Images-within-Images in Italian Painting (1250-1350) P?r Bokody, 2017-07-05 The rebirth of realistic representation in Italy around 1300 led to the materialization of a pictorial language which dominated Western art until 1900 and it dominates global visual culture even today. Paralleling the development of mimesis, self-reflexive pictorial tendencies emerged as well. Images within images, visual commentaries of representations by representations were essential to this trend. They facilitated the development of a critical pictorial attitude towards representation. This book offers the first comprehensive study of Italian meta-painting in the age of Giotto and sheds new light on the early modern and modern history of the phenomenon. By combining visual hermeneutics and iconography, it traces reflexivity in Italian mural and panel painting at the dawn of the Renaissance and presents novel interpretations of several key works of Giotto di Bondone and the Lorenzetti brothers. The potential influence of the contemporary religious and social context on the program design is also examined, situating the visual innovations within a broader historical horizon. The analysis of pictorial illusionism and reality effect together with the liturgical narrative and typological role of images within images makes this work a pioneering contribution to visual studies and premodern Italian culture.

Kanter, Carl Brandon Strehlke, 1988 Catalog of an exhibition which opened at The Metropolitan Museum of Art on Dec 20 1988. This first comprehensive study in English devoted to Sienese painting to be published in four decades centers on the fifteenth century, a fascinating but frequently neglected period when Sienese artists confronted the innovations of Renaissance painting in Florence. Two introductory essays survey fifteenth-century Sienese painting and individual entries examine 139 key works in exhaustive detail, presenting new insights into long-debated issues of interpretation and attribution and often utilizing previously unpublished material. Most of the major paintings are reproduced in color and supplemented with illustrations of related comparative works.
