Nature Alive Adam Scarfe,2018-04-18 This volume pays homage to Alfred

North Whitehead's 1861-1947 profound lecture and essay entitled Nature Alive which was one of his most mature expressions of his process relational metaphysics a holistic conceptual framework that renders vivid the dynamic character of the natural world and the intrinsic purposiveness selective agency and creativity of living organisms Inspired by but not beholden to Whitehead's process metaphysical lens the contributors to this volume bring a multiplicity of philosophical orientations to the table in challenging the mechanistic and reductionistic neo Darwinian paradigm that is still dominant today in the life sciences Mechanistic neo Darwinism views nature and living organisms as machines namely as networks of externally related and linear causal switches dials levers pulleys and gears that are at the ready for technological and biotechnological manipulation Seeking a conceptual framework and a language that are more adequate to the study of the natural world and of living creatures than the mechanistic orientation the contributors to this volume explore several of the New Frontiers of Biology which are areas of biology whose findings to some extent go beyond the explanatory confines of the Modern Synthesis of natural selection and genetics Most notably emergence theory the theory of organic selection epigenetics homeostasis chronobiology and autopoiesis research can provide us with key insights that can assist us in explaining how living agents emerged including the evolutionary origins of mentality consciousness and mind Moreover attention to the New Frontiers of Biology can serve to re-enchant our understanding of the natural world and to prevent ecological devastation through a restoration to objectivity of notions such as intrinsic purposiveness selective agency creativity and intrinsic value

The Human

Relationship to Nature Matthew R. Foster, 2016-11-02 Growing alarm over the harm done by humans to the natural world and even to the viability of our own industrial civilization compels us to ask the deeper moral question What should be the human relationship to nature Matthew R Foster starts by assessing three contrasting patterns of moral reasoning the Progress Ethic that created the world we live in the biblically inspired Stewardship Ethic and the Connection Ethic based on scientific understanding of the interdependence of all natural entities Critical analysis reveals that none of these ethics is able to sustain the values it advocates due to two unsupportable presumptions that the norms of human morality are commensurate with the natural world and that the value of an entity is an intrinsic property Foster argues that in order for a future environmental ethic to be both logically coherent and environmentally constructive it must start from unconventional notions First because nature will never be commensurate with human moral reasoning non rational resources must be employed despite the risks involved Second value resides in the relationship of one entity to another and does not belong intrinsically to either in short value is foremost a verb rather than a noun Foster proposes a new paradigm attentive to the realm of value relations among all natural entities one which offers mediating opportunities between nature and morality In this new ethic there are no shoulds Rather moral responsibilities to the natural entities around us are elective placing us in an unfamiliar yet potentially liberating network of relationships This book will be of interest to scholars both instructors and students of environmental ethics philosophy religion and intellectual history and all who are concerned about the environmental challenges of our time

A Theory of Environmental Leadership Mark Manolopoulos, 2021-03-15 In A Theory of Environmental Leadership Mark Manolopoulos draws on his original model of leading outlined in his cutting edge book Following Reason to derive and develop the first properly systematic model of eco leadership Suppose humanity's relation with the Earth may be described in terms of leadership stages or modalities once upon a time the Earth led or ruled humanity and now we humans rule or lead the Earth When the Earth led the Earth flourished now that humankind leads the Earth flounders ecological crises multiply and intensify However there might be a third stage or modality of leadership humanity leading for the Earth leading in a way that allows the world including humans to re flourish What would be the nature of this truly environmental form of leadership A Theory of Environmental Leadership identifies and critically analyzes the two basic and incompatible positions associated with the way we construe and interact with the non human anthropocentrism human supremacism and ecocentrism ecological egalitarianism By rigorously analyzing and leveraging this polarity this book outlines an innovative theory of eco leadership together with some of its confronting but necessary measures Expansive and incredibly timely A Theory of Environmental Leadership is ideal for a range of audiences from scholars and students of environmental leadership studies to activists and policymakers The book's remarkable clarity and engaging character also makes it suitable for the general public

Duties Regarding Nature Toby Svoboda, 2015-06-26 In this book Toby Svoboda develops and defends a Kantian environmental virtue ethic challenging the widely held view that

Kant's moral philosophy has little to offer environmental ethics. On the contrary, Svoboda contends that on Kantian grounds there is good moral reason to care about non-human organisms in their own right and to value their flourishing independently of human interests since doing so is constitutive of certain environmental virtues. Svoboda argues that Kant's account of indirect duties regarding nature can ground a compelling environmental ethic: the Kantian duty to develop morally virtuous dispositions strictly proscribes unnecessarily harming organisms and it also gives us moral reason to act in ways that benefit such organisms. Svoboda's account engages the recent literature on environmental virtue including Rosalind Hursthouse, Philip Cafaro, Ronald Sandler, Thomas Hill, and Louke van Wensveen and provides an original argument for an environmental ethic firmly rooted in Kant's moral philosophy.
