Part A: Full APA Reference Entry

Chan, T. W., & Clayton, M. (2006). Should the voting age be lowered to sixteen? Normative and empirical considerations. British Journal of Political Science, 36(4), 547-569.

Part B: Summary

In their study, Chan and Clayton (2006) explore the potential implications of lowering the voting age to sixteen, considering both normative and empirical factors. The authors contend that the primary concern is the political maturity of young individuals, and they draw on nationally representative surveys to support their argument. Their analysis reveals that young people exhibit lower levels of political engagement, voting history, and knowledge of political issues.

Fugitive Thought Michael Roy Hames-Garcia, 2004 In Fugitive Thought Michael Hames Garca argues that writings by prisoners are instances of practical social theory that seek to transform the world Unlike other authors who have studied prisons or legal theory Hames Garca views prisoners as political and social thinkers whose ideas are as important as those of lawyers and philosophers As key moral terms like justice solidarity and freedom have come under suspicion in the post Civil Rights era political discussions on the Left have reached an impasse Fugitive Thought reexamines and reinvigorates these concepts through a fresh approach to philosophies of justice and freedom combining the study of legal theory and of prison literature to show how the critiques and moral visions of dissidents and participants in prison movements can contribute to the shaping and realization of workable ethical conceptions Fugitive Thought focuses on writings by black and Latina o lawyers and prisoners to flesh out the philosophical underpinnings of ethical claims within legal theory and prison activism Michael Hames Garca is assistant professor of English and of philosophy interpretation and culture at Binghamton University State University of New York Warfare in the American Homeland Joy James,2007-07-20 A collection of writings by prisoners and scholars that documents the extension of the violence and the repression of the prison establishment into the larger society Africa Air University (U.S.).
