Sexuality: God's Gift Anne Krabill Hershberger, 2010-06-17 Big business makes big money selling a phony notion of what we want and need as sexual people Ads insist that certain products will make us more sexually appealing But what we really want and need is true intimacy the knowledge that we matter to another person and are loved for who we are We all are sexual beings all of our lives and relate to each other sexually all the time God marvelously made us this way Using the metaphor of sexuality as a good gift from God this book offers Christian resources for living a sexually healthy and fulfilling life Extraordinarily comprehensive nuanced and sensitive even richer than its predecessor It is a splendid resource for all Christians who wish to live more deeply in gratitude to God for their own sexuality James B Nelson professor emeritus of Christian ethics United Theological Seminary of the Twin Cities An important contribution to Christians seeking to celebrate their sexuality with holiness and integrity The Rev Debra W Haffner executive director Religious Institute Westport Connecticut

Metonymy and Language Charles Denroche, 2014-12-05 Metonymy and Language presents a new theory of language and communication in which the central focus is on the concept of metonymy the recognition of partial matches and overlaps Through the use of original data sets and rigorous primary research Denroche characterizes metonymy as key to understanding why language is so fit for purpose and how it achieves such great subtlety and flexibility This study develops the notion of metonymic competence and demonstrates that metonymic behavior is often pursued for its own sake in recreational activities such as quizzes puzzles and play and shows the possible impact of the application of metonymic processing theory to professional fields such as language teaching and translator training Furthermore it proposes a research approach with metonymy at its center metonymics which Denroche suggests could provide a powerful framework for addressing issues in numerous fields of practice in the arts and sciences

Interfaces in Language 2 David Hornsby, John Partridge, 2011-09-22 This volume presents a collection of papers from the second Interfaces in Language conference hosted from 5-7 May 2009 at the University of Kent at Canterbury by the University's Centre for Language and Linguistic Studies CLLS Borne of a dissatisfaction with the rigid division of linguistics into sub disciplines Interfaces 2 offered specialists a platform to explore links between different approaches and attracted participation from ten countries on four continents addressing a wide range of themes Contributions are arranged under three thematic headings Categories and Orthodoxies Contact Conflict and Repertoire and Language and Cognition All in their different ways offer a challenge to received thinking or the rigidity of established categories The papers explore a range of linguistic interfaces probing the frontiers at the structural level between semantics and pragmatics or challenging the notion of a clear division between semantics and syntax A number of papers examine in different ways the interface between speech and writing while other contributors apply the techniques of linguistic analysis to the study of translation or to the stylistics of literature or journalism The rejection of rigid modes of thinking has produced in Interfaces in Language 2 an eclectic collection of thought provoking papers of rare originality and quality
