Residential Location Determinants of the Older Population Gundars Ridzitis, Gundars Rudzitis, 1982 Rural Aging in 21st Century America Nina Glasgow, E. Helen Berry, 2012-12-14 This book investigates sociological demographic and geographic aspects of aging in rural and nonmetropolitan areas of the United States Population aging is one of the most important trends of the 20th and 21st centuries and it is occurring worldwide especially in more developed countries such as the United States Population aging is more rapid in rural than urban areas of the U S In 2010 15 percent of the nonmetropolitan compared to 12 percent of the metropolitan population were 65 years of age and older By definition rural communities have smaller sized populations and more limited healthcare transportation and other aging relevant services than do urban areas It is thus especially important to study and understand aging in rural environments Rural Aging in 21st Century America contributes evidence based policy relevant information on rural aging in the U S A primary objective of the book is to improve understanding of what makes the experience of rural aging different from aging in urban areas and to increase understanding of the aged change the nature of rural places The book addresses unique features of rural aging across economic racial ethnic migration and other structures and patterns all with a focus on debunking myths about rural aging and to emphasize opportunities and challenges that rural places and older people experience Wilderness Science in a Time of Change Conference: Wilderness within the context of larger systems ,2000 Proceedings RMRS ,2000 Wilderness Science in a Time of Change Conference ,2000 Rural Development Research Report ,1978

The Politics of Planting Shaul Ephraim Cohen, 1993-06 On the open landscape of Israel and the West Bank where pine and cypress forests grow alongside olive groves tree planting has become symbolic of conflicting claims to the land Palestinians cultivate olive groves as a vital agricultural resource while the Israeli government has made restoration of mixed growth forests a national priority Although both sides plant for a variety of purposes both have used tree planting to assert their presence on and claim to disputed land Shaul Ephraim Cohen has conducted an unprecedented study of planting in the region and the control of land it signifies In The Politics of Planting he provides historical background and examines both the politics behind Israel s afforestation policy its consequences Focusing on the open land surrounding Jerusalem and four Palestinian villages outside the city this study offers a new perspective on the conflict over land use in a region where planting has become a political tool For the valuable data it presents collected from field work previously unpublished documents and interviews and the insight it provides into this political struggle this will be an important book for anyone studying the Israeli Palestinian conflict Patterns of Living and Housing of Middle-aged and Older People ,1966

Deforestation in the Postwar Philippines David M. Kummer, 1992-06 The only quantitative deforestation study to focus on one country this case analysis of the Philippines since 1946 yields more concrete data than previous cross national studies David Kummer s close examination of the interactions among political economic and cultural factors and their environmental consequences sheds light on similar situations in other countries After a California Earthquake Risa Palm, Michael E. Hodgson, 1992-04-15 Shortly before the Loma Prieta earthquake devastated areas of Northern California in 1989 Risa Palm and her associates had surveyed 2 500 homeowners in the area about their perception of risk from earthquakes After the quake they surveyed the homeowners again and found that their perception of risk had increased but that most respondents were fatalistic and continued to ignore self protective measures those who personally experienced damage were more likely to buy insurance A rare opportunity to analyze behavior change directly before and after a natural disaster this survey has implications for policy makers insurance officials and those concerned with risk management

Shelter and Service Issues for Aging Populations Leon A Pastalan, 2014-01-09 Shelter and Service Issues for Aging Populations takes you for an inside look at what policies in Western Europe Canada and the United States have done to meet the housing and service needs of the elderly and the disabled and what policies have yet to accomplish As you learn about a wide range of cost effective and successful housing options such as congregate housing home equity conversions and homesharing you will learn about the challenges of providing responsive high quality housing and living arrangements to meet the needs of different populations As this insightful book reveals the psychosocial needs of elderly and disabled persons have often been neglected in efforts to provide appropriate physical accommodation and services and shelter are seldom coordinated to respond to the changes individuals experience Shelter and Service Issues for Aging Populations shows you how federal and state provincial governments nonprofit organizations and private groups have all implemented policies to create barrier free housing Yet at the same time most Western countries have not developed comprehensive grant and loan programs to allow the elderly and disabled to modify their homes As this book walks you through the problems that exist it shows you how policymakers architects social work practitioners and academics housing developers and community leaders can work together to improve housing conditions and services Along the way you will learn about the failure of health care systems to cover home modifications the Fair Housing Act Amendment stigmatizing effects of the elderly label in obtaining community accommodation differences between environmental needs of rural and urban seniors current patterns of housing and living arrangements of older Canadians the effects of demographic aging on the urban ecology the Abbeyfield model of congregate housing continuing care retirement communities aging in place Shelter and Service Issues for Aging Populations looks at the strengths and weaknesses of different approaches to housing and service provision to help housing policy specialists gerontologists social workers community leaders architects and housing developers find stronger more effective solutions for giving people the home environments they need Don't continue to supply inadequate housing to people with special needs Let this book inform you guide you and contribute to the shaping of important new housing and service policies

Economic and Social Factors Affecting the Health of Older Adults Colette Joy Browning, Katherine Henrietta Leith, Shane Andrew Thomas, 2023-12-11 In 2020 over 1 billion of the world's population were over the age of 60 years old and it is expected to double by 2050 according to WHO Due to the growing population of older adults there is a focus on healthy aging that will benefit the individuals and the wider communities as older adults will be able to support family members and partake in paid or voluntary work for a longer period of time Currently a large number of older adults are unable to work increasing the likelihood of economic instability with fewer streams of income Economic instability has been proven to have health impacts including declining mental wellbeing malnutrition and the inability to afford prescribed medications Social isolation proves to be another important factor in the overall health of older adults The CDC reports that poor social interactions have been linked to a higher risk of developing multiple serious medical conditions Social Determinants of Health for the Global Aging Population in Pandemic and Disaster Environments Lené Levy-Storms, Mary Beth Morrissey, Marcia G. Ory, Camille Castelyn, Soohyoung Rain Lee, 2025-02-18 From a biopsychosocial perspective physical and to a lesser extent mental health have been a priority for researchers policymakers and healthcare providers relative to social health The hegemony of physical health weakened during the COVID pandemic as mental and social health also emerged as equally important and at risk at the same time Not since the 1960s has society attended to the social vulnerabilities of older adults particularly in institutional settings For the first time the urgency of providing care for older adults has transcended physical settings as frontline workers in hospitals prisons schools and other community based settings as well as families in their own homes also emerged as vulnerable The institutional care workforce faces an ongoing crisis at the same time some countries have restricted migration posing a threat to in home and community based long term care COVID has forced healthcare policymakers to prioritize both acute and long term health issues simultaneously as society tries to regain full functionality COVID and future natural and unnatural disasters associated with climate change threats to democracy discrimination against societal groups based on age gender race ethnicity religion and income status promise to challenge us all to acknowledge and act such that our well being is everybody s well being across the life course We are all aging and how different age groups fare affects how other age groups fare Location and Environment of Elderly Population
