

Sometimes as a result of our residual desire to go somewhere, to achieve, there is a tendency to artificially create this mass of sensations in order to remain busy getting rid of it. However, the more we want to get rid of them, the more we create them. It is a "loop" of residual activity. Don't try to get rid of something that you have created, just stop creating it and understand that it is your very desire to get rid of it that perpetuates it.

Residual Desire:

The Western Medical Reporter, 1894 Joyce and Jung Hiromi Yoshida, 2012 Hiromi Yoshida's innovative approach to A Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man demonstrates how Joyce's Stephen Dedalus reaches a heightened state of creativity through his gradual integration of feminine elements into his psyche. This illuminating and stunning analysis presents a valuable contribution to psychoanalytic feminist theory as well as to Joyce studies. Nancy Bombaci, Assistant Professor of Writing and Literature, Mitchell College, New London, Connecticut.

Joyce & Jung Hiromi Yoshida, 2006 Joyce and Jung offers a provocatively original chapter-by-chapter analysis of Stephen Dedalus's psychosexual growth in A Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man. The author frames this within the Jungian soul portrait gallery known as the four stages of eroticism in which Eve, Helen, Mary, and Sophia are the soul portraits of Western civilization, drawing the collective eros into the psychic field to be witnessed as universal spectacle. In James Joyce's twentieth-century classic, Stephen's soul portraits are the mother, the prostitute, the Virgin Mary, and the Bird Girl.

From East To West Roy Bhaskar, 2015-10-02 In this radical book, Roy Bhaskar expands his philosophy of critical realism with an audacious re-synthesis of many aspects of Western and Eastern thought. Arguing that the existence of God provides the fundamental structure of the world, he renders plausible ideas of reincarnation, karma, and moksha or liberation. Originally published in the year of the millennium, From East to West continues to be a groundbreaking and fundamental work within the critical realist tradition. Stimulating debate in ontology, epistemology, ethics, political philosophy, and the philosophy of religion, this book has been influential as a major new development in critical realism. This second edition contains a new introduction from Mervyn Hartwig, who is the founding editor of the Journal of Critical Realism and editor and principal author of the Dictionary of Critical Realism.

Suddenly Astha Pareek, It's like looking into a mirror. Truth Lies Dare. Thoughts layer verse as the poet laces each line with sharp nuances that prompt you to think. Here, Suddenly then indeed becomes a word laced with irony. Is life sudden? Is the human need for love sudden? Or is this thought that the young poet echoes: sudden. We live more in our heads, don't we? Life is never simple. Celebrate and turn the pages as you relive your ideas, your deepest thoughts in the verses in this delicately nuanced book of poetry.

The Literary History of Saskatchewan David Carpenter, Kelly-Anne Riess, 2018-10-01 Volume 3 shifts its focus to Regina's literary culture and to the coming generation of younger writers, but it continues to examine the best work from Saskatchewan. The impact, the relevance, the illuminations of our best writers' work tend to move well beyond the borders of our province. This work transcends the regional sources of its inspiration. Just as Marilynne Robinson has much to say to Canadians about the disruptions and the graces of family life, Dianne Warren has much to say to Americans about the omnipresence of the past, the shadows it casts on people's lives in the present. Many of our best books are nurtured by the history and the life of this province, but they spring into literature roughly in proportion to their applications and their immemorial responses to the human condition.

Gibson-Graham, 2006-03-24 In the mid 1990s at the height of academic discussion about the inevitability of capitalist globalization J K Gibson Graham presented a groundbreaking and controversial argument for envisioning alternative economies This new edition includes an introduction in which the authors address critical responses to The End of Capitalism and outline the economic research and activism they have been engaged in since the book was first published Paralyzing problems are banished by this dazzlingly lucid creative and practical rethinking of class and economic transformation Meaghan Morris Lingnan University Hong Kong Profoundly imaginative Eve Kosofsky Sedgwick City University of New York Filled with insights it is clearly written and well supported with good examples of actual deconstructive practices International Journal of Urban and Regional Research J K Gibson Graham is the pen name of Katherine Gibson and Julie Graham feminist economic geographers who work respectively at the Australian National University in Canberra and the University of Massachusetts Amherst

