Resource Allocation And Productivity In Education Theory And Practice:

Resource Allocation and Productivity in Education William L. Boyd, William T. Hartman, 1998-05-26 Resource allocation decisions made by school boards principals and teachers are critical for they determine the adequacy and equity of resources actually made available for specific schools educational programs and individual students The most important resources are often concealed by aggregate state or district measures such as dollars per student For these decisions the most important resources are elements such as basic and supplemental staffing levels staff time funding amounts for textbooks and supplies selection of new equipment particularly technology and support for new or renovated facilities The authors review current practices at each important decision making level in school districts from the school board to the classroom At each juncture the findings are interpreted to reveal both the causes of the practices and their implications for improving school effectiveness This book provides new research in helping to inform and improve resource allocation practices in schools The general conclusion is that improvement in the resource allocation practices in education requires a shift in focus to results instead of inputs a strong emphasis on student learning as the primary focus of decisions and systematic evaluation of results

Resource Allocation and Productivity in Education William T. Hartman, William Lowe Boyd, 1998 New research about micro level resource allocation decisions in education At each level the findings suggest causes of the practices and implications for improving school effectiveness

Schools in Transition Pauli Siljander,Kimmo Kontio,Eetu Pikkarainen,2016-12-27 School is one of the most focal institutions in modern society It is largely through the institutionalized forms of education that modern society attempts to secure and maintain its social and economic well being and its valuable cultural life forms In addition to this school is the essential institution through which the future of a society is defined Thus at least when understood traditionally as a pedagogical institution the school stands at the center of historically and socially constructed cultural life forms and at the brink of an unknown future the determination of that future characterizes the pedagogical task of the school It naturally ensues then that modern discourses of the school have always been intertwined with the critical question of how past present and future can be linked in educational practices so that schools can foster in ever better ways the well being of individuals societies and humanity The chapters in this volume despite the variety of viewpoints share this critical view The purpose of the volume is not to offer definite answers rather it is to stress that to understand the role and functions of school in contemporary society and to orientate its transition a well founded critical evaluation of prevailing pedagogical practices and policy trends is required This evaluation is vital for the future of school and society Handbook of Operations Research and Management Science in Higher Education Zilla Sinuany-Stern,2021-09-09 This handbook covers various areas of Higher Education HE in which operations research management science OR MS techniques are used Key examples include international comparisons university rankings and rating academic efficiency with Data Envelopment Analysis DEA formulating academic strategy with balanced scorecard budgeting and planning with linear and quadratic models student forecasting E learning evaluation faculty evaluation with questionnaires and multivariate statistics marketing for HE analytic
