The Power Triangle Hazem Kandil, 2016-08-12 Revolution reform and resilience comprise the respective fortunes of modern Iran Turkey and Egypt Although the countries all experienced coups with remarkably similar ambitions each followed a very different trajectory Iran became an absolutist monarchy that was overthrown from below Turkey evolved into a limited democracy and Egypt turned into a police state In The Power Triangle Hazem Kandil attributes the different outcomes to the power struggle between the political military and security institutions Coups establish a division of labor with one group of officers running government another overseeing the military and a third handling security But their interests begin to vary as each group identifies with its own institution Politicians wish to rule indefinitely military officers prefer to return to barracks after implementing the needed reforms and security men scramble to maintain the privileges they acquired in the post coup emergency Driven by conflicting agendas these partners in domination struggle over regime control Using comparative historical sociology Kandil demonstrates how regimes are constantly shaped and reshaped through the recurrent clashes and shifting alliances between the team of rivals in this power triangle The Power Triangle s realist approach to regime change shows that a clear explanation of pivotal events in Iran Turkey and Egypt is impossible without a firm grasp of the power relations within each country s ruling bloc

Peacekeeping in Africa Marco Jowell, 2018-02-21 In recent decades African states have developed an impressive infrastructure for training their peacekeepers. In addition, peacekeeping, peacebuilding and associated areas of conflict resolution have become significant areas of employment. Marco Jowell has spent a decade working in peacekeeping training in East Africa initially as one of the foreign Technical Advisers at the Peace Support Operations (PSO) training centre in Kenya, the International Peace Support Training Centre (IPSTC) and subsequently as a strategic adviser to the Rwanda Peace Academy. Using first-hand experience, he considers how military forces from a variety of African states with great differences in history, language and political systems and with militaries with different cultures and capabilities can conduct complicated multinational peacekeeping operations. He shows how regional peacekeeping training centres provide an environment for African elites, predominately military, to interact with each other through shared training and experiences. This process of interaction or socialisation improves skills but also encourages cohesion so that future African-led missions will be managed by well-trained officers who are comfortable and willing to work within a regional or Pan African framework. Jowell shows that part of the aim of peacekeeping training centres is to foster a Pan African outward-looking ideology or disposition as well as improving technical ability. This book will be essential reading for all involved with African military and security studies and analysts of peacekeeping training and operations. Defense and Security Outlook Kogila Balakrishnan, Zsolt Lazar, 2023-06-20 The book focuses on the main security threats, defence industry, arms trade, defence policies and military capabilities related issues in the Asia-Pacific region. There are only a very few regions in the world which have advanced so fast both economically and technologically as the Asia-Pacific in the past few decades. Probably this is one of the reasons why several countries in the region have gained confidence, sharpened their diplomatic tone, increased their defence expenditure, invested into military capabilities and questioned both the local and global status quo. The region contains emerging powers, far-reaching ambitions, threatening rhetoric, rising political tensions and concerns about military conflicts. Factors that show that critical issues are at stake: the reopening of long forgotten debates are more relevant than ever and masses of uncertainties are yet to be resolved. This book will be of much interest to all students and scholars of Asia-Pacific Security, Asian politics and International Relations in general. The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Defense Security Analysis.
