Radio Production Robert McLeish, 2012-07-26 This classic book is a must have for anyone involved in radio production covering everything from operational techniques and producing different programme formats to conducting interviews and writing for radio The fifth edition features new and updated information on digital production such as the computer editing process digital recording and DAB the internet and internet only radio stations automatic playout systems ethics storytelling showing simple ways of creating different acoustics for drama station management scheduling remote reporting This edition is further enhanced by a supporting CD Rom packed with examples exercises and resources Radio Production Worktext David E. Reese, Lynne S. Gross, Brian Gross, 2006 Radio Production Worktext 5ED is designed to provide an introduction of the modern radio production studio the equipment found in that studio and basic techniques to accomplish radio production work The text also emphasizes digital equipment but also includes information on the older analog equipment still used in radio The worktext format combines information Q As and projects providing a complete resource for teaching and learning either in a formal classroom setting or as a self study guide for the individual The companion CD ROM provides project material and demonstrations of key concepts Radio Production Worktext s clear and simple approach makes it a useful reference for the entry level broadcaster The new edition focuses on digital technologies but also covers the relevant analog technologies and their role while continuing to reflect all tools and methods commonly in use Some chapters have been reordered to strengthen the text in recognition of the importance of digital technologies to the whole of the production process and will be in the front of the book Digital Radio Production Donald W. Connelly, 2023-10-27 Written for an industry in perpetual motion Digital Radio Production takes a holistic approach and prepares students to join the business of radio in both large and small markets and across multiple digital platforms The author shares his 20 years of experience and invaluable insights into radio production communication and promotion The potential of developing technologies like artificial intelligence and voice cloning and their impacts on the world of radio and the professionals who work in it cannot be ignored In the fourth edition these topics are discussed along with how and what people listen to on the radio in the twenty first century A new chapter on podcasting explores the development of podcasts as well as the preplanning and equipment needed to create an episode The flexibility of today s digital consoles audio processing software and delivery formats create more opportunities for creativity and growth in the industry Fully updated the text enhances students technical skills and knowledge of digital audio recording and transmission Each chapter features suggested activities outside the classroom key informative websites and a glossary of industry terms The text is accompanied by over 80 audio examples of virtually every aspect of radio production from microphone techniques to commercial production samples an outstanding selection of production music that can be creatively reworked and transformed and a custom studio tracking session with suggested activities To download the audio and music demo cuts click here The Media Student's Guide to Radio Production Bob

Gilmurray,2013-02-01 This book is written for students enrolled on media production courses in further and higher education which include modules in radio broadcasting It is particularly well suited to students in the United Kingdom who are taking BTEC Nationals and Higher Nationals or OCR Nationals or similar post school vocational media programmes That said this book contains much that radio trainers and trainees outside the context of mainstream education and even of the UK will also find helpful The rules and conventions may vary but the skills required to do the job are much the same everywhere The emphasis is upon the practical issues that arise when you the student are experiencing for the first time the challenge of working as a member of a team to launch and run a broadcast or internet radio station and you are being assessed on how well you do

The efficiency of radio production at the BBC Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Committee of Public Accounts,2009-06-04 The BBC in 2007 08 spent 462 million on its 16 radio stations The BBC has set these 16 stations a combined target of efficiency savings of 69 million over the five year period to March 2013 representing an annual saving of 3 per cent The BBC proposed unacceptable constraints on the Comptroller and Auditor General s access to information and his discretion to report to his findings to Parliament The situation arose because the Comptroller and Auditor General does not have statutory unrestricted rights of access to the BBC which he does with all other publicly funded bodies The BBC has wide ranges of costs for similar programmes within and between its radio stations The average cost for an hour of comparable music programmes on Radio 2 is more than 50 per cent higher than on Radio 1 For most breakfast and drivetime slots the BBC s costs are significantly higher than commercial stations largely because of payments to presenters The BBC has not used cost comparisons across its own programmes or against commercial radio to identify scope for efficiencies The BBC uses its principal value for money indicator cost per listener hour to justify the cost of presenters on the basis of audience size but the indicator does not provide assurance that programme costs are the minimum necessary to reach the required quality and intended audience For most radio programmes presenters salaries represent the majority of programming costs but the BBC is paying more than the market price for its top radio presenters The BBC has prevented full public scrutiny of the value for money of expenditure on presenters by agreeing confidentiality clauses with some presenters

Making Radio Shawn VanCour,2018-03-01 The opening decades of the twentieth century witnessed a profound transformation in the history of modern sound media with workers in U S film radio and record industries developing pioneering production methods and performance styles tailored to emerging technologies of electric sound reproduction that would redefine dominant forms and experiences of popular audio entertainment Focusing on broadcasting s initial expansion during the 1920s Making Radio explores the forms of creative labor pursued for the medium in the period prior to the better known network era assessing their role in shaping radio s identity and identifying affinities with parallel practices pursued for conversion era film and phonography Tracing programming forms adopted by early radio writers and programmers production techniques developed by studio engineers and performance styles cultivated by on air talent it shows how radio workers negotiated a series of broader industrial and cultural pressures to establish best practices for their medium that reshaped popular forms of music drama and public oratory and laid the foundation for a new era of electric sound entertainment
