirs into the passionate romantic struggling against the conventions of society into the frontier hero battling the wilderness into self made men overcoming economic obstacles to create an invention or a fortune or more recently into a quest for meaning for an understandable past for an ethnic identity In contrast she sees the designs that women commonly employ for their memoirs as evolving from the writings of the mystics such as Dame Julian of Norwich or St Teresa of Avila about their relationship with an all powerful God As against the male autobiographer s expectation of power over his fate we see the woman memoirist again and again believing that she lacks command of her destiny and tending to censor her own story Throughout Conway underlines the memoir s magic quality of allowing us to enter another human being s life and mind and how this experience enlarges and instructs our own lives

Whole Lives Reed Whittemore, 2019-12-01 Originally published in 1989 In this companion volume to the acclaimed Pure Lives Reed Whittemore probes the often complex motives behind the relationships of modern biographers to their subjects Whittemore s description of biography s uneven path toward comprehensive character study begins with Thomas Carlyle whose biography of Frederick the Great broke with tradition by tracing the roots of its subject s character to childhood trauma A strict disciplinarian Frederick s father once considered having his rebellious teenage son executed Whittemore examines the work of Leslie Stephen the Dictionary of National

Biography's first editor who admired Carlyle but disliked his style and was convinced that Carlyle disliked him And in a chapter on Sigmund Freud Whittemore traces the revolution in writing biography that began with Freud's speculations on the nature and origin of Leonardo da Vinci's homosexuality Few have escaped Freud's influence While Leon Edel argues that biographers should not psychoanalyze their subjects his biography of Henry James does precisely that Richard Ellman tempers his impulse for Freudian probing of Joyce Yeats and Oscar Wilde with the explication of their often difficult works Kenneth Lynn's recent biography of Hemingway takes the opposite approach The Hemingway industry Whittemore explains is like Marilyn Monroe's in having much of the sensational in it including suicide so that the problems of having to deal with Hemingway as a writer good or bad can always be put on the back burner for a few chapters while Hemingway the braggart and liar performs Thomas Parnot and Benjamin Franklin Virginia Woolf and Elizabeth Barrett Browning Erik Erikson and Martin Luther biographers and their subjects continue to engage our attention Whole Lives offers an informative and refreshingly informal look at one of the most enduringly popular genres

Selected Short Stories Virginia Woolf, 2000-06-29 Woolf is modern With Joyce and Eliot she has shaped a literary century Jeanette Winterson Virginia Woolf tested the boundaries of fiction in these short stories developing a new language of sensation feeling and thought and recreating in words the swarm and confusion of life Defying categorization the stories range from the more traditional narrative style of Solid Objects through the fragile impressionism of Kew Gardens to the abstract exploration of consciousness in The Mark on the Wall Edited with an Introduction and Notes by Sandra Kemp

The Observing Self (Routledge Revivals) Graham Good, 2014-08-01 First published in 1988 this title is a study of the essay as a literary genre not just in terms of its general intellectual and literary history but as an exploration of the creative possibilities of the form The rise of the essay is discussed in relation to the rise of the novel and the emergence of empiricism in science but the main focus of Graham Good's study is on the inner workings of the essay itself Drawing on criticism by Adorno and Lukacs Graham Good presents the genre as an expression of individualism freed from tradition and authority in which the self constructs itself and its object through independent observation Through analysis of the work of such essayists as Montaigne Bacon Virginia Woolf T S Eliot and George Orwell the potential of the genre for independence and individualism is illustrated and the essay is resituated as an intellectually challenging form of creative and critical writing

I-writing Karen Surman Paley, 2001 In this ethnographic study of the teaching of writing Karen Surman Paley reveals the social significance of first person writing and the limitations of a popular taxonomy of composition studies Paley looks critically at the way social constructionists have created an Other in the field of composition studies and named it expressivist Paley demonstrates the complexity of approaches to teaching writing through an ethnographic study of two composition faculty at Boston College a program that some would say is expressivist She prompts her colleagues to consider how family experiences shape the way students feel about and treat people of races religions genders and sexual preferences other than their own Finally she suggests to the field of composition that practitioners spend less time shoring up taxonomies of the field and more time sharing pedagogies
