Dutch Cartesianism and the Birth of Philosophy of Science Andrea Strazzoni, 2018-11-19 How did the relations between philosophy and science evolve during the 17th and the 18th century This book analyzes this issue by considering the history of Cartesianism in Dutch universities as well as its legacy in the 18th century It takes into account the ways in which the disciplines of logic and metaphysics became functional to the justification and reflection on the conceptual premises and the methods of natural philosophy changing their traditional roles as art of reasoning and as science of being This transformation took place as a result of two factors First logic and metaphysics which included rational theology were used to grant the status of indubitable knowledge of natural philosophy Second the debates internal to Cartesianism as well as the emergence of alternative philosophical world views such as those of Hobbes Spinoza the experimental science and Newtonianism progressively deprived such disciplines of their foundational function and they started to become forms of reflection over given scientific practices either Cartesian experimental or Newtonian
