Polish Theatre Directors:

Polish Theatre Directors August Grodzicki, 1979 Jerzy Grotowski's Journeys to the East Zbigniew Osinski, 2023-05-31

Jerzy Grotowski's Journeys to the East is an unusual collection of facts quotations and commentaries documenting the real and metaphorical journeys of the Polish theatre director and teacher of performers into a geographical and cultural dimension which we used to and still call the Orient Grotowski's contacts and meetings with the East are placed here in the context of his biography Painstakingly researched by Grotowski's main biographer Zbigniew Osinski this book is necessary reading for those interested in Grotowski's deep relationship with the East and in the inspiration he drew from its various cultures The book will appeal to all readers who feel a need to have a glimpse of the East from the perspective of one of the main theatre reformers in the twentieth century Polish Theatre after the Fall of Communism Olga Śmiechowicz, 2018-10-09

In international theatre studies there has been a dearth of studies on Polish contemporary theatre This book investigates how Polish theatre has changed since 1989 and the fall of Communism It introduces the most prominent Polish theatre directors namely Krystian Lupa and his two extremely talented students Krzysztof Warlikowski and Jan Klata All three of them represent three absolutely different types of aesthetics and ways of thinking about theatre Krystian Lupa mostly concentrates on Austrian and Russian literature Krzysztof Warlikowski's theatre is based on stage versions of William Shakespeare or Ancient authors Jan Klata focuses his attention on Polish history and current social problems This book highlights the creativity of Polish contemporary theatre and shows how different from most theatre traditions in other European countries it is The Great European Stage Directors Volume 5 Paul Allain, 2021-10-07

This volume provides a fresh assessment of the pioneering practices of theatre directors Jerzy Grotowski Peter Brook and Eugenio Barba whose work has challenged and extended ideas about what theatre is and does Contributors demonstrate how each was instrumental in rethinking and reinventing theatre's possibilities where it takes place whether in theatres or beyond and who the audience might then be as well as how actors train and perform highlighting the importance of the group and collaboration The volume examines their role in establishing intercultural dialogues and practices and the wider influence of this work on theatre Consideration is also given to each director's documentation of their practice in print and film and the influence this has had on 21st century performance Contemporary European Theatre Directors Maria M. Delgado, Dan Rebellato, 2010-03-03

Performing Womanhood in Eastern Europe Cristina Modreanu, 2025-09-25

Performing Womanhood in Eastern Europe explores a distinctive form of womanhood that emerged in post World War II Eastern Europe offering an alternative to Western typologies This work interweaves theatre history with personal narratives while addressing contemporary issues that continue to resonate In Eastern Europe s patriarchal landscape the stage has become a vital space for authentic critical analysis and introspection with women s previously silenced voices now taking center stage The book examines performances and dramatic works by creators from Romania Poland Russia Hungary Bulgaria Moldova and former Yugoslavia revealing how they represent female experiences within Eastern Europe s complex geopolitical environment It questions whether theatrical expression can bridge the feminist divide between East and West and if performance spaces might serve as forums where marginalised narratives and multidirectional memories can be renegotiated Ultimately it explores how the personal can reclaim its political dimension allowing womanhood in all its manifestations to be performed authentically either shielded from or actively challenging the male gaze This book will particularly appeal to scholars of Eastern European studies feminist theatre historians and performance artists interested in gendered cultural expression across post communist spaces
