Growth Poles and Regional Policies A. Kukliński, R. Petrella, 2019-03-18 No detailed description available for Growth Poles and Regional Policies Regional Policies in Nigeria, India and Brazil Antoni Kuklinski, 2019-07-22 No detailed description available for Regional Policies in Nigeria India and Brazil Social Issues in Regional Policy and Planning Antoni Kuklinski, 2011-06-01 No detailed description available for Social Issues in Regional Policy and Planning Regional and Local Development in Times of Polarisation Thilo Lang, Franziska Görmann, 2019-01-23 Despite the emphasis of the European Regional Policy on territorial cohesion regional disparities have been increasing within Europe in the past years The metropolitan areas in almost all countries are considerably growing while regions outside of agglomerations are stagnating or even declining Against this background this book aims to provide an understanding of the underlying processes of polarisation and related regional and local policies This open access volume contributes to the debates about polarisation and regional development by focussing on questions of spatial justice power distribution and policy transfer Theoretical and empirically grounded contributions show that European policies are indeed reproducing socio spatial inequalities instead of challenging them The book shows further the existing potentials and limits of individuals economic political and civil society actors to respond to polarisation on the regional and local level In this book conceptual thoughts on polarisation regional policy and regional development are combined with empirical research and resulting implications for policymaking As such it is a valuable source for early career students and researchers as well as professionals in the field of regional and economic development policy consultants and policy makers Regional Development Theories and Their Application Benjamin Higgins, 2017-07-12 Throughout the world today former nation states as disparate as Yugoslavia Somalia and Canada have either disintegrated or threaten to splinter into regions The conflicts are economic social ethnic linguistic religious political and cultural Higgins and Savoie analyze the reasons for these conflicts and show why attempts to eliminate regional disparities within nations have been largely unsuccessful This volume is a highly readable comprehensive survey of the literature and current debates in the fields of regional economics development policy and planning European Regional Development Paweł Churski, Tomasz Herodowicz, Barbara Konecka-Szydłowska, Robert Perdał, 2021-11-18 This book offers a comprehensive overview of contemporary issues of regional development It places particular emphasis on its socio economic and socio political determinants which accompany the problem of existing and ever widening differences in the level of regional development in various parts of Europe In order to diagnose the scale of those differences and to indicate the main forces behind the divergence of development the authors propose an original systematisation of regional development factors drawing attention to the need to consider them within the framework of present day socio economic megatrends The proposed approach to the development factors is also used for the author's operationalisation of the concept of territorial capital which is at the centre of regional place based policy. The wide spatial aspect of the analysis, national and local, and its extensive temporal scope, 2004-2019, yields unique results and creates an important element of added value for this book which shows the regularities of the process of regional development in Europe at three spatial levels: pan-European, national and intra-regional. Furthermore, it indicates the challenges faced by regionalists who attempt to carry out research on different territorial levels with a diverse number of units: 205 EU regions, 16 Polish voivodeships, 2 478 Polish local units and extended observation periods, 2004-2017. The solutions proposed by the authors, who show the potential of overcoming the barriers resulting from limited access to complete and comparable statistical data series, should be inspiring for many researchers. The unique results of direct research carried out on a large sample of respondents and entrepreneurs via diverse field research techniques constitute a valuable source of information on local conditions that impact contemporary development processes in less developed regions. Their value is even greater because they were carried out in a unique laboratory created by the authors for testing the regularity of formation and impact of socio-economic development factors in various locally determined conditions of this process. It consists of purposefully selected test units, LAU2. Located in a less developed region, they represent all growth types and functional test units identified in the course of the research. Consequently, the results obtained may be generalised and applied to other areas showing similar features of territorial capital. The monograph is addressed primarily to a wide group of regionalists connected with economic and social sciences as well as to practitioners involved in the implementation of development policies at various levels.

All the Difference
Benjamin Higgins, 1992-10-14. He goes on to tell the story of his advisory missions to Asia, the Middle East, Latin America, Africa and the South Pacific. Higgins weaves anecdotal accounts of his adventures in these regions and gives his personal reactions to these environments along with analysis of the development efforts in which he participated. He explains how professional thinking about economic and social development evolved as experience and knowledge accumulated. The book also includes accounts of the author's experiences with and reactions to a variety of multicultural and bilateral aid agencies, thus providing an intimate picture of their operation. In his final chapter, Higgins sums up his own views on the current state of economic development, development economics, economics in general and the role of political and cultural factors in the development process.

The Geography of the Third World
Michael Pacione, 2012-08-06. First published in 1988, this reissue presents a comprehensive overview of contemporary developments and research into the geography of the Third World at a time when economies and societies there were changing at a much more rapid rate than their counterparts in the developing world. It covers the topic both systematically and by region, showing how the unique background of each region affects developments there.
