Results Of The Iastp Program:

Results of the IASTP Program COSPAR. Scientific Commission D. D0.1 Symposium, COSPAR., COSPAR. Scientific Assembly, 1997 Conference proceedings on the developments in planetary exploration solar wind and studies relating to the Earth's magnetosphere International Aerospace Abstracts, 1998 The Sun from Space Kenneth R.

Lang, 2013-04-18 Our familiar but often inscrutable star exhibits a variety of enigmatic phenomena that have continued to defy explanation Our book begins with a brief account of these unsolved mysteries Scientists could not for example understand how the Sun's intense magnetism is concentrated into dark sunspots that are as large as the Earth and thousands of times more magnetic Nor did they know exactly how the magnetic fields are generated within the Sun for no one could look inside it Another long standing mystery is the million degree solar atmosphere or corona that lies just above the cooler visible solar disk or photosphere Heat should not emanate from a cold object to a hotter one anymore than water should flow up hill Researchers have hunted for the elusive coronal heating mechanism for more than half a century The Sun's hot and stormy atmosphere is continuously expanding in all directions creating a relentless solar wind that seems to blow forever The exact sources of the wind's components and the mechanisms of its acceleration to supersonic velocities also remained perplexing problems The relatively calm solar atmosphere can be violently disrupted by powerful explosions filling the solar system with radio waves X rays and gamma rays and hurling charged particles out into space at nearly the speed of light

Russian Space Probes Brian Harvey, Olga Zakutnyaya, 2011-05-04 Brian Harvey recounts for the first time the definitive history of scientific Russian space probes and the knowledge they acquired of the Earth its environment the Moon Mars and Venus He examines what Russian Space Science has actually achieved in furthering our knowledge of the Solar System focusing on the instrumentation and scientific objectives and outcomes the information gained and lessons learnt Boxes and charts are used extensively in order to convey in an easily understandable manner for the non scientific reader the problems and issues addressed and solved by Soviet space science The book opens with the story of early space science in Russia which started when the first Russian rockets were fired into the high atmosphere from Kapustin Yar in the late 1940s Instruments were carried to measure and map the atmosphere and later rockets carried dogs to test their reactions to weightlessness In order to beat America into Earth orbit two simpler satellites than originally planned were launched Sputnik and Sputnik 2 which provided some initial information on atmospheric density while the following Sputnik 3 carried twelve instruments to measure radiation belts solar radiation the density of the atmosphere and the Earth's magnetic field The author recounts how by the 1960s the Soviet Union had developed a program of investigation of near Earth space using satellites within the Cosmos program in particular the DS Dnepropetrovsky Sputnik small satellites developed to investigate meteoroids radiation the magnetic fields the upper atmosphere solar activity ionosphere charged particles cosmic rays and geophysics Brian Harvey then gives the scientific results from Russian lunar exploration starting with the discovery of the solar wind by the First Cosmic Ship and the initial mapping of the lunar far side by the Automatic Interplanetary Station He describes Luna 10 which made the first full study of the lunar environment Luna 16 which brought soil back to Earth and the two Moon rovers which travelled 50 kms across the lunar surface taking thousands of measurements soil analyses and photographs as well as profiles of discrete areas Chapters 4 and 5 describe in detail the scientific outcomes of the missions to Venus and Mars before considering the orbiting space stations in Chapter 6 Space science formed an important part of the early manned space program the prime focus being the human reaction to weightlessness how long people could stay in orbit and the effects on the body as well as radiation exposure Chapter 7 looks at the later stage of Soviet and Russian space science including Astron and Granat the two observatories of the 1980s and Bion the space biology program which flew monkeys and other animals into orbit The final chapter looks forward to a new period of Russian space science with the Spektr series of observatories and a range smaller science satellites under the Federal Space Plan 2006 2015

Dynamic Planet Pamela Elizabeth Clark, 2007-12-04 This book views Mercury as a whole in the context of its environment It illustrates what we know and what we need to know and why understanding Mercury is so crucial to our understanding of solar system origin and current processes on Earth The book describes our current state of knowledge for Mercury and interactions between interior exterior and space environment which are highly dynamic and thus critical to understanding Mercury as a system
