Pillar to Post: English Architecture Without Tears by Osbert Lancaster Osbert Lancaster, 1956 Making Dystopia James Stevens Curl, 2018-08-23 In Making Dystopia distinguished architectural historian James Stevens Curl tells the story of the advent of architectural Modernism in the aftermath of the First World War its protagonists and its astonishing almost global acceptance after 1945 He argues forcefully that the triumph of architectural Modernism in the second half of the twentieth century led to massive destruction the creation of alien urban landscapes and a huge waste of resources Moreover the coming of Modernism was not an inevitable seamless evolution as many have insisted but a massive unparalleled disruption that demanded a clean slate and the elimination of all ornament decoration and choice Tracing the effects of the Modernist revolution in architecture to the present Stevens Curl argues that with each passing year so called iconic architecture by supposed star architects has become more and more bizarre unsettling and expensive ignoring established contexts and proving to be stratospherically remote from the aspirations and needs of humanity In the elite world of contemporary architecture form increasingly follows finance and in a society in which the haves have more and more and the have nots are ever more marginalized he warns that contemporary architecture continues to stack up huge potential problems for the future as housing costs spiral out of control resources are squandered on architectural bling and society fractures This courageous passionate deeply researched and profoundly argued book should be read by everyone concerned with what is around us Its combative critique of the entire Modernist architectural project and its apologists will be highly controversial to many But it contains salutary warnings that we ignore at our peril And it asks awkward questions to which answers are long overdue Three Periods of English Architecture Thomas Harris, 1894 Pillar to Post, English Architecture Without Tears Sir Osbert Lancaster, 2021-09-09 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public To ensure a quality reading experience this work has been proofread and republished using a format that seamlessly blends the original graphical elements with text in an easy to read typeface We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant Writing and Fantasy Ceri Sullivan, 2014-06-11 Writing and Fantasy brings together essays which restore a sense of the fantastic as a political response to cultural opportunities and pressures It moves on from two conventional fields of discussion the psychoanalytic where phantasies are produced by the emergence of the consciousness and the social where fantasies are the production of nineteenth century individualism Chapters run from the classical period to the twentieth century each focusing on a local reading of how fantasy acts as a strategy to contain or exploit specific historical and cultural moments A wide variety of sites are investigated including the feminization of the wild west originary and maternal spaces highwaywomen financial credit and the ideal home Multiple genres containing fantasy are explored ranging from ghost stories to feminist utopias Aids to the reader include an introduction summarising recent discussions of fantasy illustrations dealing with visual fantasies and an annotated bibliography The new research presented here will be of great interest to academics and students in literature history and cultural studies departments who are working in the field of the historical development of concepts of fantasy cultural opposition and the imbrication of politics and modes of representation Laughing at Architecture Michela

Rosso,2018-11-29 In a media saturated world humour stands out as a form of social communication that is especially effective in re appropriating and questioning architectural and urban culture Whether illuminating the ambivalences of metropolitan life or exposing the shock of modernisation cartoons caricature and parody have long been potent agents of architectural criticism protest and opposition In a novel contribution to the field of architectural history this book outlines a survey of visual and textual humour as applied to architecture its artefacts and leading professionals Employing a wide variety of visual and literary sources prints the illustrated press advertisements theatrical representations cinema and TV thirteen essays explore an array of historical subjects concerning the critical reception of projects buildings and cities through the means of caricature and parody Subjects range from 1750 to the present and from Europe and the USA to contemporary China From William Hogarth and George Cruikshank to Osbert Lancaster Adolf Loos satire and Saul Steinberg s celebrated cartoons of New York City graphic and descriptive humour is shown to be an enormously fruitful yet largely unexplored terrain of investigation for the architectural and urban historian Tudorism Tatiana C. String,Marcus Bull,2011-12-22 In architecture music and literature in paintings films and television series in print and on the internet the Tudors are a hugely popular commodity This volume is the first to study this phenomenon in depth assembling foremost scholars in multiple fields to examine why the Tudors still make such an impact Pillar to Post Osbert Lancaster,1948

Machines for Living Victoria Rosner,2020-02-04 Changes in the routines of domestic life were among the most striking social phenomena of the period between the two World Wars when the home came into focus as a problem to be solved re imagined streamlined electrified and generally cleaned up Modernist writers understood themselves to be living in an epochal moment when the design and meaning of home life were reconceived Moving among literature architecture design science and technology Machines for Living shows how the modernization of the home led to profound changes in domestic life and relied on a set of emergent concepts including standardization scientific method functionalism efficiency science and others that form the basis of literary modernism and stand at the confluence of modernism and modernity Even as modernist writers criticized the expanding reach of modernization into the home they drew on its conceptual vocabulary to develop both the thematic and formal commitments of literary modernism Rosner s work develops a new methodology for interdisciplinary modernist studies and shows how the reinvention of domestic life is central to modernist literature

Pinning Down the Past Mike Corbishley, 2014-04-17 In a relatively short period of time the pursuit of archaeology has evolved from an antiquarian interest to a specialised scientific activity Part of this evolution has always included the interest of the public and archaeologists efforts to educate them As each new method and technique is developed and each new specialism is created the challenge of making archaeology available as a learning resource grows with it Today for example the issues which surround archaeology and heritage such as the pressures of tourism on sites now form part of many formal educational curricula This book the first to deal with the subject in such depth examines the place of education and outreach within the wider archaeological community Written by one of Britain s leading archaeological educationalists it charts the sometimes difficult and painful growth and development of education and archaeology Packed full of informative and enlightening case studies from the circus at Colchester to Sutton Hoo and Hadrian s Wall this work examines exactly how we have reached the point we are at where that place is and suggests areas for future development By drawing upon many decades of experience at the front line of archaeological education the author has produced a key text that will play a major role in the on going development of the heritage industry Publisher s website Ideal homes, 1918-39 Deborah Sugg Ryan, 2018-03-06 This book explores the aspirations and tastes of new suburban communities in interwar England for domestic architecture and design that was both modern and nostalgic in a period where homeownership became the norm It investigates the ways in which new suburban class and gender identities were forged through the architecture design and decoration of the home in choices such as ebony elephants placed on mantelpieces and modern Easiwork dressers in kitchens Ultimately it argues that a specifically suburban modernism emerged which looked backwards to the past whilst looking forward to the future Thus the inter war ideal home was both a retreat from the outside world and a site of change and experimentation The book also examines how the interwar home is lived in today It will appeal to academics and students in design social and cultural history as well as a wider readership curious about interwar homes Art Index Alice Maria Dougan, Margaret Furlong, 1941 Monthly Bulletin San Francisco Public Library, 1919 Retro Elizabeth E. Guffey, 2006-11-15 Drawing upon a wealth of original research and entertaining anecdotal material Guffey unearths the roots of the term retro and chronicles its evolving manifestations in culture and art throughout the last century An Universal Military Dictionary, in English and French Charles James, 1816 The Winterthur Museum Libraries Collection of Printed Books and Periodicals: General catalog Henry Francis du Pont Winterthur Museum.