Against the Spiritual Turn Sean Creaven, 2014-04-08 The argument presented in this book is that the recent spiritual trajectory of Roy Bhaskar's work upon which he first embarked with the publication of his From East to West undermines the fundamental achievements of his earlier work The problem with Bhaskar's new philosophical system Transcendental Dialectical Critical Realism or simply Meta Reality from the critical realist Marxist perspective endorsed here is that it marks both a departure from and a negation of the earlier concerns of Bhaskar to develop a realist philosophy of science and under labour for an emancipatory materialist socio historical science The end result is a meta philosophy which is irrealist speculative under theorized internally self contradictory and which cannot provide philosophical guidance to liberatory social practices In opposition to theist ontological logics more generally including the rather more rational theism presented by Margaret Archer Andrew Collier and Doug Porpora the argument of this book is that the earth bound materialist dialectics of the classical Marxist tradition and the naturalistic humanism these dialectics under labour on the terrain of socio historical being offer a much more promising way forward for critical realist theory and for liberatory politics and ethics

Modernism, Metaphysics, and Sexuality Debrah Raschke, 2006-08 Without question modernist texts have been haunted by what can be known or more aptly what cannot be known This position is foundational to one of the pivotal readings of modernism Simultaneously economic legal and political shifts that occurred during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries produced real material changes pertaining to the status of women Thus as many others have adeptly argued modernism is also a crisis in gender Modernism Metaphysics and Sexuality keenly suggests that these narratives the thinking of what constitutes truth and the rethinking of gender are intertwined Interpreting Conrad's Heart of Darkness and Victory Forster's A Passage to India and Maurice Lawrence's Women in Love and Woolf's A Room of One's Own and To the Lighthouse through Luce Irigaray's rereading of western metaphysics Raschke suggests that where there is a crisis in knowing there is also a crisis in gender

Religion and the Body Sarah Coakley, 1997 This book aims to highlight the distinctive and unfamiliar ways in which diverse religious traditions understand the body and also in doing this to raise to greater consciousness some of the assumptions and problems of contemporary attitudes to it It brings together essays by established experts in the history of religion the social sciences and philosophy Part I is devoted to an analysis of current secularized discourses on the body and to exposing both their anti religious and their covertly religious content Parts II and III provide essays on traditional Western and Eastern religious attitudes to the body Each contributor focuses on some especially characteristic devotional practices or relevant texts each carefully outlines the total context in which a distinctive religious attitude to bodiliness occurs The result is a rich source for comparative studies of the body and of its relation to society and to the divine

Self and Society Steven Collins, 2013-07-15 This selection of essays originally published between 1988 and 2010 demonstrates that in the study of Buddhism a concern with detailed accuracy in philological and textual specifics can be combined with an attempt to deal with wider and difficult philosophical and sociological issues The first part Pali Literature deals with the historical formation of the Pali Canon with the continuing oral aspects of Pali texts and looking at the entire range of Pali texts with the question What is Literature in Pali The second part The theory and Practice of Not self looks at the Buddhist denial of self as both a philosophical position and as a form of practice one in which a process of self transformative behavioral and psychological training is seen to culminate in the realization that there is no self underlying the ever changing moments of experience The third part Buddhism and Society has two essays reflecting on and extending Louis Dumont's comparative theorizing about the individual and society in East and West and a final contemporary treatment of Buddhist nuns mae chi in Thav da Buddhism both in general and specifically as active in higher education in Bangkok The three essays attempt to build on but go beyond the work of Dumont and behind him Max Weber in thinking about what they would call world renunciation as a phenomenon of society and culture

Writing the Modern Family Roberta Garrett, 2021-01-29 Although a large body of work has emerged which addresses neoliberal representations of the family in other cultural forms such as parenting advice programmes little has been written specifically on the family and contemporary literature This book examines the growing body of autobiographical and fictional writing on family and parenting issues in Anglo American culture from the late 1990s to the present day The book looks closely at six distinct genres which have arisen during this time frame the misery memoir the mum s lit popular novel the maternal confessional dads lit the dysfunctional domestic novel and the family noir Writing the Modern Family will examine the way these burgeoning areas of British and American writing respond to a neoliberal public discourse in which a parenting deficit rather than economic and structural disadvantage is responsible for increasing inequality in child welfare and achievement In evaluating these forms and their relationship to neoliberal culture the book will also consider the complex interrelationship between these genres

Realist Fiction and the Strolling Spectator (Routledge Revivals) John Rignall, 2016-01-29 The classic realist text has long been derided by post structuralist critics as an unsophisticated and reactionary form In this study first published in 1992 John Rignall makes a powerful case for the rehabilitation of realism as a self aware and reflexive genre Using the novels of Scott Balzac Dickens George Eliot Flaubert James Ford and Conrad Rignall argues for an understanding of realism through the recurrent figure of the fl neur The fl neur is the strolling spectator whose problematic vision both of and in the novel makes him the representative figure of the realist text A significant contribution to the field this title will be of particular view to students of realism literary theory and comparative literature
