Raise the Lanterns High Lakshmi Persaud, 2004 On the eve of her arranged marriage Vasti discovers that she is due to marry the rapist she saw in a sugar cane field years earlier A horrific dilemma befalls her she can either speak out defy convention and bring the family name into disrepute or submit silently to her fate Vasti collapses and while unconscious travels in a dream from her home in 1960s Trinidad back to 18th century India Here King Paresh has just died in battle and his three Queens are expected to perform suttee to climb on the pyre with his body and be burned alive Their dilemma is a matter of life and death but the social pressures are much the same as Vasti's Will they make a bid for escape Critical Perspectives on Indo-Caribbean Women's Literature Joy Allison Indira Mahabir, Mariam Pirbhai, 2013 This book is the first collection on Indo Caribbean women's writing and the first work to offer a sustained analysis of the literature from a range of theoretical and critical perspectives such as ecocriticism feminist queer post colonial and Caribbean cultural theories The essays not only lay the framework of an emerging and growing field but also critically situate internationally acclaimed writers such as Shani Mootoo Lakshmi Persaud and Ramabai Espinet within this emerging tradition Indo Caribbean women writers provide a fresh new perspective in Caribbean literature be it in their unique representations of plantation history anti colonial movements diasporic identities feminisms ethnicity and race or contemporary Caribbean societies and culture The book offers a theoretical reading of the poetics politics and cultural traditions that inform Indo Caribbean women's writing arguing that while women writers work with and through postcolonial and Caribbean cultural theories they also respond to a distinctive set of influences and realities specific to their positioning within the Indo Caribbean community and the wider national regional and global imaginary Contributors visit the overlap between national and transnational engagements in Indo Caribbean women's literature considering the writers response to local or nationally specific contexts and the writers response to the diasporic and transnational modalities of Caribbean and Indo Caribbean communities Crafting Identities, Remapping Nationalities Cécile Coquet-Mokoko, Trevor Harris, 2011-12-08 In the different versions of multiculturalism that have re shaped English speaking societies and political systems identities appear more plastic than in societies which have constructed their national narratives on more stubborn denials of their colonial and patriarchal pasts yet the myth of purity or authenticity and separatist temptations remain very real parameters of identity politics In such contexts crafting an identity for oneself implies expectations of consistency linked not only to the individual need to prove oneself and disprove stereotypes and statistics but also to the broader political goal of dis alienating or as it were de Othering oneself and one's community The contributors to this book explore the different ways from the most institutional to the most intimate in which people articulate the politics of memory and the creation of national narratives or communal and personal identities

The Oxford History of the Novel in English Simon Gikandi,2016-10-03 Why did the novel take such a long time to emerge in the colonial world And what cultural work did it come to perform in societies where subjects were not free and modes of social organization diverged from the European cultural centers where the novel gained its form and audience Answering these questions and more Volume 11 The Novel in Africa and the Caribbean since 1950 explores the institutions of cultural production that exerted influence in late colonialism from missionary schools and metropolitan publishers to universities and small presses How these structures provoke and respond to the literary trends and social peculiarities of Africa and the Caribbean impacts not only the writing and reading of novels in those regions but also has a transformative effect on the novel as a global phenomenon Together the volume s 32 contributing experts tell a story about the close relationship between the novel and the project of decolonization and explore the multiple ways in which novels enable readers to imagine communities beyond their own and thus made this form of literature a compelling catalyst for cultural transformation The authors show that even as the novel grows in Africa and the Caribbean as a mark of the elites mastery of European form it becomes the essential instrument for critiquing colonialism and for articulating the new horizons of cultural nationalism Within this historical context the volume examines works by authors such as Chinua Achebe Nadine Gordimer George Lamming Jamaica Kincaid V S Naipaul Zoe Wicomb J M Coetzee and many others

The Lantern Bearer's Waltz Kristen Blanchard,2024-12-10 In the mist shrouded

Austrian village of Heiligenwald nestled deep within the Alps the veil between worlds thins with the turning of seasons As the days shorten and the air grows crisp the villagers prepare for Lanternfest a poignant celebration of life and remembrance of loss Hand painted lanterns bearing the visages of the departed illuminate cobblestone streets beckoning spectral figures back to the realm of the living For young Elias Bauer the festival is a haunting symphony of absence a constant reminder of his mother Elara who vanished into the swirling mists five years prior Elias a gifted violinist inherited his mother s musical talent and her melancholic spirit Unknowingly his music weaves a fragile bridge between worlds resonating not only with the living but also with the spectral visitors Each note shapes their ephemeral memories their joys and their sorrows a power he is only beginning to understand During this year s Lanternfest a spectral woman with eyes like glacial meltwater emerges from the mist Seraphina Adler claims to hold the key to Elara s disappearance promising Elias a reunion at a terrible cost a bargain that whispers of forgotten magic and ancient pacts Driven by a desperate longing for his mother Elias seeks the counsel of Greta Huber the village s keeper of ancient lore Greta reveals a hidden lineage the Lantern Bearers tasked with guiding the lost through the spectral realm But to delve deeper is to risk unraveling the fabric of Heiligenwald unleashing a torrent of forgotten magic As Elias navigates the spectral realm guided by Seraphina s cryptic pronouncements he encounters a tapestry of restless spirits each holding a piece of the puzzle surrounding Elara s disappearance But these spectral figures are not merely phantoms of grief they harbor secrets that ripple through the veil threatening to consume the village Elias s music becomes a dangerous instrument capable of manipulating their memories offering solace or inflicting deeper wounds With each note he plays Elias becomes further entangled in Seraphina s unsettling promise and the truth about his mother He discovers that Elara also a Lantern Bearer made a pact with a spectral entity known as the Whisperer a being that feeds on the energy of unresolved grief The annual Lanternfest Greta reveals is not merely a celebration but a ritualistic offering of controlled grief a delicate appeasement to maintain the balance between worlds Elias faces a harrowing choice appease the Whisperer and risk losing his mother forever or shatter the fragile balance between worlds to reclaim her potentially unleashing the entity s full wrath upon the living As Lanternfest reaches its crescendo Elias must orchestrate a symphony of whispers and shadows a dangerous gamble to manipulate the spectral realm and confront the Whisperer Will his music be a beacon of hope or a harbinger of destruction The fate of Heiligenwald and the memory of his mother rests on the strings of his violin
