Political Communications Transformed From Morrison To Mandelson:

Political Communications Transformed John Bartle, Dylan Griffiths, 2001-03-30 Dramatic changes in society technology and culture have transformed the relationship between political parties the media and the individual voter over the last fifty years The leading researchers gathered in this volume offer a comprehensive analysis of the evolution of British political communication since 1945 They explore the competition for coverage between political parties and media organizations the ongoing rivalry between politicians and the press and the implications for the quality of British democracy Political Communications Simon Atkinson, John Bartle, Roger Mortimore, 2013-10-23 This work examines political communications in British general elections Like its predecessors it has a dual purpose first to make available the reflections of those who participated in it and second to provide analysis of the media the parties and public opinion polls in the campaign Social Media and Elections in Africa, Volume 1 Martin N. Ndlela, Winston Mano, 2020-01-02 This book brings together fresh evidence and new theoretical frameworks in a unique analysis of the increasing role of social media in political campaigns and electoral processes across Africa Supported by contemporary and historical cases studies it engages with the main drives behind the various appropriations of social media for election campaigns organization and voter mobilization Contributors in this volume delve into changing and complex aspects of social media offering an appraisal of theoretical perspectives and examining fascinating case studies which social media use is redefining elections across Africa Contributions show that new media ecologies are resulting in new policy regimes user behaviors and communication models that have implications for electoral processes The book also provides preliminary analysis of emerging forms of algorithm driven campaigns fake news information distortions and other methods that undermine electoral democracy in Africa Political Communication in Britain Roger Mortimore, Simon Atkinson, 2011-04-13 The 2010 General Election represented a pathbreaking contest in Political Communication The TV debates changed forever the feel of the campaign This book brings together key commentators analysts and polling experts to present readers with a unique and valuable insight into the development of political communication in British Politics Consumer Democracy Margaret Scammell, 2014-02-10 This book argues that marketing is inherent in competitive democracy explaining how we can make the consumer nature of competitive democracy better and more democratic Margaret Scammell argues that consumer democracy should not be assumed to be inherently antithetical to proper political discourse and debate about the common good Instead Scammell argues that we should seek to understand it to create marketing literate criticism that can distinguish between democratically good and bad campaigns and between shallow cynical packaging and campaigns that at least aspire to be responsive engender citizen participation and enable accountability Further we can take important lessons from commercial marketing enjoyment matters what citizens think and feel matters and just as in commercial markets structure is key the type of political marketing will be affected by the conditions of competition Global Political Campaigning Fritz Plasser, 2002-02-28 Plasser examines the changing

practices of election campaigning worldwide Based on data of an indepth survey of campaign managers and political consultants from 43 countries he provides insights into the professional role definitions and strategic orientations determining the future of electioneering in media centered democracies The first section gives a state of the art overview of the international literature and modernization theories describing and analyzing the ongoing process of modernization and growing professionalization of electioneering around the world The second section deals with the topic of an Americanization of campaign practices in countries fundamentally different from the United States from a diffusion point of view A special focus is the role of U S overseas consultants in influencing and modifying campaign practices in foreign countries based on indepth interviews about the professional experiences of leading figures of the Americans overseas consultancy business The third section deals with central features of campaign practices from a comparative perspective and provides information and data about the media infrastructure and political culture indicators for 50 countries as well as a detailed comparison of country specific campaign regulations party system features and campaign styles The fourth section focuses on the results of Plasser s Global Political Consultancy Survey among 592 campaign professionals from 43 countries The results of this first worldwide survey offer insights into professional orientations role definitions and practices of campaign managers and political consultants throughout the world The fifth section discusses different area and country specific campaign styles from a comparative perspective The final chapters present a global typology of distinct campaign styles across the world summarize the central findings and link them to the ongoing debate about the future of electioneering in media centered democracies An essential research tool for scholars students and other researchers involved with comparative electioneering political management and political communication

The Media and Political Process Eric Louw, 2010-02-17 How have professional communicators transformed the business of politics How do political bodies use the media to sell domestic and foreign policies to the public This fully revised new edition of The Media and Political Process assesses the impact of spin doctoring and media activity in liberal democracies that are just as concerned with impression management and public relations as with policy Political processes never stand still and this revised second edition explores the mediatization of the political process in light of recent developments from Vladimir Putin s growth into a political celebrity to the activities of spin doctors in the 2008 US Presidential Elections Providing a comprehensive overview of the evolution operation and terminology of political communication this text is an accessible lively resource for students of political communication and media and politics and will be important further reading for students of journalism public relations and cultural studies

Campaign Professionalism during Egypt's 2012 Presidential Election Dalia Elsheikh, 2018-04-09 This book presents the first analytical study of the levels of professionalism of campaigns in the 2012 Egyptian presidential elections It considers the extent to which the election was professionalised and how far the levels of professionalism impacted the democratisation process of Egypt It provides the story of the five main campaigns by applying the professionalisation index to analyse their structures hardware and strategies software The book also evaluates the application of the professionalization index to nascent democracies and the impact of campaign professionalism on such democracies The book encourages further studies within similar fragile democratic systems as well as offering campaigners practical guidance when approaching future elections

The Media and Political Process P. Eric Louw, 2005-05-20 The Media and Political Process examines the increasingly topical subject of the political process and assesses The nature of the relationship between mass media and the political process The impact of media ization on existing political frameworks The implications of media ized politics Eric Louw uses a number of case studies including political celebrity war and terrorism to provide a media studies perspective on how media workers journalists public affairs officers spin doctors impact upon the political process The book also considers the media s role in promoting a range of twentieth century ideologies and emerging dominant discourses
