Moveable Forts and Magazines Dick Rose, Richard Rose, 2001-08 Conscience friendship and responsibility are tested as a young helicopter pilot son of an admiral goes underground rather than return to his unit in the Mekong Delta in 1968 Framing this is the Navy's attempts to conceal the incident Army Reserve Magazine, 1986 The Horn Book Magazine, 1988 Armor, 1997 The magazine of mobile warfare New York Magazine, 1979-04-02 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea U.S. Army Sea Tales Walter L. Grey Jr., 2010-08-16 The army marine field is a little known part of the army by both the civilians and the many soldiers People think of the combat arms infantry armor and artillery and while they are the heart of the army there are other branches without which the combat arms would cease to be an effective fighting force Arguably the most important element ensuring that the combat arms have beans and bullets is the Transportation Corps The motto of the Transportation Corps is Spearhead of Logistics because Nothing happens until something moves In my years as an army mariner I have had many interesting and sometimes humorous experiences My experiences are nothing compared with those of other army mariners This book is not just about my experiences but of other sea going sailors as well Some of the stories are hilarious and I believe all are interesting The book is divided into three elements The heart of the book is the Sea Tales but Mr Richard Killblane the Army Transportation Corps historian graciously provided me with many fascinating interviews of army mariners conducted by personnel in his office The histories of many army watercraft companies are the final elements of the book and provides the reader with the differences of watercraft units and their missions I have found my own experience to be very interesting and rewarding I recall one day working on the engine room logbook sitting at the galley table and glancing out of the door at the water in Skiffs Creek and thinking of how fortunate I was to be sitting there and not working in an office I have had a wide variety of duties in my twenty two year career but nothing compares with working on the water I can relate to what Samuel Clemmons wrote in his book Life on the Mississippi For I loved the profession far better than any I have followed since I feel that says it all I am now retired but I have the memories of my experiences Waiting Wives Donna Moreau, 2010-05-11 In 1964 as the first B 52s took flight in what would become America's longest combat mission an old Air Force base on the plains of Kansas became Schilling Manor the only base ever to be set aside for the wives and children of soldiers assigned to Vietnam Author Donna Moreau was the daughter of one such waiting wife and here she writes of growing up at a time when The Flintstones were interrupted with news of firefights fraggings and protests when the evening news announced death tolls along with the weather forecasts The women and children of Schilling Manor fought on the emotional front of the war It was not a front composed of battle plans and bullets Their enemies were fear loneliness lack of information and the slow tick of time Waiting Wives The Story of Schilling Manor Home Front to the Vietnam War tells the story of the last generation of hat and glove military wives called upon by their country to pack without question to follow without comment and to wait quietly with a smile A heartfelt book that focuses on this other hidden side of war Waiting Wives is a narrative investigation of an extraordinary group of women A compelling memoir and domestic drama Waiting Wives is also the story of a country in the midst of change of a country at war with a war
