The musical score is written for voice and piano. It features a key signature of one flat (B-flat) and a 4/4 time signature. The melody is primarily in the treble clef, while the piano accompaniment is in the bass clef. The lyrics are arranged in four systems, each corresponding to a line of music. The first system includes four numbered verses. The subsequent systems continue the lyrics, with some lines being repeated or modified for different parts of the song. The score concludes with a final line of music and a double bar line.
